City schools seek 94-cent tax hike

By PHYLLIS CANNON
P-B Staff Writer

Pomona school district will ask for a 94-cent tax increase per $100 assessed valuation May 27 to reinstate $1.9 million cuts approved Feb. 11.

Schools Supt. Robert E. Wentz told the school board Tuesday that those cuts — which included some 110 jobs, all high school team sports and the closing of two small schools — nonetheless left funds to give employes an 8.5 per cent pay increase for 1975-76.

He said money also is provided to pay mandated retirement cost increases for employes, pay increased utility costs, meet rising costs of supplies, materials and equipment, and increased costs in unemployment insurance, workmen's compensation, liability insurance, contracted services and emergency repairs.

The 94-cent tax increase in the general purpose tax rate, as approved by the school board Tuesday, would increase that rate from $3.75 to $4.69 or about $50 a year on a $20,000 home. The increase is limited to a two-year period.

Wentz said the salary increase, which he concedes is "only two-thirds of the present rate of inflation," was arrived at during conversations with staff and school board members and then relayed as information to heads of employe organizations, with no involvement of those organizations.

"This is an attempt on our part to level completely with the public," said board chairman Ken Pine.

"People have asked me, why cut back and increase salaries? In my opinion, even though I do not agree with all the benefits teachers now have, we cannot penalize them. They are caught in the same inflationary bind as everyone else.

"Teachers are the backbone of any district and I think Pomona's overall, are among the finest. There is no reason for them to subsidize the district as they did several years ago."

This 8.5 per cent increase will give Pomona teachers a 27.57 per cent pay increase in three years. They received a 10.75 per cent pay hike in 1973-74 and an 8.5 per cent pay hike in 1974-75.

If approved, their annual pay would go from a minimum of $8,789 to $9,536, and a maximum of $17,578 to $19,076.

Board member Don Donnelly, defining education as the "biggest enterprise in Pomona," called on voters to realign their priorities, support the override, and support legislators who support education.

Wentz emphasized that the tax increase would be used to retain programs that were cut and "will not be tossed into the negotiations arena for additional salary adjustments, since that factor was included in the original cutback planning."

To allocate resources to meet student needs, citizens' desires, program needs, staff needs and still end up with a balanced budget, as required by law, is becoming almost impossible with present funding sources, said Wentz.

The difficult decisions made in allocating existing resources are not satisfactory to many citizens, students or staff members, the superintendent said.

Roy O. Day, Pomona businessman heading the committee promoting the tax override, told the board he was working quietly to mount a campaign that would reach every parent and every student in the district.

He said he was satisfied there were "no hidden gimmicks" in the 1975-76 budget and he complimented the teachers for their cooperation. "They didn't come storming down here, even though they didn't get as much as they thought they should have," he said.

Teachers have not yet made any salary demands for 1975-76 in open board meeting.

Local woman, 71, loses $18,000 in 'pigeon drop'

A 71-year-old Pomona woman was bilked out of $18,000 Tuesday afternoon in a classic performance of the pigeon drop swindle, police reported.

And the cash, in $50s and $100s, was counted out to the victim inside a closed Pomona bank while one of the con women stood at the victim's elbow.

Pomona police gave this account:

The victim, Grace J. Anderson, was approached by a woman calling herself Julie Brown while shopping in Hughes Market at 690 E. Holt Ave. After chatting a while, the two women were joined by a third who asked the Brown woman if she had lost something on the parking lot. When the first woman said no, the second showed an envelope she said she found and they decided to open it to see if there was any identification inside.

When they opened the envelope the second woman, who called herself LaVerne Williams, told the others that it contained $9,000 and some photographs. The Williams woman said she would take the envelope to a Pomona lawyer she claimed to work for and ask what she should do.

She returned to the market a few minutes later and said excitedly that the lawyer had found more money concealed among the photographs and the amount now totaled $90,000. In addition, she said, the lawyer thought the cash had been tossed from a car, probably during a narcotics purchase, and the women could split it three ways. But, he suggested that the other women should put up cash "to show good faith," she claimed.

The Brown woman said she could muster $18,000 and Mrs. Anderson said she also could put up that amount.

Then the women took the victim home, where she got her safety deposit box key. Next they took her to Great Western Savings and Loan Association at Main Street and the Pomona Mall, where she got her bank pass book. From there they went to the United California Bank branch at Elm Street and the Mall, where she got a check for $18,000 from her savings and was told she could cash it at the bank's Main Street branch.

At first, employes there attempted to dissuade Mrs. Anderson from cashing the check, but eventually waited until the bank closed and gave her the money while the Brown woman stood by.

A few minutes later, Mrs. Anderson and the Bropwn woman were picked up by the supposed finder of the money. They drove to E. Mission Boulevard, where Williams told Mrs. Anderson that she could pick up her share of the $90,000 at the office of an attorney nearby after she put up her own $18,000. Mrs. Anderson gave the pair her money and walked to the lawyer's office.

There she learned that no one at the office knew anything about the money or the Williams woman.

When she returned to the place where she had left the women, all Mrs. Anderson found was a sweater she had forgotten and left in the car. It was lying on the sidewalk.

Both women were white. Williams was in her mid-30s, 5 feet 3 and weighed 140 pounds. She had brown hair and was described as busty. Brown sas in her early 30s, 5 feet 6, weighing 120 pounds. She possibly wore a gray wig.

DALEY DOES IT AGAIN IN CHICAGO.

Mayor Richard Daley is cheered by his No. 1 fan, Mrs. Daley, as he starts to make victory speech at campaign headquarters in downtown Chicago. Daley led closest competitor by 2-1 margin in primary.

Ford raps feet-dragging by Congress on tax cut

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI) — President Ford predicted today it might take Congress until June to enact an antirecession income tax cut and promised to keep fighting for quicker action by the lawmakers.

Ford told a news conference neither the House nor the Senate is making fast enough progress.

"It could take until June," he said. "I intend to keep the pressure on."

He said his month-long public campaign against what he called the "dilatory tactics" of the lawmakers has brought "more response from Congress than (they have shown) in the past few years."

The news conference was held as part of Ford's trip to Florida to spread his economy-energy message. He attended a breakfast with Southern newspaper executives in the morning and planned to play golf in the afternoon.

Ford opened the news conference with a statement warning foreigners against religious or ethnic discrimination in international banking.

Daley a landslide winner in Chicago primary

CHICAGO (UPI) — Richard Daley, the 72-year-old mayor who has run Chicago for 20 years, won a last hurrah and virtual assurance of four more years in City Hall with awesome clout Tuesday.

He beat off three challengers —the first Democrats to test him in his two decades of power —to win a mayoral primary that is tantamount to election.

The Daley clout —Chicagoese for power —was such that his closest rival went down by practically two to one. The alderman who won the Republican nomination declared himself all but out because a Daley man had just kicked him out of city council.

Fighting age, scandals and the aftereffects of a slight stroke suffered last May, this figured to be Daley's final run to stay as the man called the last of the big city bosses and recognized as a prime power broker in national Democratic politics.

He wanted to win it big, and he did. He had hoped for more than 55 per cent of the total Democratic vote. He got well over 60 per cent.

He whipped William Singer, 34, a reformist alderman, by 432,224 votes to 217,764 with 2,923 of 3,146 precincts counted. It was a sweet win. It was Singer who helped lead a band of rebels which shoved the Daley Chicago delegation out of the 1972 Democratic National Convention.

There were two other party upstarts to be dealt with. One was State Sen. Richard Newhouse Jr., 50, the first black to make a reasonable bid to become mayor of this increasingly black city. The other was Edward Hanrahan, 53, a rising light in Daley's organization until a solid black vote toppled him from his office as Cook County state's attorney.

Significantly, Newhouse was running with 58,548 votes to Hanrahan's 37,034. Singer and Newhouse are likely to be around four years from now when Chicago votes again for mayor. Hanrahan, maybe.

The Daley steamroller was such that John J. Hoellen, the last avowed Republican left in the City Council and the only major member of his party who would run for mayor, couldn't even win reelection as alderman. "It's obvious that if I can't be reelected in my own ward I can't run for mayor," Hoellen said.

There were some who had said Daley should not have run this time. He failed to win the endorsement of any of the major Chicago newspapers which had previously supported him. He was criticized for presiding over an administration in which some of his closest associates, as well as top police officers, have been convicted of bribery and shakedowns.

He took flak for allegedly using his clout to throw lucrative city insurance business to one son and swell the political career of another.

In short, it was said Daley was losing his grip.

To demonstrate otherwise, Daley marshaled all his forces —big labor, big business, influentials of the black community and ethnic neighborhoods, not to mention a host of political IOUs.

Fog holds up OIA flights

Four commercial flights were delayed for 45 minutes early today at Ontario International Airport because of heavy fog.

Air West transported its flight passengers to the Burbank Airport, while other carriers waited for the fog to lift.

The airport was closed from 7 to 7:45 a.m., said officials.

Young girl sniper coaxed from perch after firing at pedestrians, police

MELBOURNE, Australia (UPI) — A teen age girl armed with a rifle took shots at cars and pedestrians from the top of a 100-foot-high gasoline storage tank today, police said.

A clergyman finally coaxed her into surrendering three hours 40 minutes after she began shooting.

A police spokesman said the girl, identified only as "Margo," climbed a ladder to the top of the British Petroleum Co. tank and fired more than 100 rifle bursts, pinning down police and firemen who closed off the area.

The spokesman said police were ordered not to return the fire or to rush the ladder.

The spokesman said the girl, a blonde wearing blue jeans and a black undershirt, was taken to a psychiatric clinic.

No injuries were reported, the police spokesman said.

Engineer corps bows to Arab demands

Army admits boycott of Jews

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Army Corps of Engineers told Congress today it handles construction projects in Saudia Arabia while bowing to Arab demands that American Jewish officers cannot be assigned to such projects.

"That's correct," said Col. William Durham of the Corps when asked by Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, if the engineers kept Jews off the projects.

Church charged that the Arab states are trying to "impose a pattern of anti-Semitism on our business life" by organizing a boycott of American and foreign firms doing business with Israel.

At a two-hour Senate subcommittee hearing, Church released the names of 1,500 U.S. firms on the so-called Arab boycott list and deplored the Army's acquisence in the Saudi case.

"It would be tragic, indeed, if we slipped into a practice of implementing a policy so fundamentally contrary to the principles of our country," Church said.

Durham also disclosed that Saudi Arabia insists on the right of rejection of any U.S. firm recommended by the Corps to do construction or design work in the country.

But he said the Saudis have never, to his knowledge, exercised that right.

Manning Seitzer, general counsel for the corps of engineers, further disclosed that in non-Arab countries, the engineers have not been subject to a right-to-veto participation of American firms.

On Tuesday, the Anti-Defamation League of B'nai B'rith alleged at a New York news conference that some American corporations were bowing to Arab pressures to sever ties with Israel.

ADL chairman Seymour Graubard said an investigation disclosed "widespread willingness in American industry to be secret partners in an Arab plot to cut Israel off from its principal ally, the United States."

Ford not endangered by blaze in hotel

HOLLYWOOD, Fla. (UPI) — A small fire broke out early today in a sauna at the Diplomat Hotel where President Ford is staying, but officials said the President was not endangered by the blaze.

The fire broke out on the top floor of the main hotel building next to the ocean. President Ford was sleeping in a new tower portion of the hotel some 200 yards away.

In an opening statement today, Church noted that the Arab countries were spending billions of dollars a year on western products and forcing companies with Israeli connections out of the bidding for lucrative markets and contracts.

Church said he called the hearing to discuss the problem of the Arab boycott and to determine whether Saudi Arabia and other Arab countries were attempting "to impose a pattern of anti-Semitism on our business life."

Harold H. Saunders, a deputy assistant secretary of state, testified that the State Department opposes such economic boycotts.

Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger at a news conference Wednesday stated, "The United States is strongly opposed to any discriminatory practices by the recipient countries as to the firms that might do business."

Following successful rebate plan

Car firms turn to stripped models to keep sales up

DETROIT (UPI) — Detroit's automakers are lifting the curtain on a new act to follow their successful cash rebates performance. It features "stripped" models and lower prices.

American Motors Tuesday announced cuts of $16 to $198 on 11 General Motors Corp. Ford Motor Co. and Chrysler Corp. are expected to lower selected prices by the time cash rebates of $200 to $600 end Friday.

The decision to lower prices, mainly through removal of some equipment which is now standard, is an admission by Detroit that too many options have been put on cars, making prices higher than buyers are willing to pay.

Rather than actually cutting prices, which the auto companies say they cannot afford, they are removing equipment and leaving it up to customers to decide if items such as tachometers, cigar lighters and steel-belted radial tires are really needed.

Like GM, AMC said it would delete some standard equipment, mainly steel-belted radial tires, to bring base prices down. But unlike GM, AMC is actually reducing prices of some option packages.

The biggest cut of $198 on the Gremlin "X" model was accomplished by making some of the equipment in the package optional. It will drop the base price of the Gremlin "X" from $3,197 to $2,999.

The success of the rebates was spelled out again in sales reports from the four companies that showed the industry in the Feb. 11-20 period missed matching last year's level by only 210 cars.

It was the closest automakers have come to matching year-ago level since the 1975 models were introduced last fall. The sharply higher sales pace was highlighted by GM posting a 16 per cent gain over last year, the best year-to-year performance for the giant automaker in 17 months, including the period prior to the Arab oil embargo.

The success of the rebate programs, which began in mid-January, could also mean some of the quarter-million auto workers now laid off might begin returning to their jobs this spring, as top executives have predicted.

Ford Motor Co., despite trailing last year's mid-February sales by 10 per cent, said March production will be up 65,000 units over February's 100,000 cars. That's 15,000 more than Ford previously announced for the coming month.

The four U.S. companies sold 193,683 care in the mid-February period, compared with 193,893 a year ago. It was the best year-to-year comparison since the Sept. 1-10 period of 1974, before the '75s were introduced.

Will impose limits on signs, frequency

Claremont drops idea of permit for garage sales

By GEORGE MacLAREN
P-B Staff Writer

Because of the persuasion of Councilman Gene Block, the Claremont City Council Tuesday night decided that residents holding yard or garage sales need not have a permit. But limitations will be placed on the number of sales and advertising signs.

The council two weeks ago held off first reading of new regulations until the staff could define what constitutes an occasional sale, a garage sale, a patio sale or a rummage sale.

The staff finally decided that the sale of four or more items would constitute such a sale. The new proposal would have required a resident to obtain a permit at no cost from City Planning Director Don King every time a garage sale of that many items was planned.

Block objected to a person having to go to City Hall for a permit. "I don't think abuses have been so widespread that a permit is required," he said. He called the trip to city hall "a waste of time."

Block also objected to a proposed requirement that a resident having a sale could post only one sign and that on his front lawn. But council members wouldn't go along with this protest.

Block asked what would happen if a sale holder didn't ask for a permit.

City Atty. William Bergman explained that a resident would be warned first about the new law.

"There would be no way for our police department to go out on a weekend and arrest everyone not having a permit," Block said.

"Are we going to keep records at the police station on the number of sales a person holds? This is an overkill procedure."

Block gained support on deleting the requirement of a permit, but not the allowance of more than one sign.

The council approved the first reading of the new restrictions. With the adoption of the new ordinance a resident may hold a yard sale twice a year.

In other matters, the council continued a public hearing until April 22 on a recommendation by the Planning Commission that Indian Hill Boulevard be terminated on the city's general plan at its present terminus instead of swinging northeastward along Thompson Creek to meet the westerly extension of Pomello Drive.

Councilman Frank Hungerford suggested delaying any decision on the recommendation until progress is made on an Armstrong tract near Indian Hill Boulevard in county territory.

Hungerford cautioned that if the city-charged its general plan and the Armstrong development didn't proceed, a higher density development could conceivably be approved by the county on the same land.

Elijah's son now leader of Black Muslims

CHICAGO (UPI) — Wallace Muhammad, 40, second youngest son of Elijah Muhammad, took over leadership of the Black Muslims today while thousands of followers gathered for a memorial service for his dead father, leader of the Nation of Islam for more than four decades.

A spokesman for Muhammad Speaks, the religious sect's weekly newspaper, said Wallace had been chosen by Elijah before his death to lead the Black Muslims and direct its spiritual endeavors.

Originally, this day had been named "Savior's Day" by the Muslims to honor W.D. Fard, the founder of the group of which Elijah Muhammad became the leader in the 1930s. Elijah died Tuesday of a heart ailment, and the planned observance was changed to a memorial for him.

Tributes to Elijah's accomplishments as a black leader came from black and white alike. Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, who last year designated a "Honorable Elijah Muhammed Day" in Chicago, expressed regret at his death.

Ford may have votes to back veto—Jackson

New plan hikes gas 50 cents by 1980

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said today President Ford "may well be right" in predicting that he has a sufficient number of votes to sustain a veto of a bill blocking the first step in his new energy plan.

Jackson said administration arm-twisting efforts possibly have caused enough congressmen to change their minds on a bill that would have stopped Ford from placing a tariff on imported oil. The President has said he will veto that bill because he considers the increased oil fees to be the cornerstone of his energy and economic package.

In a speech before the National Association of County Officials, Jackson also sharply criticized any effort to raise the federal tax on gasoline and said he thought a majority in Congress shared his views on the subject. Some Democrats have indicated such a tax would be a main part of their energy proposals.

"I'm opposed to putting a tax on gasoline at this time as a means of cutting consumption," said Jackson, an announced candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1976.

"It's not really going to cut back on consumption, and it would be harsh on the working people and the poor."

Earlier this week, House Democratic leader Thomas P. O'Neill said a 16-cent increase in the federal gasoline tax would be part of a Democratic counterproposal to the Ford energy plan.

House and Senate Democrats met all day Tuesday to iron out differences in their approach to that counterproposal, and said after the meeting O'Neill's comments had been based on "an old draft" of their proposal.

Jackson predicted that a program based on conservation steps taken on a state-by-state basis would prevail over any efforts to achieve conservation through higher taxes or prices.

He also said the plan was likely to call for a more gradual approach to conservation than Ford's proposed cutback of 1 million barrels a day in U.S. oil consumption.

Jackson said he expected to see legislation requiring the President to set a much lower initial reduction goal —perhaps something like 200,000 barrels per day —and to parcel out to the states the responsibility for determining how each would do its share in achieving this goal.

He said states might adopt such measures as new building codes to promote better insulation of homes and offices, the passage of restrictions on non-essential lighting, programs to maximize carpools and incentives for industrial energy consumption.

The federal government would provide the states an incentive for doing this by reimbursing them for their conservation expenditures on it, Jackson said.

"By tailoring the program to the local economic needs we can insure that conservation efforts will not further jeopardize the economy," Jackson said.

Jackson also proposed a massive mobilization of U.S. resources to develop new energy sources — particularly untapped oil reserves in Alaska and off East Coast states coast and the vast coal reserves of the United States —in a way that will "break the cartel" of oil producing nations.

The House Ways and Means Committee is currently drafting a national energy plan which could hike gasoline prices as much as 50 cents a gallon by 1980 and eventually deregulate oil and natural gas prices.

Ways and Means Chairman Al Ullman, D-Ore., a strong opponent of President Ford's increased tariffs on imported oil, said he had eight task forces at work and expects to wrap up the committee's bill by April 15.

The Senate Interior Committee, meanwhile, approved a bill Tuesday that would block Ford from erasing oil price controls without a go-ahead from Congress. Both House and Senate Democrats are wary of any quick moves on deregulation.

Ullman said the tentative Ways and Means plan would deregulate gas and oil prices within 10 years, and possibly in five years if combined with a windfall profits tax placed on oil and gas companies to deter unwarranted price hikes.

The plan would also call for a 10 cents-a-gallon increase in domestic gasoline taxes each year over the next four or five years, coupled with a coupon system that would allot each vehicle a basic amount of weekly gasoline, he said.

For example, if the figure was set at 10 gallons a week, gasoline purchased in excess of that amount would be taxed at the higher figure. The first 10 gallons could be bought at the current price.

Ullman also said the plan will probably include a quota on oil imports that would be "put in place as the economy comes back." He apparently meant increased imports as the country becomes more self-sufficient in petroleum and the economy gets better.

Third man arrested in OIA baggage theft ring

A third person has been arrested by Federal Bureau of Investigation agents and Ontario police in connection with a baggage theft ring operating out of Ontario International Airport.

Arrested Monday was Daniel Lee Ballard, 21, of 222 Locust St., Ontario. Ballard and two others arrested Saturday, Lane N. Bosshardt, 27, and Jonnenn L. Ringer, 23, both of 627 E. E St., Ontario, face charges of possession of stolen property and a federal charge of theft of interstate shipments.

SPOTLIGHT ON CRIME

FBI agents and police indicated that several other arrests in the case may be pending.

The three are accused of stealing approximately 75 pieces of luggage from incoming passengers at OIA during the past month. Nine pieces of luggage and other items were recovered Saturday in the E Street apartment.

Police believe the thieves would walk into the crowded baggage area on the north end of the airport terminal, grab a few bags and toss them in a car. Police estimate that several thousand dollars worth of personal property was stolen in the thefts.

A 63-year-old POMONA woman told police Tuesday that two men invaded her home at gunpoint, tied her up and ransacked the place looking for a collection of gold coins she didn't possess.

The victim, Sarah M. Zabel, 3017 N. Garey Ave., managed to free herself after the pair left with her $3,000 sterling silver dining service.

The victim said that when she answered a knock on the door shortly after 1 p.m. the pair forced their way inside, made her lie down, tied her hands behind her back with an electrical cord and demanded her coin collection. The ransacking began after she told them she had no collection of gold coins.

Eventually the woman heard one of the pair mutter that they must have made a mistake and they left with her sterling. Both were Caucasians in the 20s. The one with the pistol was 5 feet 6, weighed 180 pounds and was described as stocky. He had shoulder-length brown hair parted in the middle.

In ONTARIO, three Fontana men caught by police removing items from a home at 135 N. Virginia Ave. Tuesday afternoon have been booked in the West End Jail on suspicion of burglary.

Police said a dispatcher received a call from an anonymous informant who reported three men had broken into the home owned by Mary Vasquez. Officers arrested one man in the back yard of the home and two others inside.

Booked in the West End Jail this morning on burglary charges in lieu of $1,000 bail each were: Santo Navarro, 23, of 9770 Hemlock St., William Navarro Huerta, 18, of 14144 Santa Ana Ave., and Jesse Albert Cruz, 19, of 9770 Hemlock St., all of Fontana.

Officers reported that Navarro was arrested near a car behind the Vasquez residence where a clock radio and a record player belonging to Mrs. Vasquez were found. The other two suspects were arrested by officers inside of the home where they were allegedly trying to remove a color television set.

Officers involved in the capture of the suspects were: Sgt. William Hennie, Officer Ken Erisman, Officer Richard Hyche, Officer Paul Wagner, and Officer Harold Bode.

Against more military aid

Mansfield 'sick and tired' of slaughter in Cambodia

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said today he is "sick and tired" of seeing Cambodians "slaughtered" with American guns and bombs and Congress will not bow to pressure from President Ford for more military aid to that nation.

Mansfield told reporters that Tuesday's warnings from Ford and Secretary of State Henry A. Kissinger that Cambodia would fall within weeks without the additional $222 million in aid was "an old story, repeated many times."

"I am sick and tired of seeing pictures of Cambodian and Vietnamese men, women and children being slaughtered by American guns and American ammunition," Mansfield said.

"The more of it we give, the more killings there will be," Mansfield said.

Ford, meanwhile, said at a Hollywood, Fla., news conference today that the Cambodian situation is "very critical."

Battle reports from the Southeast Asian nation have also painted bad pictures. Communist-supported rebel forces surround the capital, Phnom Penh, and food supplies are being airlifted in by the United States.

"I think that would be unfortunate. If they are able to maintain national integrity until the end of the dry season there is a possibility of negotiations to end the war in Cambodia," Ford said.

But Mansfield countered that the administration request was for "indefinite participation — indirect as it may be —in the affairs of countries to which we have no commitment."

He said the South Vietnamese and the Cambodians would have to resolve their own problems and added that the fall of Phnom Penh could hasten that decision.

Ford pleaded for the Cambodian aid in a letter to House Speaker Carl Albert Tuesday.

CAB okays 4-8% boost in air fares

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Civil Aeronautics Board Tuesday approved air fare increases ranging from 4 to 8 per cent for flights linking the United States with the Caribbean, Central America and South America. Higher fuel costs prompted the move.

But the board turned down a proposal for a similar increase proposed for flights between the U.S. West Coast and Mexico.

A CAB spokesman said no date was set for the new fares to go into effect. But he said such fare increases generally take place 30 days after they are approved.

The 8 per cent fare increase applies to flights between the United States and Central or South America, the spokesman said, making a one-way ticket from New York to Rio de Janeiro will cost $675 for first class and $455 for economy class.

He said the 4 per cent increase will apply on flights to and from the Caribbean, making a one-way ticket between New York and Aruba in the Netherlands Antilles cost $276 for first class and $202 for economy class.

Aid for Ethiopia: tough decision, says Kissinger

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger says the administration is in the process of a "difficult decision" whether to send arms to Ethiopia to be used in the civil war in Eritrea.

There have been published reports the Ethiopian government has asked President Ford for $25 million in military aid, particularly ammunition, to help it put down a secessionist rebellion in the province of Eritrea.

"The problem we have," Kissinger told a news conference Tuesday, "is to decide whether a country whose military establishment has been based on American arms should be cut off from support at the precise moment that it most needs it. It is a difficult decision for us, and we have not come close to making it."

Kissinger said the issues would be discussed at a meeting today of the Washington Special Action Group, which includes officials of the defense and intelligence establishments and which makes recommendations to Ford.

Eritrea is a former Italian colony returned to Ethiopia by the UN General Assembly in 1952.

The Eritrean independence movement has been going on since 1962. As a result of fighting during the past three weeks, the United States has already withdrawn the bulk of its 300 nationals from the Eritrean capital of Asmara, including some technicians who man a U.S. Defense Department communications center there.

Kissinger said the United States "takes no position on the merits" of the Eritrean conflict.

The Ethiopian aid request comes at a time when the administration is lobbying with a reluctant Congress to provide more military aid to Cambodia and South Vietnam and is being criticized by India for continuing military sales to Pakistan.

New Ambassador

Not replacing Kissinger soon, says Richardson

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Elliot Richardson was sworn in as ambassador to Great Britain Tuesday. Minutes later he was questioned about his plans for advancement.

After his swearing-in, Richardson said he would be happy to become Secretary of State. But he added quickly he does not foresee Henry Kissinger resigning any time soon.

At a news conference earlier in the day, Kissinger himself dismissed reports he might step down within the next year, saying he had made no decisions. White House Press Secretary Ron Nessen said later, "I know of no plans for Secretary Kissinger to leave his post."

Richardson, speaking to reporters after he was sworn in by Deputy Secretary of State Robert Ingersoll, denied a report published by the Chicago Sun-Times that he probably would replace Kissinger. The report also indicated Richardson expected a Kissinger resignation next year.

The Sun-Times dispatch, which quoted British reporters who interviewed Richardson Monday, said the new ambassador gave himself a 2-1 chance of succeeding Kissinger in the event he quit.

Area attorney wins suit for family of man killed by bear

Claremont attorney Stephen I. Zetterberg has won his second law suit against the U.S. government in its management of bears in national parks. A U.S. district judge Monday ruled in favor of the family of an Alabama man killed by a grizzly in Yellowstone National Park in 1972.

U.S. Dist. Judge A. Andrew Hauk ruled that the National Park Service was negligent in not warning Harry E. Walker, 25, and a fellow camper of the danger of grizzlies in the area around the Old Faithful geyser.

The U.S. government has been ordered to pay Walker's family $87,417.67 in damages.

Zetterberg had sought $300,000 in damages in connection with Walker's death June 25, 1972.

The Walker suit maintained that the federal management of grizzlies, principally the way in which garbage is disposed, has resulted in attacks by hungry animals on park visitors.

In Zetterberg's first grizzly bear case, he represented an Ontario youth who was mauled in Glacier National Park in 1962.

The case was settled four years later for $100,000.

Zetterberg said that Smith Parratt, who was 10 when he was attacked, still carries the scars of his encounter with a grizzly.

Offshore oil: who owns it, how will it best serve the nation?

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The claim by 13 East Coast states to the oil underneath the Atlantic Ocean just off their shores involves legal issues dating back to before the American Revolution.

But the stakes are as modern as the automobile —fuel: Who owns it and how it can best serve the national interest.

No one knows for sure how much oil is buried beneath the Continental Shelf. But after the Supreme Court decides ownership, the winning side will grant leases to oil companies for exploring the coastal seas for oil. The leases are potentially worth billions of dollars.

The high court listened to oral arguments in two separate cases Monday and Tuesday. Its decision will involve roughly 200,000 square miles of sea bed stretching 100 miles offshore from Maine through Georgia and 30 miles off Florida's east coast.

All the East Coast states except Florida and Connecticut claim their royal charters granted as early as 1606 entitle them to sea bed ownership. These rights were not surrendered when the states ratified the constitution, they argued.

Solicitor General Robert H. Bork called the colonial arguments "essentially irrelevant."

He said the Supreme Court ruled in 1947 that the United States has control of all resources beyond the low tide mark. Only the generosity of Congress in 1953 gave the states jurisdiction up to three miles offshore, Bork said.

A special master named by the court has recommended that the justices go along with Bork's arguments.

Bork told the justices that "the urgent efforts of the President to improve the energy program" require a quick decision.

Florida, which was never under a colonial grant since it was purchased outright from Spain, filed a separate action. It asked for jurisdiction only 30 miles off its east coast, contending this was what Congress approved when the state was readmitted to the Union in 1868.

The rulings, expected by June, will finally dispose of the major issues surrounding offshore resources. But follow up work could take additional years.

Normally after deciding how far a state can control the seas, the court must also decide the specific boundaries. These decisions involve complex geographic and historical evidence concerning coastlines.

PALMDALE (UPI) — Sheriff's deputies captured a 146-pound lioness cub Sunday almost 10 hours after she was reported missing by her owner.

Sheila Perry told officers the 8-month-old animal leaped through an open window. She said the cub was unfamiliar with the area because they had just moved into the neighborhood a few days earlier.

'Caretaker' amendment opposed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Justice Department said today it opposes a proposed constitutional amendment to require a special presidential election when an appointed vice president becomes chief executive.

Assistant Attorney General Antonin Scalia told the Senate Judiciary Subcommittee on Constitutional Amendments the proposal, if adopted, would "create a transition period in which the executive branch and the government are enfeebled."

Scalia said that under the amendment proposed by Sen. John Pastore, D-R.I., the country could not hold a "normal" election to select a new president and it would reduce the vice president, who would accede to the presidency, to a "caretaker."

"In short," Scalia said, "unless the government is to be left in the hands of a powerless caretaker for an intolerably long period, it does not seem to me that the process which the proposed amendment establishes would produce 'the people's choice' in anything like the normal sense."

Pastore proposed that if a presidential vacancy occurs a special election would be called by Congress, and the vice president would hold the office of president until the election had chosen a successor.

The subcommittee is holding hearing on the 25th Amendment —under which both President Ford and Vice President Nelson Rockefeller achieved their jobs without popular election —to consider how it should work in future cases.

"The time might come when this could happen again," Pastore said Tuesday, "when this country will be subjected to having two individuals who have not been elected by the people.

"I think even Gerald Ford would feel a lot more comfortable if he were elected by the people."

Scalia said the existing 25th Amendment, approved by Congress in 1965 and ratified by two-thirds of the states in 1967, worked when put to its supreme test.

He said Pastore's proposal could "permit a Republican administration to be replaced by a Democratic one, or vice-versa, within a year after its election."

UAW jobless funds to run out soon

DETROIT (UPI) — A United Auto Workers union official says the special fund to cushion the unemployment benefits of laid off white collar workers at Chrysler Corp. will run out in mid-March.

The Supplemental Unemployment Benefit fund affects about one-half of the auto company's 10,000 salaried workers who are union members and are now either on permanent or indefinite layoff.

"It's hard to give a specific date because the fund balance is earning some interest and there are still some contributions," said Arthur Hughes, assistant to UAW Vice President Douglas Fraser.

He said Tuesday the balance of the SUB fund had fallen from $4.4 million on Feb. 1 to $1.7 million on Feb. 23.

In comparison, the SUB fund for blue collar workers at Chrysler stood at $25.6 million on Feb. 23, but the company says the fund is being exhausted at a rate of $5.5 million a week.

Hughes said the fund for blue collar workers is likely to run out late next month or early in April. The company has 51,000 hourly workers on layoff.

Workers covered by the white collar SUB fund include blueprint clerks, layout men, stylists, telephone operators and draftsmen.

Workers who are eligible receive the SUB payments plus regular unemployment benefits that guarantee them 95 per cent of their pay minus handling costs and income tax on the SUB payment.

Auto companies contribute to the fund under a formula worked out with the UAW and included in the union contract.

Bystanders vindicated in 'rape' case

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (UPI) — Call it a 820 misunderstanding, but the bystanders who were cast in a bad light for refusing to help a teen-age girl crying "rape" have been vindicated.

Police reported last week a 15-year-old girl walking home from a private school was raped by a man who forced her into an empty apartment.

The girl twice escaped the rapist, fleeing nude to the balcony where her screams drew a crowd, the story went. The rapist allegedly told the bystanders it was only "a family quarrel." None of them interfered when he hauled her back inside to continue the rape.

The district attorney's office told it differently Tuesday.

The girl was a prostitute, investigators said.

She was screaming because she hadn't been paid.

Charges against the suspect were dropped.

NOT TALKING — Henry Ford continues to maintain silence on his weekend arrest in California on drunk driving charges. With him at the time of the incident, Santa Barbara police said, was Kathleen Duross, a Detroit model and interior decorator. Both are shown in 1973 photos.

Adventurer pirates own ship, sails off with teen crew

QUEBEC CITY (UPI) — A swashbuckling adventurer, who pirated his own ship after it was sold at auction, sailed through the Gulf of St. Lawrence Tuesday, heading for the open seas with his crew of teenage boys and girls and a dwindling fuel supply.

Brian Erb, 40, a bearded Montrealer who once proposed using ping-pong balls to refloat the burned-out ocean liner Queen Elizabeth from the depths of Hong Kong harbor, seized the 2,500-ton freighter Atlantean Sunday in Quebec City.

The ship was sighted last in the Gulf of St. Lawrence south of Anticosti Island, heading for the south coast of Newfoundland, the Atlantic Ocean and international waters.

Besides Erb, a teen-age crew of about 30, including eight young women, was aboard.

Neither the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, the Coast Guard, nor the Ministry of Transport was attempting to stop the Atlantean.

"There haven't been any charges laid, so we can't take any action," an RCMP official said.

A spokesman for the Quebec National Harbor Police said the Atlantean can't go too far with the fuel aboard.

"They have only 10,000 gallons of diesel fuel on board and with the heavy ice and tides that will soon run out," he said. "I don't see why we should attempt to board her now."

Authorities were having difficulty tracking the ship, which has travelled more than 500 miles since Sunday. It was reported trapped in ice floes in the St. Lawrence River Monday, but apparently steered its way out of trouble and into open waters.

Marine officials said they have been trying to make radio contact with the vessel, but it fails to respond.

"The ship hasn't reported for two days," the harbor master's office here said. "We've been calling her, but she hasn't cooperated at all."

Erb and his youthful crew seized the 180-foot-long ship after it was sold at auction to pay the Montreal man's bills.

The new owner, Paul-Emile Caron, president of Louiseville (Que.) General Enterprises, Inc., paid $28,500 for the Atlantean. He reportedly was preparing a lawsuit against Erb, who took the vessel out of Quebec City harbor without navigational aid or customs clearance.

The Atlantean caper was the latest in a series of brushes with authority for Erb.

Last year, Erb applied for a salvage permit to recover a ship grounded off Ile d'Orleans just north of here. He was not given the contract, but boarded the ship anyway with a group of teenagers who held off police for several weeks.

One lawyer who knows Erb described him as "a man of very big visions, as shown by his scheme to refloat the Queen Elizabeth with ping-pong balls...considering the equipment he had.

"He had a little ship then that couldn't even cross the Atlantic, but there he was, talking about raising the Queen E."

Henry Ford silent on drunk arrest

DETROIT (UPI) — Henry Ford II, chairman of the auto company that bears his family name, had nothing to say Tuesday about his weekend arrest in California on charges of being drunk while driving with a beautiful Detroit model.

He sat at the head table Monday at the weekly Economic Club of Detroit luncheon meeting, but declined to discuss the incident. He maintained his silence Tuesday, and the Ford company declined comment beyond a Monday statement issued through a spokesman that said only: "It can be confirmed that Mr. Ford received a traffic ticket in California Saturday evening."

With him at the time of the incident, police said, was Mrs. Kathleen Duross, a 35-year old model and interior decorator.

She was not available for comment. Telephone calls to her home were answered by a tape recording that asked callers to leave a message.

Police in Santa Barbara, Calif., said they arrested the 57-year old auto executive when a patrolman spotted his car "weaving" in one of the town's main streets.

Ford was given a blood test to determine his sobriety, police said, then was held for nearly four hours in jail before posting a $375 cash bond.

Mrs. Duross, police said, was detained but later released without charge.

Ford was charged with driving under the influence of an alcoholic beverage and a tentative trial date of March 7 was set in municipal court. The charge carries a maximum fine of $375.

A company spokesman said he did not know why Ford was in California.

Mrs. Duross, a native of Grand Rapids, was identified by friends as a model who worked in films introducing new cars. She was widowed at age 19, friends said, and lives in the wealthy suburb of Grosse Pointe with two teenaged daughters.

Skunk fare hiked to $5.25

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — It will cost more this year to ride the Skunk, a train operated through Mendocino County mountains by the California Western Railroad Co.

The state Public Utilities Commisssion granted the road permission Wednesday to charge $5.25 instead of $4.20 for a one-way ride from Willits to Fort Bragg. Round trips will cost $8.25.

Road officials said they lost $73,969 last year, but with the boost hope to make a profit of $13,116 this year.

Greek tourism

ATHENS (UPI) — 1975 will be a good year for tourism in Greece despite an expected drop in the number of visitors from the United States due to higher air fares, according to John Tzanetakis, general secretary of the National Tourist Organization.

"We expect more visitors from Germany and Switzerland and also from Sweden when direct flights from Stockholm to Rhodes begin in February," he said.

CHIVALRY NOT DEAD — He may not be Sir Lancelot, but Rick Kennedy carries off his "Maid Marion" to be married in Nashville, Tenn. The armor-clad Kennedy said he got the idea while he and his fiance were watching a Sir Lancelot movie. Miss Jackson exclaimed during the film, "That's what I want, a knight in shining armor." "If that's what you want, you're going to get it," said Kennedy.

Taking sulfur from gasoline a fuel waster

DETROIT (UPI) — Taking sulfur out of gasoline to stop 1975 catalytic-equipped cars spewing out sulfuric acid mists would be a $3.7 billion project that would wind up wasting fuel, the Society of Automotive Engineers was told Tuesday.

"Manufacturing low-sulfur gasoline is an extremely wasteful undertaking in a time when waste cannot be tolerated," Ronald G. Bruce of the Continental Oil Co. said. "An additional 100,000 to 150,000 barrels a day of crude oil would be consumed by the additional processing required."

Taking the sulfur out of gasoline is one solution being studied since it was discovered the catalytic converters used to eliminate unburned hydrocarbons and carbon monoxide from auto exhaust also cause sulfuric acid mists.

John B. Moran, an Environmental Protection Agency scientist who first warned of the problem at last year's SAE meeting, said today that the problem probably will be most severe in California because of that state's more stringent clean air laws.

However, both Moran and auto industry officials have said there is not enough data available to determine the possible health hazards from the sulfate emissions caused by the catayitic converters.

In testimony before the EPA last week, General Motors Vice President Ernest Starkman said there is no information available now that shows any potential danger to persons from individual catayis-equipped cars — to those who ride in them or to those who work on them.

"It is only after several years, and then only under the very worst possible combination of conditions which are very unlikely to occur in the real world, that adverse health effects might catch up to the health benefits," Starkman said.

It is for this reason that the petroleum industry is advising against any headlong rush into building facilities to remove the small quantities of sulfur now found in crude oil, Bruce said.

Current gasoline contains about 300 parts per million of sulfur with the need to reduce it to about 100 parts per million —a project that would cost $3.7 billion —probably is beyond the capability of the overloaded engineering and construction industry to complete within three years.

"It simply requires too much money, too much manpower, too much material and too much energy," Bruce said. "It is a nonproductive undertaking that inflationary times should not support and it may not even be beneficial to improved air quality."

Oil nations rule out price hike; to keep U.S. dollar

VIENNA (UPI) — Oil Ministers from the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries Tuesday ruled out immediate oil price increases and production cutbacks and reaffirmed their intent to continue to use the U.S. dollar in calculating the price of oil.

There had been rumors the OPEC might dump the plunging dollar in favor of more stable currencies such as the West German Deutschmark or the Swiss Franc but Iranian Interior Minister Dr. Jamshid Amouzegar of Iran indicated OPEC would not do it.

"There would be no advantage to it," he told newsmen after the opening session of a two-day meeting here of OPEC ministers. "I do not think it is a good idea."

Amouzegar said that the ministers would have to discuss the sharp decline in the dollar's value and the loss of revenue the decline has cost the oil cartel.

Saudi Arabian Oil Minister Sheikh Ahmed Zaki Yamani told newsmen, "I am against the discussion of the dollar at this meeting."

Both Amouzegar and Yamani as well as Venezuelan Oil Minister Valentin Hernandez denied the meeting planned to cut production to dry up the current world oil surplus and maintain high price levels.

"This is not on the agenda" Hernandez said.

Amouzegar said, "We have promised to sell the industrialized nations all the oil they want and we will continue to do so."

Asked about higher prices, Yamani said, "The price has to stay frozen. We will keep our promise." Amouzegar ruled out production cuts to dry up the current oil surplus and keep price levels high.

"We have promised to sell the industrialized nations all the oil they want and we will continue to do so," he told newsmen. "If they conserve and do not use as much oil we will not cry about it.

"We decided at our last meeting to freeze the oil price until Sept. 30 of this year. We will stick to that."

Representatives of the 13 major oil producing nations met here to prepare the first conference of the OPEC heads of state, expected to start in Algiers March 4.

Amouzegar said the ministers would discuss proposals to guard the cartel's income against inflation and the falling value of the dollar, including an Iranian suggestion to link oil prices to those of a "basket of commodities."

Under this plan the price of oil would fluctuate with the prices the oil producing nations must pay for 20 or 30 basic commodities.

"We are not insisting on this proposal," he said. "There can be other plans. But we all agree that we must protect the value of our oil. Perhaps the price of oil could be linked to the rate of world inflation."

Ski Yugoslavia

BELGRADE (UPI) — For the second year running the fashionable winter resorts in the mountains of northern Yugoslavia known as "Little Switzerland" have taken a beating because of lack of snow.

But their loss has been the gain for the rapidly developing ski-grounds in Bosnia in central Yugoslavia and in Macedonia, in the southeast of the country. Both areas have had abundant falls of the lightly packed snow ideal for skiing and this, coupled with lower prices, have been luring many inflation-conscious Westerners as well as Yugoslavs.

Nixon felt like martyr on eve of resignation

By HELEN THOMAS
UPI White House Reporter

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Richard M. Nixon felt he was a martyr on the eve of his resignation as president and told friends "let them put me behind bars," Rabbi Baruch Korff said Tuesday.

Korff, a staunch defender of Nixon, also said that in one of his more reflective moods recently, the former president told him: "I still don't know the full story of Watergate and the coverup."

Korff said each of Nixon's aides told him a different story, all "self-serving."

Korff, organizer of the "President Nixon Justice Fund," told UPI in an interview that Nixon did not discuss the possibility of being pardoned, and in fact "at one point he seem resigned to being a martyr, and said, 'Let them put me behind bars.' "

"The tragedy of Richard Nixon is that he is straitlaced," said Korff. "If he had been one of the Irish Mafia this would not have come to pass. He was toppled from within more than without from the time he came into office."

Korff, who lives in Providence, R.I., has been traveling around the country soliciting funds to help pay Nixon's legal fees. So far he has paid $125,000 to Nixon's Washington lawyer, Herbert Miller.

Korff said he is negotiating with a television network to pay $250,000 into the fund for a halfhour interview with Nixon on his post-presidential life.

Wearing a checked green jacket, dark slacks and a tie clasp with the presidential seal, Korff sipped a scotch sour on the rocks during the luncheon interview at the Mayflower Hotel.

Korff, who has seen Nixon on several occasions since his resignation last Aug. 9, quoted the former president as saying: "Of course I was wrong."

Korff said he "leaked the story to the Providence Journal that the resignation is forthcoming and irrevocable unless there was an avalanche telling the president not to resign."

"That was my last card, and it was true," he said, although Alexander Haig, then White House chief of staff, "didn't like it.

"There was an organization to get Nixon out," he said. "Haig was definitely of the opinion there was no alternative. I asked for a moratorium of two weeks."

In the end, he said, Nixon decided that a Senate trial "would disrupt the nation, give comfort to the enemy, state secrets could be jeopardized that might effect the country for a decade, and there would be a coliseum atmosphere."

He quoted Nixon as saying during his deliberation on whether to resign: "For the good of the country, I must."

As for Nixon's wife Pat, Korff said she first felt "shamed" by the resignation but now "she's secure in the belief that her husband's contribution to the nation is among the brightest of the presidency."

Rabbi Korff said Mrs. Nixon, who will be 63 years old on March 16, has stayed up many sleepless nights with her husband and grown closer to him. She has "suffered a lot and aged" since last Aug. 9 when they moved out of the White House, he said.

Government admits SS fund depleted after '80

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Inflation and unemployment are ravaging the Social Security emergency reserve funds at a rate that will deplete them after 1980, the administration has told Congress.

The stark statistical forecast, prepared by the Social Security Administration at the request of two key congressional committees, is the first government acknowledgement of looming deficits in the system —and a prediction that they will be higher than previously indicated.

The report has been turned over to the House Ways and Means Committee for study and congressional hearings are expected.

The problems are higher inflation, which means greater benefits for the more than 30 million Social Security recipients based on cost of living escalators, and higher unemployment, which means smaller income to the system.

By 1981, the diminishing income and higher benefit payments will deplete the trust funds which are held as a buffer against economic misfortunes, according to the SSA actuaries.

The $45.9 billion on hand for reserves at the end of 1974 will be reduced to $800 million by the end of 1980 at the present rate of depletion, the report explained.

The report was prepared at the request of House Ways and Means and the Senate Finance Committees, the two Capitol Hill panels dealing with Social Security.

Lunch at Elysee Palace

France's top chefs cook out

PARIS (UPI) — The best chefs of the nation cooked "the lunch of the century" Tuesday for the president of France at the Elysee Palace.

From the four corners of the realm came 15 chefs of restaurants worth three stars in the Michelin Guide book.

Tradition-breaking President Valery Giscard d'Estaing, who last year invited his garbage collectors to breakfast, decided to award chef Paul Bocuse, owner of the Bocuse Restaurant near Lyon, the Legion of Honor.

The award was set for lunch which Bocuse and four other three-star chefs cooked and then sat down to eat with the president and his wife and the other 10 chefs.

The young chefs—all in their '40's — represent "the new French cuisine," described by Jean Troisgros as "easier to digest and more simple" than the high cuisine of yesteryear.

At 6 a.m., the five working chefs went to the food market at Rungis to drink wine with market workers and buy truffles, wild strawberries and a dozen plump ducks.

Into the courtyard of the Elysee Palace they unloaded the food plus a three-foot-long salmon caught Monday in the Loire River.

In the Elysee kitchen, the size of a tennis court, Bocuse, Jean and Pierre Troisgros of the Troisgros Restaurant at Roanne, Michel Guerard of Eugenie-les-Bains and Roger Verge of Le Moulin Restaurant at Mougins, donned white caps and jackets.

Verge had an aspirin in his pocket, but Bocuse insisted, "I'm not nervous. I will cook just like I do every day."

Bocuse peeled truffles the size of potatoes and chopped them into soup bowls. In went pieces of goose liver pate, bits of carrot and bouillon. An assistant pressed dough cut into circles atop each soup bowl and popped them into an oven to make the first course, truffle soup.

Second course: The Troisgros brothers boned and cut the salmon into thin squares and barely cooked it ("The French aren't used to eating fish rare, this is a new idea.") The sauce was of shallots, vermouth, white wine, butter, cream.

Guerard cooked filets of duck and brushed each with a red wine sauce.

Verge, perspiring and flushed, made the salad. For two hours he clipped string beans and sliced each one lengthwise, barely boiling artichokes, skinny green tiny asparagus, mushrooms. Slightly scrambled eggs and cream formed the sauce.

Lax controls responsible for drug thefts at clinics

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Lax federal controls contribute to substantial thefts of methadone and other drugs, congressional investigators said today.

"In New York we have found that the custodial arrangements for methadone supplies in clinics virtually invite thefts," Rep. Charles Rangel, D-N.Y., said as he released a year-long study conducted by the General Accounting Office, the congressional spending watchdog, at Rangel's request.

It found that although breakins and armed robberies of treatment centers accounted for most illegal diversion of methadone, 14 thefts and losses during an 18-month period, totaling 54,866 doses, occurred while the drug was in transit.

Methadone is a synthetic narcotic used primarily in treating addicts. It is itself addictive and, according to the report, has resulted in "many deaths" after thefts from legitimate distribution sources. The number of deaths was not clarified.

In some cases, address labels of shipments have suggested the contents because the address contained words like "methadone maintenance" or "methadone treatment." The GAO said "this occurs because the address on the federal order form must be used in addressing shipments."

At seven hospitals, methadone shipments were signed for and opened by receiving department workers or warehousemen before being sent to the pharmacy, the report said. In five treatment programs, administrators, directors and other unlicensed persons were designated to receive shipments.

Rangel, whose upper Manhattan district contains nearly half the heroin addicts in the country, said unless methadone theft is treated more seriously, the drug could replace heroin as the primary addictive drug in some communities.

Income division

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The magazine Finance Facts says taxes now take about 15 per cent of personal income, a rise of two per cent from six years ago. The publication of the National Consumer Finance Association also says 16 per cent of the income goes for food, opposed to 17 per cent in 1967; five per cent for savings, against six per cent earlier; and 11 per cent for transportation goods and services.

Sex counselor course at UC

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The University of California School of Medicine is taking applications for a $175 two-weekend courses on how to become a sex counselor.

The course starts on Friday and homework assignments are called "sensual experience — shared and solo" —and include a "do-it-yourself exploration of your body to find out where you like to be touched."

"What we're trying to do is to wake people up to what they want in a relationship, how to get their partners to know their needs, then how to get their needs met and still take into account the needs of others," said psychologist Jay Mann, an instructor of the "Introduction to Sex Counseling Principles" course.

Students are advised to bring along a spouse or "significant other" for a cut-rate fee of $125.

A married couple teaching the course with Mann said their program is particularly valuable to doctors, social workers and clergymen who "find it easy to talk about sex in the abstract" but have trouble discussing sexual problems directly.

Lufthansa fires fatal crash pilot, engineer

COLOGNE, Germany (UPI) — West German Lufthansa airlines Monday dismissed the captain and flight engineer of a Boeing 747 jumbo jet that crashed in Africa, killing 59 of the 157 persons on board.

Lufthansa said it took the action after studying the still unpublished results of an investigation into the accident.

"The contracts of employment of captain and flight engineer are terminated with immediate effect," Lufthansa said.

It said "a disciplinary measure" will be taken against the copilot.

Both the airline and passengers have praised Capt. Christian Krack for his handling of last November's crash at Nairobi airport, saying he was largely responsible for the high number of survivors.

German newspapers have blamed malfunctioning leading edge flaps as the cause of the crash.

Lufthansa said it has introduced what it termed "an acoustic take-off warning system" for added safety and promised, "Measures already taken to optimize flight safety will be intensified."

Milk plentiful

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Agriculture Department says consumers will find milk more plentiful in the first half of this year than previously forecast, and it's partly because of the recession and the slump in the beef industry.

It turns out there are more cows on farms than the department thought.

2 solons in Vietnam to study aid plea

SAIGON (UPI)—Two Republican congressmen representing opposite views on the question of aid to Vietnam arrived in Saigon today on a crucial fact-finding journey. The final report by Rep. Paul McCloskey, R-Calif., and Sen. Dewey Bartlett, R-Okla., may determine the fate of a request by President Ford for another $522 million in aid this year.

"I want to appraise the matter of increased aid and all that goes with it," Bartlett told newsmen on his arrival.

McCloskey said he wants "to get an understanding as to what the situation in Vietnam is today and I think we start with no pre-assumptions as to what the situation is."

Alcoholism: a new trend among youth

NEW YORK (UPI) — That fellow at the other end of the bar having difficulty balancing himself on his elbow is one in 9 million.

That is the number of adults the government says has developed the disease of alcoholism.

Only a small proportion of heavy drinkers (less than 5 per cent) are on skid row. The rest are white and blue collar workers, doctors, lawyers and even housewives, many of whom may be secret or open tipplers.

According to a presentation made at the recent meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, nonworking women find it easier to hide the habit since they do not have to contend with surroundings necessary in job situations.

The report authored by Drs. Nicholas A. Pace and Milton Helpern lists so many calamities caused by alcoholism it is enough to drive a person to drink —a soft drink that is.

For instance, alcohol is responsible for 50 per cent of all fatal auto accidents accounting for 27,750 deaths jer year not to mention 500,000 major auto injuries. And the paper said auto deaths of youths have increased tremendously in states that have lowered the drinking age.

Pace is president of the New York City Affiliate of the National Council on Alcoholism. Helpern is the former medical examiner of New York and in his long career has examined innumerable cadavers to observe at first hand the internal ravages wrought by excessive drinking.

Some of the secondary and often fatal effects of alcoholism are listed in the report as cirrhosis of the liver, pancreatitis, colitis, ulcers, gastritis, gout, anemia, cardiac complications, convulsions, neuritis, homicide, suicide —the list goes on and on.

The two specialists are especially concerned with the escalating consumption of liquor by youngsters whom the report says are going from soda pop to fruit wines.

"Go to any rock concert," the report says, "and you will see wine flow like water. Walk through the parking lot outside the concert and you will see empty beer cans stacked two feet deep.

"Pass by most city school yards and you will see kids passing the bottle in brown paper bags. The parents of many of these kids are relatively unconcerned, since it is they who often set the drinking pattern for their children to follow."

Pace and Helpern call alcoholism the country's most misunderstood and neglected disease and they suggest a minimum of a three-fold program to combat it:

1. The physician in his office or emergency room of a hospital must be taught to have a high degree of suspicion of alcoholism and the techniques of how to make the diagnosis. He must also learn to overcome the patient's denial and provide motivation for treatment.

2. Detoxification in a controlled environment where the patient can receive treatment for the physiological and medical complications of the disease.

3. Rehabilitation allowing the patient to be separated from the stresses of his home and work environment. Here encounter group therapy is recommended such as Alcoholics Anonymous —"that great fellowship of men and women who have recovered from alcoholism and who today do not use alcohol in any form."

Spivak leaving 'Meet the Press' program

By FRANK S. SWERTLOW

NEW YORK (UPI) — Lawrence E. Spivak has decided to pull the plug on his long career as producer, panelist and moderator of NBC's "Meet the Press," television's longest running show.

Spivak, 74, has moderated "Meet the Press" since 1945, when he conceived it as a radio program to promote the now defunct American Mercury magazine of which he was editor and publisher. "Meet the Press" made its first television broadcast in 1947.

"I've been talking about retiring for 10 years, but this year I have been more specific," said Spivak in a telephone interview from his home in Washington, D.C. "I intend to retire on the anniversary of the show's 25th year on television. That will be sometime this November."

Spivak said Bill Monroe, Washington Correspondent for NBC's "Today" show, will replace him as panelist and moderator of the half-hour interview program. Betty Dukert will produce the show, he said. A well-placed source at NBC said Douglas Kiker will replace Monroe on "Today."

Spivak said although he is retiring from "Meet the Press" he has agreed to continue his relationship with NBC for the next five years.

"I've been on a deadline for a good number of years," Spivak said, "and it will be good to take the pressure of having to work 52 weeks a year. Even when I'm not on —and that's about six or seven weeks —it's awful hard."

During Spivak's career the unrehearsed "Meet the Press" became a national institution. Spivak and his changing group of panelists interviewed Kings, Queens, and elected heads of state. The first TV guest was James A. Farley, President Franklin D. Roosevelt's postmaster general. Other guests were Richard M. Nixon, Golda Meir and Robert Frost.

In a 1974 interview with UPI, Spivak said he "would have loved to interview Churchill before he died. Oh, yes, and DeGaulle and Hitler and Stalin —but we did get his daughter."

In that interview, Spivak said he thought the success of the show stemmed from the format —question and answer. Spivak, who vigorously led the rugged interviewing, was usually able to show up an artful dodger to his audience.

"I think it's the nature of the questioning and the kind of reporters you have who will come back again and again. You won't always get it, but you let the audience know if a question has been evaded or not."

HHH is urging a review of NATO policies

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., worried about European political and economic chaos, has called for a major congressional review of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Humphrey recently told the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that "the time has arrived for this committee to take a hard look at what is happening to the structure of NATO."

Humphrey said he regarded NATO as the most important defense arrangement the United States has to counter Soviet influence.

But he expressed concern that the variety of political and economic problems plaguing some NATO member nations could be seriously undermining the military alliance.

"When you look at the soft underbelly of NATO, it is a matter of grave concern," Humphrey said. He expressed greatest concern about developments in Italy, Portugal and Turkey.

"In Portugal there is a real serious threat from the communists," he said. "The liberals there are putting up a fight, but the communists have taken over the labor movement. In my experience that is always step number one in a communist takeover.

Humphrey said communists also were gaining influence in Italy, where the political and economic situation had grown so unstable that it had become a major source of worry to Western nations.

Humphrey also noted that Turkey has been governed by a caretaker government for a considerable period of time, with no end in sight. He also noted that relations between the United States and Turkey have been strained by the Congressional decision to hold off all U.S. military aid to Turkey until that nation withdraws its U.S. equipped forces from Cyprus.

Other senators have cited growing tensions between the United States and Greece as having had a weakening impact on NATO.

Humphrey said Congress should investigate the influence that all these situations have had on NATO.

PICKETING LA VERNE COLLEGE

Chino parents opposing year-round school took their fight to La Verne College this morning, picketing a YRS workshop as it got underway at La Fetra Hall. Shown, from left, with picket signs are Louise Wagner, Betty Jo Young and Fae Lamb. College President Leland Newcomer stopped to talk with the parents. Picketing went without incident as many persons listened to picketers' arguments.

Resistance to year-round plan more than expected

By JON MORRIS
P-B Staff Writer

More parents are resisting year-round school in Chino than district officials would like.

This was evident in the latest survey of parent opinion, released amid controversy at Tuesday night's school board meeting.

In the first survey taken of parents since YRS was expanded district-wide last July, strong opposition in most schools was revealed.

Ten of 11 schools surveyed reported that more than 25 per cent of the parents oppose YRS. A major objective of district officials has been not to exceed 25 per cent parent opposition.

The survey results, given one week before a board election in which three incumbents are running, drew little comment from the board.

Board President Eva Weiszbrod, in fact, had the only comment as the survey was handed out. She said it was "significant" that Walnut Avenue Elementary School, which has been on YRS for 1½ years, had the lowest number of displeased persons. Walnut parents were 63 per cent in favor and 22 per cent opposed, in a 96 per cent response to questionnaires.

The random sampling, complied by Applied Technology Center for Education, Fullerton, included about 20 per cent of the parents at each school. Response of those surveyed was at least 90 per cent in all cases.

Gird Primary reported 55 per cent "pleased," and 26 per cent "displeased"; Glenmeade recorded 53 per cent in favor, compared to 33 per cent opposed; El Rancho had 54 per cent in favor, 26 per cent opposed; Los Serranos had 52 per cent pleased and 33 per cent displeased.

Also, Marshall had 50 per cent pleased and 35 per cent displeased; Newman reported 51 per cent in favor, 31 per cent opposed; Magnolia had 48 per cent in favor, 30 per cent opposed; Ramona had 45 per cent in favor, 35 per cent opposed; and Don Lugo High School recorded 45 per cent pleased, against 44 per cent displeased.

Walnut and Magnolia Junior High were the two pilot schools which started YRS in 1973-74, and while Walnut opposition dropped 1 per cent from a survey taken last September, Magnolia increaed 4 per cent.

Parents not included in the random sample, but surveyed by the district anyway, did not respond in significant numbers, Supt. Royce Lapp indicated the random sample would be the only guideline used by officials.

Meanwhile, Allan Christensen, a parent, handed petitions to the board containing 197 signatures of parents who went on record opposing the survey. "It is biased in favor of the 45-15 plan," he said. "We petition for a yes-no YRS survey."

He claimed undecided votes in the survey would be included as votes in favor of YRS. Lapp said, however, that undecided votes would not be counted as positive results.

In another development in the YRS controversy, Chino parents opposing the plan picketed at La Verne College this morning, as a workshop on the year-round concept got underway there.

A number of parents from the group, "Citizens from Improved Education," carried signs for several hours as registration began for the workshop outside the Campus Center. Picketing was peaceful, and many persons attending the workshop stopped to hear the parents' views.

Garey High principal resigns from his post

Theodore A. "Ted" Tynes, 42, who is completing his fourth year as principal of Garey High School in Pomona, has turned in his resignation effective June 30.

Schools Supt. Robert Wentz told the school board that Tynes intends to leave the district and seek "other types of challenges" in education elsewhere.

Wentz said the pressure created for Tynes a year ago when he barely avoided reassignment to another job in the district has made it "difficult for him to operate in his present capacity."

The reason for the controversy over Tynes at that time was never disclosed. The administration had recommended his removal as principal, but the board on a 3-2 vote had agreed to give him a contract for another year.

Tynes gave no reason for his letter of resignation, and it was accepted by the board unanimously Tuesday night.

Wentz said he "regretted" the resignation. He called Tynes a good administrator, whose forte was in his rapport with the students.

Tynes has been an educator for the past 17 years. He taught at the Youth Training School in Ontario from 1962 to 1968, worked in San Francisco for a year, then was named assistant principal of Pomona High School in 1969. He was promoted to principal of Garey High School in 1972.

Wentz said the district is calling for applicants to fill the opening created by the resignation.

Financial misconduct

Chino attorney ordered disbarred

John T. Tomlinson Jr., a Chino attorney who onced served as Chino court judge and school board president, has been ordered disbarred because of financial misconduct.

The state Supreme Court Monday accepted the recommendation of the State Bar Disciplinary Board that he be prohibited from practicing law.

The matter had been heard Jan. 17 in Los Angeles. The court's decision was announced in San Francisco. The disbarment was based on five instances.

One involved the use of funds that Tomlinson held in trust for a client. The second was the inssuance during a five-year period of 550 checks drawn on his law practice accounts that were not honored because of insufficient funds.

Tomlinson was also reported to have leased certain property to a client without disclosing that a deed of trust on the property was about to be foreclosed, resulting in termination of the lease, said officials.

Another instance was the attorney's agreement to sell certain property to two clients and his acceptance of payments when he was in default on payments on the deed of trust. The clients suffered losses when the deed was foreclosed, said the court.

The court said Tomlinson would be eligible to apply for reinstatement if he showed proper conduct over a two-year period.

Tomlinson had served as interim judge of the Chino Judicial District Court in 1958. He had also served as president of the Chino School District's board of trustees in 1969 and as president of the Western San Bernardino County Bar Association in 1966.

Tomlinson was unavailable early for comment.

Dispute between armed men ends with one seriously hurt

Two Pomona men remained in custody today, one of them wounded critically, while police attempted to sort out the facts of a shooting late Monday night.

The wounded man, Anthony Little, 23, 1056 E. Philips Blvd., was in critical condition in the jail ward of County-USC Medical Center. He was being held on suspicion of attempted murder and possession of an illegal weapon.

The second man is Ronald Edward Gray, 26, 1517 Holly Way, was held in the city jail on suspicion of attempted murder.

Police said the shooting occurred in the 1500 block of Holly Way during an argument between Little and Gray. They said Little had gone there, with a sawed-off shotgun under his coat, to talk to Gray about Gray's naming him as a suspect in the theft earlier of Gray's stereo set.

Officers said that Gray armed himself with a .22-caliber pistol before answering the door. The confrontation resulted in Little's being shot in the chest and both men being arrested.

90 school bands to compete in college festival

Ninety bands and combos from 72 schools will vie for 30 trophies in the Chaffey College Band Festival on Saturday.

Competition extends from 8 a.m. to 10 p.m. and will be keyed to nine categories, according to Chaffey band director Jack Mason. Mason pioneered the program which began four years ago now draws more participants than any similar event in the country.

Entries are from as far away as San Leandro in Northern California and Tempe, Glendale and Scottsdale, Ariz.

Included will be high school, junior high school and elementary school stage bands, combos, Dixieland combos and two dance bands.

Supersax, a professional jazz group, will perform from noon to 1 p.m. in the Earl Sicosky Gymnasium.

Freightliner shutdown lengthens to a month

About 800 employes of the Chino assembly plant of Freightliner Corp. face a layoff for the entire month of March and an undetermined number of permanent layoffs when the plant reopens March 31.

Consolidated Freightways, Inc. Tuesday announced the month-long closing of all plants operated by its Freightliner subsidiary which builds heavy-duty diesel trucks in Portland, Ore., Chino and Indianapolis, Ind.

A Freightliner plant at Vancouver, B.C. will not be affected.

William G. White, Consolidated chairman, blamed a "sagging truck market" for the extended shutdown previously announced for the first two weeks in March.

White also complained that the new Department of Transportation regulations require braking systems on trucks that will add $2,000 to $2,500 to the price of a truck and trailer unit.

The regulations require brakes on all wheels and an anti-skid emergency braking system. At present the law doesn't require dual-axle trucks to have front brakes.

Chino plant manager Dick Vakerics said that the plant now produces 14 heavy-duty trucks a day, and that beginning March 31 the production schedule will be cut to six trucks a day.

The plant previously had been closed for two weeks in December.

The Freightliner plant has been open in Chino for about 18 months after moving from Pomona where the firm had been established for 14 years.

State taxes return $1 million to valley

The state Board of Equalization has announced the February distribution of local sales and use tax funds, with valley cities to receive allocations totaling almost $1 million.

Amounts valley cities will receive are: Claremont $32,500; La Verne $18,500; Pomona $392,500; San Dimas $20,500; Walnut $2,000; Chino $49,000; Montclair $165,000; Ontario $182,500; and Upland $77,000.

Building activity dips

Chino building activity dipped sharply in January, with only $288,039 in valuations recorded.

The total of 227 permits issued is more than a $1.2 million drop from $1,555,841 in valuations reported for January 1974.

Officers find no body in four days of digging, free suspect

A 24-year-old Pomona man who claimed he killed a man and buried him in the Lytle Creek area Friday has been released from jail after an extensive search by Ontario police and sheriff's deputies revealed no victim's body.

Rudelfo Merancio of 1231 E. Pasadena St., Pomona, informed Ontario police Friday that he got into a fight with a man in the area of Sunkist and Sultana avenues and punched him in the nose. Merancio said the man collapsed and he could find no pulse.

Merancio said he became frightened and took the man's body to the Lytle Creek area where he buried him. Merancio was arrested on a murder charge as a result, and a major search for the body was launched by members of the sheriff's department and police.

Police and deputies dug in the area where the body was allegedly buried, but no body was found. Deputies reported they probed the earth with shovels and picks for four days.

Merancio was released from the West End Jail Tuesday after a 72-hour legal holding period was exhausted.

Centers for drug, delinquency help sought in Pomona

A request to convert an existing apartment house into a recovery house for drug abusers will be considered tonight by the Pomona Planning Commission.

Melvin L. Brown and Walter Ellison are seeking a use permit to allow a board and care operation in the two-story residence at 998 W. Ninth Street.

The commission meeting starts at 7:30 p.m. in the City Council chambers.

The applicants reported the apartment building is located in a target area of drug addiction but is also easily accessible to all areas of the city. The structure would house eight clients.

Another agenda item includes a request by Boys Republic for a public use permit to permit a delinquency prevention counseling center at 564 N. San Antonio Ave.

In a letter to planners, Max Scott, associate director, reported the project is designed to provide services which ordinarily wouldn't be available to young people until they become wards of the court.

"The Delinquency Prevention Program is working with the Pomona School District in identifying and providing intensive services to youth and their families.

"The goal is to prevent school expulsions and entrance into the juvenile justice sytem," wrote Scott.

Planners will also consider a proposed ordinance amendment that would require a use permit for keeping certain animals on less than an acre and will conduct a public hearing for certification of an environmental impact report regarding the proposed closing of Monroe Street at Orange Grove Avenue.

Two candidates running in 4th Council District

Incumbent Bader: much to be done

Completing his first term, Pomona City Councilman Charles Bader would rather look ahead than back in his bid for re-election.

"There is much to be done. Many problems demand the council's attention," he says.

Bader, who is being challenged in his 4th Councilmanic District by John Tuttle, lists Pomona problem priorities as upgrading and protecting neighborhoods, expanding the city's employment base, reducing crime, and lessening tensions in Pomona's minority neighborhoods.

CHARLES W. BADER

"Many of our problems are related directly to unemployment. As a goal I think we should try to bring 5,000 new jobs to Pomona by attracting industrial developments," he explained.

To that end, Bader said he is willing to end Pomona's long-standing preoccupation with the downtown area, and begin emphasizing redevelopment in Pomona's industrial zones.

"It's time for the council to provide new direction in community development. We can't solve Pomona's problems by continually isolating one area and directing all of our attention there," he said.

"Downtown Pomona reflects a declining local economy. The only solution is to provide jobs and spendable income. Cosmetic approaches aren't going to rescue the Mall. Only people spending money will do that," he continued.

Bader, 34, feels that another high priority for Pomona, in addition economic growth, is achieving a greater balance of minority officers in the Pomona Police Department.

A Realtor, Bader describes himself as politically moderate and pragmatic.

During the last year, Bader has served as chairman of the Valley Association of Cities, a 10-city association organized to deal with abandoned housing on a regional basis.

Challenger Tuttle: action needed

"I have the will and energy to get things done. What Pomona needs is action," says John Tuttle, candidate for Pomona City Council.

At 67, Tuttle is hoping to start a second career with the city in challenging incumbent Charles Bader in the city's 4th Councilmanic District.

Tuttle retired Jan. 31 as Pomona's superintendent of streets, a position he held for 21 years.

"We can't keep waiting for the picture to change. We have to have action to solve Pomona's problems, to bring in new industry and commercial activity.

"I don't have all the answers, but I can go out and talk to people in the community, and talk to leaders in other communities and find out how they have solved problems. But we have to start now, not wait," he said.

Tuttle came to Pomona in 1954, after retiring with the rank of major from the Army Corps of Engineers in 1950. In the years immediately prior to coming to Pomona, he was employed by a private engineering firm building radar installations in Alaska and military facilities in Saudi Arabia.

Politically, Tuttle describes himself as "conservative as long as it doesn't stand in the way of improvement."

He would not be against offering potential industrial developers tax advantages to encourage their coming to Pomona, said Tuttle.

"We have to do more to bring jobs to Pomona. Unemployment is a critical problem," he said.

"I've worked with problems for 21 years. I have a background of knowledge about the causes and remedies. My promises are that I will work hard, and have the ability and time to spend on solving problems."

Father of seven grown children, Tuttle is a member of the Pomona Elks Lodge, the Charles P. Rowe Post 30 of the American Legion in Pomona, and the Street Superintendent and Maintenance Association.

P-B endorses for MSAC board

At a recent forum for candidates to the board of trustees of the Mt. San Antonio College District Travis L. Manning commented that the small audience which turned out for the occasion reflected the confidence of the people in the way the college was being run; people simply weren't very excited about making any changes despite their choice of 19 candidates running for the three posts.

We agree. Over the years the trustees have done a commendable job. While other school districts keep coming back to the voters for more money, the college has not found it necessary to raise taxes for more than a decade. It has no bonded indebtedness for the many buildings that have been added to the campus in recent years. And its educational program is second to none.

We feel that William Temple and Richard Todd not only deserve another term, but that the district will strongly benefit from their continued service. Therefore, the Progress-Bulletin recommends the re-election of those two incumbents.

Both Temple and Todd have approved Manning as the man they'd prefer on the board with them. Manning already has had considerable experience as a former trustee of a unified school district. He is a responsible businessman who grew up in East Los Angeles County and knows the district. His background and experience certainly make him the most qualified new candidate.

We urge voters to elect Temple, Todd and Manning to the MSAC board of trustees next Tuesday.

Mrs. Thatcher leads, who's to follow?

The Founding Fathers decided nearly 200 years ago that they wanted no part of the British form of government, in which all power belongs to Parliament. They opted instead for a system of legislative, executive and judicial checks and balances.

Ever since then, especially in times of governmental crisis like Watergate, Americans have wondered if they did the right thing.

The British system has never been more attractive than it is at present in the person of Margaret Thatcher, newly elevated to the leadership of her party, the Conservatives. As every news account pointed out, Mrs. Thatcher may well become Britain's first woman prime minister should the Conservatives defeat the Labour party in the next general election, which could be called at any time between now and the next five years.

This is because, of course, the British do not elect a prime minister separately, as we elect a President. They vote for members of Parliament and the party winning the majority of seats selects the prime minister.

Not only does the party out of power have a "shadow cabinet" of officials ready to take over but a shadow prime minister as well — the party's leader, who is also a member of Parliament.

Thus there is little of the uncertainty that attends our politics and our elections, none of the hoopla of quadrennial nominating conventions and seldom the phenomenon of the "dark horse" who suddenly emerges when a party cannot agree on a standard bearer.

In most cases, the British voter knows long in advance who the next prime minister will be should the ruling party be unseated and what his — or her — program will be. Little wonder that they can limit their election campaigns to a short six weeks.

As noted, Britons may have up to five years to get used to the idea of a woman prime minister. It can't help but start Americans thinking seriously about the same thing.

Madame President. Rather a nice ring to it, what?

Love's sweet buzz

Scientists with the Agricultural Research Institute of Tunisia have discovered that the mating call of the local fruitfly has exactly the same frequency as the lower F sharp on the Hohner Melodica Piano 26 harmonica.

As determined by using an oscilloscope, the frequency is 369.99 Hz, give or take 2.2 Hz.

The researchers are now buzzing among themselves to figure out some way to use this knowledge to control the pests.

Ireland shall one day be free

The Feb. 17 edition of the Progress-Bulletin carried a very interesting letter from Randolph Weltner of Claremont regarding the problems of Ireland. It is comforting to know that someone is interested in those people living in serfdom and in fear of their lives. Even with all the press coverage most people outside of Ireland are apathetic.

The simile that was drawn comparing present day Ireland and England to that of California and Mexico was thought provoking but incorrect. A more accurate comparison would be that of present day Ireland and its relationship with England to that of the American Colonies and England. Possibly Mr. Weltner, along with most other Americans knows nothing of the hundreds of Irish patriots who are in English prisons and compounds being held without trial or without being formally charged with any crime. These are not members of the I.R.A. nor are they suspected of bombings or other physical violence. They are writers, poets, students, professors and even musicians who have used their talents to oppose hundreds of years of English abuse.

His letter mentions that the people of Ulster have been located there for over 300 years and how true this is. This area is a part of Ireland inhabited by Irishmen. The Irish were objects for destruction to William of Orange, and Oliver Cromwell tried to destroy the Irish race much as Hitler tried to destroy the Jewish people.

The I.R.A. is not a new group nor has it been consistently militant through these many years. We all abhor such tactics but how do free men fight an existent army with no help from the outside world? England has, through past generations, promised Ireland freedom and unification in return for the help of Irish soldiers and sailors. Each time this promise was broken. Churchill tried the same lie in World War 2 but was unsuccessful in that the Irish Free State demanded completion of these promises before Irish participation. So, Ireland remained neutral.

By the Grace of God, the patience of Job, and human perseverance Ireland shall one day be free and Irishmen the world over shall, regardless of religion, enjoy the kinship and brotherhood that once was Ireland. Slainte. —Robert Pitts, Chino.

CIA trains palace guards

WASHINGTON — It can now be revealed that CIA agents have trained the elite units which guard favored foreign monarchs, premiers and dictators.

This has given the CIA contacts close to the seat of power, according to our sources, in such countries as Ethiopia, Indonesia, Jordan, Laos, Somalia, South Korea, South Vietnam and Thailand.

The CIA has been training palace guards for more than two decades. In the process, the CIA has quietly developed some bodyguards into informants and used others to influence palace policy-making.

Thailand is typical. The crack, 60-man protective force, which guards King Bhumibol Adulyadej and Queen Sirikit, is directed by a trusted CIA trainee. He is Lt. Gen. Vitoon Yasawad, who also led the CIA's Thai irregulars in Laos until the 1973 cease-fire.

"Whoever controls the palace guard in Thailand, controls the crown," one Asia-wise, ex-CIA operative told us. He claimed the CIA has run the palace guard in Bangkok since the 1950s.

Once, high government officials escaped from one of Thailand's periodic coups and sought sanctuary in the basement of a CIA agent, our sources recall.

Fletcher Prouty, a former Air Force officer who had been attached to the CIA, described how the CIA saved former Prime Minister Sirit Thanarat in an even more dashing exploit. The prime minister was recuperating in a Tokyo hospital, Prouty told us, when a coup began to develop back in Bangkok.

The CIA rushed the ailing field marshal home in a U.S. military plane and the CIA-trained bodyguards responded with such a bristling display of efficiency that the coup was averted.

Yasawad's present protective force is armed with Thai-made, German-designed rapid fire rifles and are skilled at handling explosives.

They were trained not far from the big U.S. base at Korat, which became a CIA subcenter during the Vietnam War and is still a major intelligence outpost.

Yasawad has acknowledged only the existence of his special 60-man protective force, which is called SWATS for Special Weapons and Tactics. He has denied any CIA connection with his elite unit.

ENERGY MUDDLE: The leaders in Washington simply don't seem to be able to get together on an energy policy. Yet the nation is in desperate need of a program that will assure enough energy to run our factories, heat our homes and operate our automobiles for the next decade.

In the White House, President Ford has proclaimed there is an energy crisis and has called upon all Americans to sacrifice. Yet Secretary of the Treasury William Simon is saying there is plenty of petroleum just waiting to be pumped from the Alaskan oil fields and offshore oil beds.

On Capitol Hill, Speaker Carl Albert has warned his colleagues privately that the United States must launch an emergency program to develop energy on the scale of the Manhattan Project which developed the atomic bomb. But he has been unable to persuade the various House committees, which have jurisdiction over various phases of the energy problem, to work together for a common solution. The House, meanwhile, took a 10-day holiday and the Senate wants to put off action on the President's energy package for three months.

We have been bombarded with letters from troubled Americans who are willing to sacrifice for their country but don't know what to do. "How serious is the crisis?" pleaded a Riverside, California, housewife. "Isn't there someone in Washington who will tell it like it is?"

People are willing to face the facts; it's the leadership that's lacking.

JAUNDICED JUDGE? Federal regulations lowering the lead content of gasolines recently were overturned by the courts. The judge who wrote the decision, it now develops, was a former counsel to a major supplier of lead concentrates.

The non-candidate's shadow

Try as I will to make the absurd notion go away, the idea persists that the Democrats' 1976 presidential nominee will be the man who told us last fall that he wasn't a candidate.

Conceded, it is cynical as well as absurd. I should know better. Just as I should know that when Lloyd Bentsen assures us that under no circumstances is he interested in his party's vice-presidential nomination, the Texas Senator means every word of it. Why, I can no more imagine Lloyd Bentsen, after that assurance, running for Vice President than I could conceive of, say, a Kennedy-Bentsen Democratic ticket in 1976.

After all, when Ted Kennedy announced his decision not to offer himself as a candidate next year, the man said it was "irrevocable." And the very purpose of that announcement — to remove the Kennedy shadow from the political landscape and thereby liberate other Democrats, like Bentsen, to make their presidential bids — has since borne fruit in abundance.

Yet, the pattern of the Massachusetts Senator's running non-candidacy (or, if you prefer, non-running candidacy), spelled out in this space some months ago, continues to hold steady.

Judging from his hyperthyroid schedule on Capitol Hill and around the country, if Ted Kennedy isn't running for higher office, he'll pass for Hollywood Central Casting's conception of a presidential candidate until a more likely prospect comes along.

Indeed, there had been others coming along, prospects all — but how likely? The liberation of new candidates to blend with the old has proven to be a less exhilarating experience than was anticipated by most Democrats.

The New Faces of 1975 who declared prior to Bentsen (Udall and Carter) have all but faded since their announcements. The legend of the Willkie miracle of 1940 — of the unknown candidate who vaults to a major party nomination over the bodies of better-known contenders — is not easily duplicated in today's politics.

And what of the old candidates (Jackson and, to stretch the definition, Fred Harris)? In terms of general public response, small difference. As Alabama Sen. James Allen commented last week when introducing Gov. George Wallace to a Washington audience, all the news conferences heralding presidential candidacies seem to have elicited so far is a massive ho-hum. The implication was that when Wallace officially enters the lists, the Alabama governor will enliven the proceedings.

A fair observation. Wallace, even operating under a physical disability, may inspire a wide range of popular responses but never indifference. The polls continue to show him as the front-running Democrat among rank-and-file party members who express a preference. And running in next year's Democratic marathon — if he should go that route rather than gear up a third-party race — Wallace may well equal if not exceed his 1972 record, when he was the largest vote-getter in the primary field.

But the likelihood that Wallace, even if he sweeps the primaries, could win nomination at the Democratic convention is more remote than that Lloyd Bentsen would really refuse a vice-presidential spot on his party's ticket if it were offered him.

Thus the Democrats' dilemma: those presidential candidates who inspire a following — Wallace and the erstwhile labor union favorite Jackson — also inspire a sundering reaction in the party's left wing.

What remains then is Kennedy, the putative non-candidate who, despite the superficial "irrevocability" of his withdrawal last year, has kept open the question of his presidential possibilities for some later time.

The more the polls indicate that 1976 will be a Democratic year on both ends of Pennsylvania Avenue, the stronger will be the pull for the heir to his brothers' legacy to strike while the iron is hot.

Kennedy, in brief, has said no, but he has never said never. All the Massachusetts Senator will have missed by his non-candidacy is 18 months of campaign jet lag.

Just in jest

Even though we haven't literally been "biting the bullet" in order to more successfully weather these trying economic times in which we now find ourselves, at least it can't be said that we aren't biting. Over the past five years, the sale of chewing tobacco in the United States has increased by 16 per cent.

But never let it be said that our government officials are leaving the economic problems entirely up to the hard chewing taxpayers. No, no, a thousand times no! When it comes to economizing our public servants are right in there assuming their fair share of the sacrifices which are today so necessary if we are to achieve a speedy financial recovery. In fact, in Trenton, N.J. the state treasurer has announced he plans to economize by eliminating eraser purchases for all government offices. Proof, once again, that politicians can do no wrong.

Texans dogged by tarnished image

Texas has a global image. People overseas believe that everyone in Texas is rich, owning a ranch or oil well and having tons of money to throw around. People in North America consider Texans to be braggy, noisy and dangerous. Everything from Texas has to be big or the best. This image has proved counter-productive to Texans. There is a powerful onslaught of anti-Texas humor and put-down that won't go away.

Neighbors on the Texas frontier have developed a fight-back attitude: Oklahoma football teams rise to near fury when Texas elevens appear on the schedule. Louisiana spawns a Texas A and M joke at least once a week. New Mexico fights back with pointed bumper stickers, such as:

IF God had wanted Texans to ski
He would have given them a mountain!

Too often the humor has turned to hate, particularly in the Eastern United States. More than one person has said to this writer that they would never visit Texas after what happened to President John F. Kennedy in Dallas. This is nothing more or less than prejudice since the same people hardly recall the city where Martin Luther King Jr. or Bobby Kennedy was gunned down. Yet the hate-envy-disgust attitude toward Texas is harbored by many people in North America and around the world. And old grudges and prejudices are hard to replace. That is why we need to welcome the new image of Texas: in human relations, in religious affairs and in publishing.

One of the more vivid experiences in adult political education came last year during the impeachment hearings in Congress. And one of the more articulate speakers was Texas Congresswoman Barbara Jordan of Houston. She helped the American audience to understand some fine points of constitutional law and revealed some new visions of Texas that have nothing to do with cowboy boots, snorting Cadillacs or you-all big boasting fantasies.

Nearly one third of the 10 million people in Texas are either black or Mexican-American. The great majority within this state do not live on ranches or next to oil wells but in urban areas and share the metropolitan problems of the rest of the world. Yet there is a healthy, hopeful dynamic aura about Texas that needs recognition and fair appreciation.

During the past year this writer has been to church meetings, services, dinners and conferences throughout Texas. One comes away with the abiding impression of sincere religious vitality, innovation and future planning that is exhilarating. In preaching one could be well satisfied to spend the rest of a listening life in the churches of San Antonio. For here pastors like Buckner Fanning and Jimmy Allen of Southern Baptist congregations and Louis H. Zbinden Jr. at the First Presbyterian Church attract large and growing audiences.

Out of Texas comes the writing and speaking of Keith Miller, Episcopal layman, whose thought and action is reaching so many who believed that there was no real place for them in today's church and were thrilled to find a friend and guide. Also out of Texas is the rising young evangelist Richard Hogue of Houston, whom many now consider to be on the threshold of national leadership. Not yet 30, Rev. Hogue has a deep grasp of the problems of youth and a keen sensitivity to the aspirations of minority groups.

We have all grown up with Texas salesmanship and now Texas put-downs. Perhaps part of our maturity as non-Texans is to catch the new image that is vital for thinking and caring people everywhere.

Even with court help, child support pay hard to collect

My ex-husband was to appear in the Pomona court 2½ months ago on charges of failing to pay child support.

He failed to appear and a warrant was issued for his arrest on the same day.

Later learned from him that he was never notified or subpoenaed and was unaware that he was to appear in court on this date.

Subsequently papers were sent to the Fresno County's Sheriff's Department for him to be picked up. He has never been picked up.

He has made some child support payments to the court trustee's office in Los Angeles since the date he was supposed to have appeared in the Pomona court. I have never received them.

I have made numerous phone calls and cannot get any real satisfaction from any of the parties involved.

There are four school age children involved. I work at a full time job and have had to take an additional part time job.

This has created financial and other hardships on my children ard myself. —S.R. Pomona.

When we talked with you after receiving your letter, you said that your ex-husband had only told you he had receipts for payments made to the court trustee for your children. You hadn't seen them.

You told us you had suggested to your ex-husband that he turn himself in as there was a warrant out for his arrest.

We wrote to Los Angeles County's court trustee section.

More than two months later we were sent a certified report of your ex-husband's payment to you. We sent you a copy.

You said that your husband had since produced receipts of other payments but they were phony.

As far as we both know, he has never been arrested. We agreed that cases like yours are so numerous that chances of getting the support you need are slim.

We will express our thoughts on the subject to state administrators and legislators.

When my son was discharged from the Army in February 1972, officials said he owed $154.36 because of excessive jump pay, etc., he had received.

We sent the money in by cashier's check. It was hand endorsed the following month.

Much later he was told he still owed the above amount so I sent in a photocopy of the check.

Then the Army said I had been sent one $100 allotment too many. I sent in my personal check for the amount.

A few months later I again received a letter about the $100 I supposedly owed. I sent in a photocopy of the check.

During all these months my son was told the Army would pay dental bills for a certain number of months after his discharge.

He went to the Veterans Administration office and filled out the necessary forms.

He received forms in the mail to take to his dentist to fill out and send in.

Later the dentist's office received a reply that the Army could find no record that my son had ever applied for his dental benefits.

He said the hell with it all and gave up.

To top it off we received another letter from the Army saying some retroactive pay is being held up because my son still owes $100. —Mrs. R. M., Upland.

We were only partially successful in solving your son's problems.

Maj. R. W. Behrens, chief of the Army's claims division, told you to disregard any correspondence received concerning the debt of $154.36. This amount has been properly credited and his account closed.

We sent his office a copy of your check for $100 but it was rather light. He wants a legible copy of both sides.

He said your son should forward all information regarding his dental claim to the Chief, Field Services Office, USAFAC, Indianapolis, Ind.

Our efforts in your behalf involved two letters from us and three from various branches of the service. We are sharpening our tape cutting scissors.

ANN LANDERS

Some guys have oatmeal for brains and this chap must be one of them

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a middle-aged man who never thought I'd end up writing to Ann Landers, but I've got a problem I can't talk about with anyone. Please give me some advice.

For about two years now my wife has been making up excuses as to why we can't have sex. She has gone through every ailment from migraine headaches to a disc problem which I never heard of until last March. A few weeks ago I told her a man can't go through life with no sex and she'd better shape up or our marriage was headed for the rocks. Her reply was, "If I were you I'd get something going on the outside and keep it under my hat."

I thought that was a pretty strange thing to say — until last Friday when I came home unusually early from bowling. (Our team was disqualified.) I discovered that she was doing exactly what she suggested I do. Her partner happened to be the guy who lives next door.

My wife doesn't want a divorce. She says she likes me much better than him — as a person, that is — but in bed, he is the greatest. What she wants is for me to support her and we should live like a brother and sister. She says in exchange for "support" she will keep house, cook, clean, do the laundry and go out with me. But the sex is reserved for the neighbor. (By the way, he is not married.)

I think it's a lousy idea. What do you think? — Mr. Checkbook

Dear Mr. C.B.: I think if you buy the brother-sister act you have oatmeal where your brains belong.

Dear Ann: I'd like to comment on that "Owl from Minnesota" who was patting himself on the back for being a "nocturnal." He folded at 4 p.m. and had to be at work at five in the morning. His peak efficiency was between midnight and 9 a.m. He said, "Someone has to take care of the world during those odd hours."

Your comment was, "You sound great. Bless you, Dad." Well, Ann, we have such a person in our family. My daughter is married to him. Fortunately, she's a sweet person, and doesn't nag. However, she has dropped subtle hints that she and the children have almost no companionship from husband and father.

He comes home from work in the afternoon, has a drink (which she prepares), reads the paper until dinner, then dozes off in front of the TV. His wife has to wake him up so he can undress and go to bed. At 4 a.m. he's up whistling and singing while the family is still asleep.

I can't bless him for the kind of life he is making for my daughter and grandchildren. I think his "nocturnalism" is a habit that could be easily changed if he weren't so completely selfish. — Concerned Grandmother

Dear Granny: M.Y.O.B., Dear. This isn't your problem. Most people set themselves up for the kind of life they want — whether they realize it or not. So keep your lip zipped and let your daughter manage her own marriage.

CONFIDENTIAL to What Really Happened?: It's hard to tell, but remember that sometimes an "expert" is the person called in at the last minute to take the blame.

A no-nonsense approach to how to deal with life's most difficult and most rewarding arrangement, Ann Landers's booklet, "Marriage — What to Expect," will prepare you for better or for worse. Send your request to Ann Landers, P.O. Box 1400, Elgin, Ill. 60120, enclosing 50 cents in coin and a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope.

ERMA BOMBECK

Another childhood myth shattered

I read Future Shock years ago, but it still didn't prepare me for the horrors of the '70s.

In the last five years alone, it has revealed that: (a) there is more nutrition in the plastic whistle in my cereal box than in the cereal; (b) I will not be arrested by the FBI if I tear the tags off my pillows; (c) 24-hour girdles can't tell time; (d) if Catholics still abstained from meat on Fridays they could eat a hot dog and still be in grace.

Now, another childhood myth has been shattered. The other night on the news it was announced that British scientists have conducted tests which proved that brushing after every meal didn't produce any less cavities than not brushing.

I've never been sure in my own mind that "Brushing after every meal" really caught on in this country. You just pretended you did . . . like people pretend to know all the words to the Star Spangled Banner or who Dow Jones is.

I used to feel so guilty lying to my dentist. It was always his first question after he had hooked a hanger over my lower teeth to absorb my saliva, jammed an X-ray between my teeth and wedged his two hands in my jaws. "You are brushing after every meal, aren't you?" he asked.

Trying to register shock in my eyes and indignation in my body, I writhed and grunted, "Ahhhh."

Later, when I only had a pound and a half of cotton and a cup of water in my mouth he would ask again. "You're sure you're brushing REGULARLY after every meal?"

This time I would cross my eyes, wiggle my tongue and when I was sure I had his attention groan (with feeling) "Ahhhhh."

Actually, the only time I carried a toothbrush was when I knew I was going to the dentist and didn't want him to suspect that I used my teeth to chew food.

I only knew of one kid in school who used to brush after every meal. She was a neat girl who wore braces. Before she brushed, we'd ask, "What's the menu today?" and she'd smile. It saved us a trip to the cafeteria.

I don't know what other revelations the '70s will hold for us. I wouldn't be surprised if someone invented a decaffeinated coffee . . . discovered lettuce was fattening . . . or revealed aspirin didn't race to our bloodstream, it dawdled on the scenic route.

I only know this latest bomb is going to be rough on dentists. After they fill our mouths up, what are they going to talk about?

THE DOCTOR COMMENTS

What causes extra heart beat?

By LAWRENCE E. LAMB, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — A year ago I started to have extra systoles quite often which worried me very much. My doctor put me in the hospital for tests: X rays, cardiograms and exercise tests. He called in a heart specialist who said my trouble was nervous tension.

My doctor passed away and upon receiving my records I read: Mitral insufficiency, valvular disease, grade two systolic murmur, myocardial irritability with multiple extra systoles.

Now when I have an extra beat I am so afraid I will drop dead. Please explain the above.

DEAR READER — Despite all those ominous sounding terms it is obvious that the heart specialist did not think you had anything seriously wrong with your heart.

I might point out that the reaction you have had to reading your medical records is exactly why many doctors are reluctant to tell some patients what they have. Doctors are used to those big words and know how little they mean, but sometimes the patient overreacts to them.

Let's start from the beginning. You had, and apparently still have, extra systoles, sometimes called premature contractions, skipped beats and a variety of other things. These often occur in otherwise healthy individuals. In the Air Force I saw many healthy young pilots with these who were totally unaware that they ever occurred. Even when they are not associated with heart disease they can be annoying in some people. In general the more concerned the person is, the more likely he or she is to notice these flip flops, and they can make the person very uncomfortable.

It is wise to be certain that the extra beats are not associated with disease. When they are not, then it is better to reassure the person and advise him to avoid coffee and cigarettes. If the irregularities continue and cause the patient to be too uncomfortable, then it is sometimes advisable to give medicines to control them. Many of these medicines are powerful and doctors prefer not to use them if the problem is not really all that important.

The term myocardial irritability of the heart merely refers to the occurrence of those extra beats that originate in the heart muscle (myocardium).

The systolic murmur means a sound during heart contraction (systole) that shouldn't be there. These can occur without heart disease. The grade two means it is very faint which suggests it might not be important. Your family doctor probably called it mitral insufficiency because a minor leakage of the mitral valve is one cause of such a sound. If the leak in the valve is greater the murmur is usually louder. Grade two is about as faint a murmur as you can have and expect anyone except a well-trained heart specialist to hear it.

Apparently the heart specialist who saw you was unimpressed with the murmur and probably thought it was of little consequence.

So I think you should have a checkup once a year to evaluate the status of the alleged murmur, but I don't think you have anything major to worry about, and you are not going to drop dead from those problems. Stay off the coffee and cigarettes and try to develop or maintain a regular exercise program.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019. For a copy of Dr. Lamb's booklet on cholesterol, send 50 cents and a long self-addressed stamped envelope to the same address and ask for the "Cholesterol" booklet.

No night for a knight on shaggy dog

A literary minded client says he has come up with what he seriously believes to be the first of all the shaggy dog stories. Considerably edited, it goes: In the days of the knights, a midget told his king that he, too, wanted to be a knight. Too small, said the king. But the determined midget went about the kingdom, catching highwaymen and rescuing maidens, until the news got back to the king. All right, said the king, I dub thee knight. Special miniature armor was hammered out for him. A galley knife was honed into a sword. But no horse little enough was found. So the king substituted a large shaggy dog. And the midget went forth again to do good. A terrible rainstrom came up. He rode to a nearby inn. But the innkeeper said there was no more room. The midget pointed out how little space he'd take up. The innkeeper looked him over, and his mount, too, both soaked to the skin, and finally said, "Come on in. We'll find a spot for you. I couldn't send a knight out on a dog like this."

What's your age? Don't tell me. Just multiply it by 3. Add 1. Multiply that by 3. Add your age again. Knock off the last digit. What do you get? Your age. But then you knew that.

YOUNG FELLOW, if you're 19, the statistical odds are you've already met the girl you're going to marry, even though the probabilities indicate you've not yet proposed. Bear in mind, our Love and War man points out this does not mean you're now certain which of your feminine acquaintances you'll eventually marry. It's also a statistical fact that most of the married were not the first choices of their matrimonial mates.

S.D. denies extension to remodel building

Owners of an unsafe building at 101 E. Foothill Blvd. in San Dimas won't get a 90-day extension to fix the structure.

Dan Curran, representing owners of the property, appealed to the City Council Monday for the extension to remodel the two-story structure into a one-story home and make it liveable. He called it "not architecturally cosmetic" but "architecturally sound."

The council denied the request and voiced annoyance with Curran's concern with liability for any person who might be injured at the abandoned house.

"I am not so concerned with who is faced with the liability if someone is hurt, so rather that the money goes on our part to take action," said Councilman Max Hall.

Curran was given 30 days to submit a rehabilitation plan to the city and 20 days to demolish the house if it was not repaired.

Curran claimed that approximately $11,000 had been spent in abating the nuisance and clearing the grounds, but gave no specifics when questioned by Mayor Jim Lough. He also charged that Building and Safety Supt. Richard Romer had inordinately delayed the attempt to abate and improve the San Dimas Water Company's request to remove the structure.

Lough asked if owners had spent this $11,000 since the Feb. 10 meeting. Curran hesitated, then replied no.

Councilman Keith Brogan declared, "This council has showed extreme patience with this matter. This case has been pending for nearly two years. We have bent over backwards to accommodate you and give you due process. It seems this file is always before me—101 E. Foothill."

Brogan moved for the city to continue on its present course and demolish the structure.

Councilman James McLean abstained from the vote because he was not present at the Feb. 10 meeting.

Young dog bite victim facing shots

Six-year-old Doug Weldon of 256 N. Calle Becerra, Walnut, will have to undergo a series of inoculations to combat rabies if the dog that bit him last Friday isn't found soon.

Doug's father, Dave Weldon, said the child had returned home from school and gone out to play with a friend near Flemington and Hilltona avenues in West Covina when he was bitten about the head by a large' well-grommed dog.

Weldon said the children described the dog as larger than an average collie and of mixed breed with black, grey, brown and white hair.

Weldon said he had notified animal control authorities in Los Angeles County and in West Covina.

Anyone knowing the whereabouts of the animal may reach Weldon at 714 595-5955.

Security tight at hearing for motorcyclists

Four reputed members of a motorcycle gang, charged in the slayings of two men Feb. 5, agreed Tuesday to a continuance of their preliminary hearing in Pomona Municipal Court.

The continuance to April 2, granted by Judge Thomas Nuss, was to allow the four attorneys representing the suspects to work the four-or five-day hearingsicto their respective schedules. Such agreement is required of defendants if their hearings are held more than 10 days past the arraingment. All the attorneys told Nuss that they could handle the lengthy hearing at that time.

The hearing was held under heavy security with Los Angeles County deputy marshals searching persons who wanted inside the courtroom. The suspects remained handcuffed during the session.

The four defendants are Donald Kelso, 25, of Ontario; Gregory White, 20, of Rowland Heights; Charles Evans, 34, of Lawndale; and David Dupres, 19, of Torrance.

Evans is a deaf mute and a court-appointed interpreter was required to translate the proceedings in sign language for him.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Richard L. Jenkins opposed the continuance "because of the seriousness of the offenses" but did not protest when Nuss agreed to the April date.

The judge did deny a defense motion to reduce bail from $100,000 to $25,000 bail in Kelso's case. All four remained in custody in lieu of $100,000 bail each.

The victims were Adelbert Hempy, 34, of Ontario, who was shot to deat at a motorcycle shop at 20900 Currier Road in Industry; Michael O'Hara, 30, of Pomona, who was taken from the shop, shot to death and dumped from a car in Chino; and Antaleon Sanchez, of Walnut, who was wounded in the knee at the shop.

The four suspects were arrested later that day by sheriff's deputies and highway patrolmen.

Jenkins said that the shootings apparently were in retaliation for a stabbing three weeks before in Ontario. Kelso, White, Evans and Dupres have been identified as members of the Vagos Motorcycle Club, a group reportedly at odds with the Warlords, another motorcycle club.

Dent to get trade post

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Ford plans to nominate Commerce Secretary Frederick B. Dent as the nation's top foreign trade negotiator, White House sources said today.

The announcement came after Ford decided not to nominate Assistant Secretary of State Laurence H. Silberman as trade ambassador. But White House sources denied Tuesday the decision was part of a deal for Senate support of Ford's oil import tax.

The White House sources said Ford backed down on Silberman because he did not want an unpopular figure dickering with the Senate over delicate trade deals.

Half fares urged for elderly, handicapped

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Department of Transportation today proposed half-fare bus and subway rides for elderly and handicapped passengers on many of the nation's public transit systems.

Proposals to make public transportation more accessible and safer for a potential of more than 14 million such passengers were published in the Federal Register, the government's official record of business.

They include easier-to-reach fare boxes, a sharply reduced level in the first step onto a bus, special accommodations for wheelchair users and easier to read destination and route signs.

Some of the equipment that would be required is not available commercially, said Frank Herringer, the agency's urban mass transportation administrator.

Public hearings on the proposal are scheduled for Los Angeles, April 7; Denver, Colo., April 9; Chicago and St. Petersburg, Fla., April 15; Boston April 17, and Washington, D.C., April 22.

L.A. to San Diego commuter

County OKs new railroad

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The San Diego, Orange and Los Angeles County Railroad is now a reality, at least on paper.

Los Angeles County formally agreed Tuesday to join the other two in operation of a commuter train between Los Angeles and San Diego.

This is in addition to the "L.A. County Railroad," planned by that one county alone over the same route, thus putting Los Angeles County in the position of establishing two railroads.

Plans call for both services to be operating this summer.

The County Board Tuesday approved a joint powers agreement setting up the County Transportation Service Organization. San Diego County supervisors approved it Jan. 7 and Orange County endorsed it Jan. 24.

Still to be determined is the schedule the three-county train will operate on. Los Angeles officials want it to bring commuters here in time for office hours, and leave at the end of the day.

Supervisor Baxter Ward, the chief proponent of the rail services, noted that the three-county railroad will cost the county much less than its own line, which is investing $1 million in used railroad cars.

One third of the three-county railroad's expenses will be borne by Amtrak, the national rail passenger service. The remaining expense will be split by the three counties, amounting to about $67,000 a year for each county, Amtrak estimated.

All three rail services—Amtrak, tri-county and Los Angeles—will run over the same 128-mile track between San Diego and Los Angeles.

The Amtrak service is geared to hooking up with trains to and from San Francisco, and so does not meet commuter traffic needs.

24,672 ideas on Public Transportation so far.

Statistics are often misleading.

Atlantic Richfield Company's Public Transportation campaign, however, they are very revealing.

Statistic #1: 19% of the ideas deal with some sort of fixed-rail system, such as monorails. This is the largest idea-getter so far. 15% have to do with systems management. 8% deal with ways to finance Public Transportation systems.

Statistic #2: 7,800, or 32% of the ideas come from California. Pennsylvania is next with 10%. But we heard from people in all 50 states, including 4 ideas from Alaska whose Public Transportation problems have more to do with the weather than anything else. We also heard from 20 foreign countries.

Statistic #3: We've received over 100 classroom projects. This involves about 3,366 school children. Very encouraging! They will bear the brunt of whatever transporation decisions are made in the next few years.

Statistic #4: We are missing one idea: yours. So, where's your idea on Public Transportation?

Please note that all ideas submitted become public property without compensation and any restriction on use or disclosure. This allows the ideas to be used freely to promote the concept of Public Transportation. Again, our thinking is that since the subject is Public Transportation the ideas should belong to the public.

Garey shakes off Bolsa Grande

Vikings rally in fourth period

By KEVIN CLOE
P-B Staff Writer

Garey High's basketball fans did a lot of sweating Tuesday night.

For three quarters, they watched visiting Bolsa Grande handle their No. 1 ranked Vikings in the opening round of the CIF 3-A playoffs.

It looked like the San Antonio League champions were going to have their hands full right down to the wire.

But the playoffs' top-seeded Vikings rallied in the fourth period to eliminate a very well-drilled Bolsa club, 71-64.

Now Garey will prepare for its second-round tussle with Ivy League runnerup Ramona, a 61-45 victor over favored and 11th-ranked Victor Valley. The game is scheduled for Friday night at Riverside City College.

The Vikings trailed by as much as 12 points in the second quarter, 36-24, and didn't take a lead until four and a half minutes remained in the third period, 44-43.

The SAL champs, after holding a 52-51 advantage going into the final eight minutes of play, reeled off 12 of the first 14 points of the fourth quarter and ran to a 64-53 advantage with 3:25 left in the contest.

From then on it was just a matter of holding on to the lead.

The Vikings' star of the night was center David Larry, who not only did his usually intimidating job on defense, but also added some offensive punch to the lackluster Garey lineup.

"David played a good game," praised Viking head coach Mike Wells, "but he was about the only one that did. It had to be one of our worst games, although I don't want to take anything away from Bolsa. They played a very good game and really played their tails off out there."

Bolsa looked like anything but a team which had only boasted a 13-10 seasonal record. The Matadors took the upper hand early in the game and maintained control throughout the first three periods.

Bolsa center Jim Sargent, who was the third-leading scorer in the Orange County with a 24.2 average, carried his team through the first half. The 6-foot-2 star, who finished the game with 26 points and nine rebounds, poured in 11 points in the first eight minutes and finished the first half with 16 markers. He hit seven of his eight field goal attempts in the 16 minutes, using some very good moves to maneuver inside for layups (sometimes reverse) and short jumpers.

Garey forward Gary Carpenter was assigned to guard Sargent in the first half, but the 6-foot-4 junior got in foul trouble and Wells was forced to make a change of assignments in his man-to-man defense at halftime.

So guard Sonny Baldez took over and checked the Bolsa sharpshooter to just two points in the third period before giving up eight in the final quarter. Sargent ended the night hitting 12 of his 18 attempts from the floor.

It was Larry, however, who kept the Vikings in the game.

The 6-foot-6 jumping jack scored 11 of his 15 points in the second half, with seven of those coming in the pivotal fourth period. Along with his point total, David added 10 rebounds, a handful of assists and several blocked shots.

Forward Delbert McDonald did his usually impressive job under the boards, grabbing 11 rebounds and scoring 22 points (11 for 18).

Guard Bill Evans occasionally got an opportunity to shoot from the outside and finished up with 12 points (5 of 15 from the floor). Carpenter ended the night with 10 points and seven boards.

Evans was especially shocked by the outcome. When the Vikings captain entered the locker room after the game, he shook his head in amazement and said, "Man, that team was really underrated."

Garey, which went through SAL competition unbeaten at 14-0, shot 48.5 per cent from the floor (33 of 68) and hit five of its seven free throws. Bolsa connected on 47.4 per cent of its shots from the field (27 of 57) after hitting at a 62.5 per cent clip in the first half, and dumped in 11 of its 21 charity tosses.

Garey, towering over the little Matadors, outrebounded the visitors from Garden Grove, 38-26.

The Vikings, who had scored over 100 points per game in their last three outings, are now 26-1 for the year.

Giants edge Arroyo, 69-68

Ganesha gamble wins

By GRAHAM CROW
P-B Correspondent

All season long, Ganesha High has played a gambling brand of basketball.

Tuesday night the Giants found themselves trailing a surprisingly tough Arroyo team by one point with 52 seconds left.

So it was one final roll of the dice, and luckily for Giant fans, it came up number 11—Donald Barnes.

Barnes pulled Ganesha through Round One of the CIF 3-A playoffs with a 15-foot baseline jumper that gave Gary Fulkerson's crew a 69-68 decision at Mount San Antonio Gymnasium.

After Barnes' shot swished through the net, the Giants still had to protect their slim lead and that's when center Paul Whitmore stepped in.

Arroyo called time out with 31 seconds remaining to set up a final play and everyone in the stands knew it would go to either Kelly Johnson or Ron Martin.

Johnson was the leading scorer for the Knights with 27 in the game while Martin added 18 with his long range jumpers. Fulkerson guessed Martin and had Barnes on him.

But the sharpshooting Arroyo forward couldn't get free and the pass had to finally come to Johnson with 10 seconds remaining.

Trying to drive, Johnson ran up against Whitmore who was having "Defense, Defense" shouted in his ears by the rabid Giant fans.

Whitmore took a typical Ganesha gamble, reached in and knocked the ball away from Johnson. After a brief scramble, the Giant center came away with it and happily dribbled through a human obstacle course as the buzzer sounded.

Barnes, who hit his last four shots and wound up with 23 points, created the victory and Whitmore preserved it. But it was two other Giants who kept the team alive in the first half.

"Dudley (Ralph) and Terry (George) were really something in that first half for us," said a smiling Fulkerson afterwards. "The whole game was simply a typical performance by these kids. They're amazing."

The Giants, trailing 21-16 after one period, went into the locker room with a 36-35 halftime advantage. Only a 69 per cent shooting percentage kept Ganesha in the game, as it was guilty of 12 first half turnovers.

Dudley, directing traffic, scored on three of his five shots in the half and, at a towering 5-6, was his team's surprising rebound leader with five.

Terry, coming off the bench to start the second quarter, hit on three of his four attempts from the floor during the eight minute span.

But when you talk about shooting in the game, you have to discuss Arroyo's free throw performance. It was simply sensational.

The Knights hit on 20 of 23 from the line, including 10 for 10 in the final quarter. In fact, in the final eight minutes, Arroyo didn't miss a shot at all, going six for six from the field.

Foul shooting almost won the game for Arroyo as the Knights had a four point lead on four occasions. The final one came at 66-62 with 2:30 to play.

At that point, Barnes hit one foul shot and Terry a 12-foot follow shot to pull Ganesha within one. With 1:30 to go, Barnes cashed in on a 15-tooter.

Johnson scored on a lay-up 20 seconds later and then came the heroics of Barnes and Whitmore.

Whitmore was more than sensational on offense as he hit on eight of 12 shots from the field in scoring 18 points. Howard Love led the Giants in rebounding with nine while Johnson was high for the game with 13.

It's now on to Round Two for the Giants with the opponent being San Gabriel champion Lynwood, which defeated Palm Springs 69-60.

The location of the game is undetermined since both the Giants (now 24-5) and Lynwood (19-6) were home teams Tuesday.

But Ganesha hopes history will repeat itself Friday night. After disposing of the Knights of Arroyo in Round One, the Giants would like nothing better than to eliminate the Knights of Lynwood in Round Two.

UCLA picks Micki King women's A.D.

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — After nearly nine years in the U.S. Air Force, Capt. Micki King is leaving the service to become the first director of women's intercollegiate sports at UCLA.

Miss King, 30, a native of Pontiac, Mich., and a 1966 graduate of the University of Michigan, won a gold medal at the Munich Olympics three years ago, capturing the three-meter springboard event.

UCLA vice chancellor Norman Miller Tuesday announced the selection of Miss King from among a list of 110 candidates. The list was reduced to 22 candidates and then to six.

"The Air Force has been very good to me and I've loved every minute of it," said Miss King. "Deciding to leave is an emotional decision for me because of my attachments. One way or another the Air Force will always be part of my life.

"My whole life has been athletics and I've made some contributions. But I feel I have a lot more to give, especially in women's athletics. I'm really looking forward to the challenge at UCLA and I'm excited about having a chance to help sports because sports have done so much to help me."

Miss King, who has been stationed at the Air Force Academy in Colorado, will assume her new post on the Westwood campus in mid-August.

"We are extremely pleased to have found a director for UCLA's women's sports program with the rare combination of qualities Micki King possesses," stated Miller. "Not only is she recognized internationally as a world class athlete and outstanding coach, she has demonstrated exceptional capabilities in the administration of recreation and sports programs."

Miss King joined the Air Force in September, 1966, after graduating from the University of Michigan with a bachelor of science degree in physical education. She has been at the Air Force Academy since February, 1973.

In the 1968 Olympics at Mexico City, she placed fourth in the three-meter springboard event. She was denied a gold medal that year when, while leading the competition with two dives remaining, she accidentally hit the board and suffered a broken arm.

In winning her gold medal four years later in Germany, Miss King scored 450.02 points to 434.19 for Sweden's Ulrika Knape.

During an 18-year diving career which began when she was 10, Miss King won 10 national AAU titles; three in platform diving, two on the one-meter board and five on the three-meter board.

She retired from competition in 1972 after winning a gold medal at Munich.

At UCLA, more than 175 women are competing in 11 sports with 38 of them on athletic scholarships. About 60 women are expected to be on athletic scholarships this fall.

About $180,000 is budgeted annually for women's sports at the Westwood campus.

Northview surprises Mustangs

Walnut knocked out of CIF action

By CRAIG TRAVIS
P-B Correspondent

Walnut High looked as if it would pull out its bid for a come-from-behind victory Tuesday night in the Mustang gym in the first round of the 2-A CIF basketball playoffs.

Coach Bill Murray's Hacienda League champs and No. 3 ranked CIF (2-A) team cut a nine point deficit to just two points, 59-57, with 1:55 to play when the Mustangs committed basketball's greatest sin . . . the turnover.

Ironically, the turnover, which kept the hosts in the ballgame most of the way, wound up the villian as the Mustang miscue halted their momentum and helped Northview High to a 67-64 win.

Six Viking turnovers had aided the hosts' comeback bid in the final stanza when Ken Czarnecki, standing out of bounds under the Walnut hoop, lobbed the ball to an area normally occupied by Tommy Thompson at the top of the key.

Thompson, who set a CIF record for assists this season (300), had raced to Czarnecki's near corner. The ball bounded at the free throw line where Viking guard Dave Robinson gobbled it up and drove the length of the court for a layin to give the Montview League co-runnersup a four-point lead and thwart Walnut's momentum.

Robinson sank a pair of free throws to hike the advantage to 63-57 before Czarnecki's charity toss and Scott Stowell's hoop brought the tally to 63-60. Robinson went back to the charity stripe twice in the next minute for three more free throws to hike the lead to 66-60 with 37 seconds left. Stowell added a tip-in to make it 66-62 and Northview forward Pete Shpak added a free throw. The final two Mustang points came on Robert Cox's 15-footer at the buzzer.

"It's such a let down after such a good season," said Murray, in the dressing room after the defeat. "We got all kinds of shots, shots we should have made. Plus one guy shoots the eyes out of it. Maybe we should have done something about him," continued the Mustang skipper. "I gambled and I lost."

The Mustangs employed a 3-2 defense that included a half court trap press at the half court line. With the trap geared to force bad passes or traveling violations, the Vikings guards were able to get the ball to the unguarded Bob Courter in the corner.

"It's so discouraging," concluded Murray. "The kids worked so darn hard all season."

The contest was actually decided at the foul line where Northview sank 13-of-22, 8-of-12 in the final quarter. Walnut made eight-of-17 charities. Each team connected on 27 field goals but the Vikings wound up 50.9 per cent from the field, making 27 of 53.

Northview started like a house afire hitting on 10-of-15 first quarter attempts including five-of-seven by Courter. Despite the torried shooting, the Vikings led by just a bucket, 20-18, as Walnut countered with 8-of-16 from the floor.

Neither team shot well in the second period (Northview, 5-17) Walnut, (4-15) with the visitors taking a 32-39 lead into the locker room at intermission.

The third stanza was close, as each club made 6-of-14 but Northview extended the margin to 47-41 as center Bill Warren, who sat out most of the first half after picking up his third personal with 5:03 to play in the first quarter, went to work.

The 6-3 senior tallied eight of his team's 12 points in the quarter.

The teams traded hoops in the fourth period until the 4:44 mark when Walnut rattled off seven straight points to cut the deficit to 59-57. Forward Cliff Manning, who finished with 15 points and 13 rebounds, accounted for five points during that stretch with sub Scott Stowell getting the other hoop.

In the time remaining, six of Northview's final eight points came from the foul line with Robinson accounting for all seven of his markers during that span.

Courter wound up with 24 points. The 6-0 sophomore sizzled on 13-of-17 attempts, all from 18 feet out. Warren and Shpak each finished with 14 points.

Czarnecki and Manning each wound up with 15 markers while center Jay Wetzel finished with 14. Guard Kelly Sevilla, who averaged 11.5 points per game, had an off night, hitting just one-of-nine for two points. Thompson wound up with 10 assists.

The Mustangs finish the season with a 23-5 overall mark and an undefeated league campaign that saw their league winning streak extended to 28 games.

Northview, 9-5 in Montview League play, entered the contest at the .500 level (11-11). The Vikings play Indio Friday night.

Doktor is USC's hero in win over Cal Poly

By JIM McCONNELL
P-B Correspondent

Claremont's Phil Doktor found the winning prescription for the University of Southern California Tuesday afternoon, as his 11th inning single drove home Mark Carpenter to give the Trojans a hard-fought 2-1 baseball victory over Cal Poly Pomona on the Bronco diamond.

The Broncos battled the defending NCAA University Division champion Trojan squad on even terms through the first 10 frames, but a questionable interference call in the last of the 10th took Poly out of a scoring chance and set up Doktor's game-winning one-bagger.

What shaped up to be a pitching duel between the two squads developed as expected, as Bronco Vic Bernal and a trio of Trojan hurlers kept things close throughout. Jeff Reinke, the third of the USC pitchers, picked up the win with five innings of scoreless relief hurling. Trojan aces George Milke and Pete Redfern had proceeded Reinke to the hill.

Poly touched up Milke for its only run in the third inning. Steve Thompson led off the frame with a single, moved to second as Milke issued Kevin Thornhill a free pass, got to third as Pete Alexander grounded out to Milke, and scored on Dennis Sherow's infield out.

USC got only one run off of Bernal in nine innings, but that tally tied the game at 1-1 in the sixth.

With one away, Steve Kemp blasted a triple to center. Bernal bore down to fan Doktor, but Dennis Littlejohn singled to right to tie the contest.

Nick Lusic came on for Poly in the 10th in relief of Bernal. In his nine innings work the Bronco righthander fanned nine Trojans and limited them to four hits.

Lusic retired USC in order in the top of the 10th, and the Broncos looked ready to end things in the bottom of the inning.

A single by Thompson, a walk to Alexander and an apparent infield single by Sherow had Poly in business with the sacks full and two away. But on Sherow's bouncer to third the umpires ruled pinch-runner Carl Catlin out for interferring with Trojan third sacker Rob Hertel. That took Cal Poly out of the inning and, as things turned out, out of the game.

Kings go after 18th road win

DETROIT (UPI) — The Los Angeles Kings, who five seasons ago set an NHL record by winning only two of 38 games away from home, seek their 18th road win of the season tonight when they face the Detroit Reg Wings.

The Kings, who trail the Montreal Canadiens by four points in Division 3, are at Buffalo Thursday night.

With a 17-5-9 road mark, Los Angeles is one of only five NHL teams with a winning record on foreign ice this season. In their next home contest, the Kings go against Minnesota Saturday night.

Unsers post fastest times at speedway

It looks like the Unser brothers will be tough to beat in this year's California 500.

The brothers posted the top two speeds Tuesday in practice sessions at Ontario Motor Speedway.

Al Unser led the field of 20 drivers with a speed of 189.282 miles per hour in his Viceroy Eagle. Bobby Unser, the defending Cal 500 champion, was second at 188.996 in his Jorgensen Eagle.

Johnny Rutherford, winner of the 1974 Indianapolis 500, was third at 188.747 M.P.H. Gordon Johncock was fourth at 184.589 and Tom Sneva fifth at 184.151.

Other top speeds were turned in by Wally Dallenbach, 183.020; Bill Vukovich, 182.921; Jimmy Caruthers, 182.965; Salt Walther, 179.709; Bobby Allison, 179.462; and Roger McCluskey, 179.126.

There were 20 cars on the track Tuesday but A. J. Foyt wasn't one of them. The only incident was Bill Scott of San Bernardino blowing his engine.

Gary Betterhausen, who was severely injured in an accident in Syracuse, N.Y. last July 2, was expected to begin racing this week. He was given official clearance to compete in the race Tuesday by track physician Dr. James Sullivan.

Practice sessions continue until Saturday's time trials. A pair of 100-mile qualifying races will be run on Sunday to determine the order of the Calitornia 500 lineup.

The Cal 500 will be on March 9.

Lakers greet Blazers tonight

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Losers of 13 of their last 15 and 14 of their last 18, the cellar-dwelling Los Angeles Lakers meet the Portland Trail Blazers tonight in a battle of two NBA Pacific Division also-rans.

The Lakers haven't beaten a top club since defeating Washington Jan. 11 in overtime. Their last four wins have come against three other losing teams—New Orleans (twice), Philadelphia and Atlanta.

Los Angeles has a 21-39 record compared to the Blazers' 25-37 mark. Portland beat Philadelphia 99-77 at home Tuesday night to break a five-game losing streak.

The Lakers are at home against Cleveland Friday night before going on the road for three games.

Indians happy to get Powell

TUCSON, Ariz. (UPI) — The Cleveland Indians, who last year employed six different men at first base with a minimum of success, today have a former American League most valuable player to fill that vacuum — Boog Powell.

Powell, who along with new Indians' manager Frank Robinson once formed one of baseball's most feared 1-2 slugging punches with Baltimore, was acquired from the Orioles Tuesday in a four-player trade that also saw 25-year old lefthander Don Hood go to the Tribe. In exchange, the Tribe sent catcher Dave Duncan and rookie outfielder Alvin McGrew to Baltimore.

"I like the deal," said Robinson. "Hood will be given a chance to start. The trade also gives us a set lineup. With Powell at first base and John Ellis behind the plate, we have solidified two positions."

In addition to Ellis, the Indians' revolving door at first base last year also

Nagler likes Division III idea

NCAA plan has appeal

By BILL LANGLEY
P-B Sports Editor

The valley small colleges might consider competing in a new Division III format set up by the National Collegiate Athletic Association (NCAA) for post-season basketball playoffs.

Pomona-Pitzer coach Les Nagler discussed the new NCAA playoffs at Tuesday's weekly luncheon at The Castaway Restaurant.

Traditional, the local Southern California Intercollegiate Athletic Conference (SCIAC) members — Pomona-Pitzer, La Verne and Claremont-Mudd — compete on the national level in the National Association of Intercollegiate Athletics (NAIA) organization as does independent Azusa Pacific.

Cal Poly, a member of the California Collegiate Athletic Association (CCAA), competes on the NCAA Division II level.

This is the first year of the NCAA Division III playoffs with the national championship scheduled for March 15 at Albright College in Reading, Pa.

Nagler is involved since he is serving on an advisory committee to select the teams for the West Regional.

"There isn't much to pick from this year as there are only 27 colleges on this level west of the Mississippi River," Nagler said. "As of now, a team from Texas and one from Nebraska will probably be selected."

Asked if the NCAA Division III format would interest schools like Pomona-Pitzer in the future, Nagler answered, "Definitely. The NAIA hasn't reacted to making divisions to separate the larger and smaller schools. Some of the NAIA schools have as many as 20,000 students."

"I feel that NCAA Division III may be the way for small schools to go, especially those private schools restricted to no athletic scholarships," Nagler continued. "The NAIA hasn't provided for the needs of the small private colleges. Maybe the NCAA will."

Pomona-Pitzer and Claremont-Mudd belong to both the NCAA and NAIA while La Verne and Azusa Pacific are strictly NAIA members.

Nagler also discussed the controversial final four seconds of the 51-50 loss to La Verne when there was a disagreement at the way the student timer handled the clock after La Verne scored with four seconds left to go in the game.

"I don't want to blame the timing for the loss since we lost the game ourselves but I felt we should have had the opportunity to get one last desperation shot," he said. "I'm going to take the matter to the basketball coaches in our conference first and then to the athletic directors.

"Reading through the conference bylaws, I can find nothing requiring a faculty member being on the clock. I hope something constructive will come out of all this."

La Verne coach Art Bias added, "I think this controversy about the timing has been overplayed since it takes away something from the game itself. The matter was taken to the officials and they were in control of the situation. It was a good game for us and a fine comeback."

Tom Pokorski, Mt. San Antonio College's super sub, was selected the College Player of the Week for his 35 points and 31 rebounds in the Mounties' two games last week. He will receive a plaque donated by the Foothill Beverage Company.

Chaffey High's Brian Jacobs was honored as the High School Player of the Week by the Pomona Elks Lodge 789 for scoring 48 points in the Tigers' two games last week.

Quoting the coaches:

NAGLER: "We played well in the first half in our two games against Redlands. But in the second half, Geoff Northrop had to sit down early with four fouls and we were out of it."

BIAS: "We played one of our better games of the year in defeating Cal State Dominguez Hills. Tim Gillette played very well in our wins over Dominguez and Pomona. He scored 46 points and grabbed 30 rebounds in the two games."

DAVE WELLS, Claremont-Mudd: "This is the first time all year I have had some wins to talk about. We played perhaps one of our best games of the year in beating Redlands. I was pleased with our players in that game."

CLIFF HAMLOW, Azusa Pacific: "We lost two games last week to Cal Baptist and USIU. If we can put a whole game together, we can be pretty tough. Usually, we have come short of that as our 12-15 record indicates."

DON HOGAN, Cal Poly: "We have had a tough schedule to finish the season. We go north to play San Luis Obispo and Bakersfield this week with the championship on the line and there are all kinds of possibilities."

NEIL EDWARDS, Citrus: "We split two games last week and are now 5-9 in Mission Conference play with two games to go. I will be happy next year when we drop down to eight teams. It will help in the scheduling."

GENE VICTOR, MSAC: "Cerritos enjoyed a great week in defeating Santa Ana and us. Cerritos should win the South Coast Conference championship. I feel Cerritos played as well as it can play against us. I'm looking forward to next year with a lot of freshmen coming back."

Owls, Panthers vie in M.C. cage action

Citrus hosts Chaffey College tonight in a Mission Conference basketball game that has nothing but pride riding on it.

The contest is scheduled to begin at 8 p.m. on the Owls court.

At the top of the standings, meanwhile, front running Riverside visits fifth place Saddleback, second place Grossmont hosts third place San Bernardino and Southwestern travels to San Diego.

A combination of a Riverside (12-1) win and a Grossmont (11-3) loss would eliminate the latter from the race. San Bernardino (10-3) could keep its small hopes of a piece of the conference title alive with a victory and a Riverside loss. The Indians have been the only team to beat Riverside, 102-81, and the teams meet once more before the season is over.

Chaffey (3-10) and Citrus (5-9) aren't thinking of a title at this stage in the game. The Owls finished the season next Wednesday at Palomar, they have a bye Saturday, while Chaffey visits Palomar. The Panthers complete the yeear by hosting Southwestern next Wednesday.

Leos face Redlands tonight; could finish 1st, 2nd, or 3rd

First and second place will be decided tonight as the SCIAC basketball season comes to a close.

First place Occidental (9-2) can clinch the title by defeating Pomona-Pitzer (5-6) at Pomona College's Memorial Gym.

If the Sagehens upset the Tigers, the winner of the La Verne-Redlands game at Redlands will tie Oxy for first place. Both the Leopards and Bulldogs have 8-3 records in conference play.

Claremont-Mudd (4-7) hosts Whittier (5-6) at Ducey Gym in the only other game. Caltech (0-12) has already concluded its season.

The Stags can tie for either fifth or possibly fourth place tonight by defeating the Poets. A win over Whittier would give each club a 5-7 record. If Oxy beat Pomona-Pitzer, the Sagehens also will finish at 5-7.

"Redlands is a very fine team," said Pomona-Pitzer coach Les Nagler. "In both our games with them, we played good first halves. But they seem able to make adjustments at the half which caused us all kinds of problems in the second half.

"The Bulldogs are tremendously quick," Nagler continued. "They will try to deny you every pass even if it's in back of them.

"We played tough games at Redlands and La Verne last week. Playing Redlands again Monday made two games in three days which is hard for us because we aren't deep. Oxy will be tough because they have to win to clinch the championship outright. They think our earlier win over them was a fluke and they'll be out to prove it."

La Verne had the night off Monday and could use several more days to recover from injuries. Bill Rockwood and Dan Carroll are still ailing.

Rockwood suffered a knee injury at Cal Lutheran 10 days ago. Carroll twisted an ankle in the Cal St. Dominguez game. Both played against Pomona-Pitzer Saturday and showed the effect of the injuries.

"Rockwood didn't play well Saturday," La Verne coach Art Bias said. "His knee still isn't right. Carroll's ankle is very sore and I don't know how effective they'll be tonight.

"Mentally, our guys are ready," Bias continued. "We're going to play our usual defense and slow them down. We hope to overcome their overplaying us."

Claremont-Mudd has the momentum of a three-game winning streak as it faces Whittier tonight. The Stags have won two from Caltech along with an upset of Redlands.

"We didn't play well against Caltech," coach Dave Wells said, "but we were prepared for Redlands. They were very cold, only 18 for 67, and we outrebounded them. They are very quick and we didn't try any lob or backdoor passes."

Whittier defeated Caltech (108-64) Saturday to snap a six-game losing streak. The Poets lost to Oxy (97-70), Cal Poly (72-47), Cal St. Bakersfield (103-66), Westmont (80-76), Redlands (83-78), and Occidental again (87-82).

Santa Ana hosts MSAC in finale

By MIKE RAWLINSON
P-B Staff Writer

SANTA ANA — Mt. San Antonio College ends the season here tonight in a South Coast Conference basketball game which looked like a key contest until last Saturday night.

Now it's merely a season-ender for the Mounties whose hopes of a conference title went down the drain in a 76-74 loss to Cerritos Saturday night.

Cerritos has at least a co-championship guaranteed. The Falcons would have to lose to Fullerton tonight and Santa Ana would have to beat MSAC for the co-championship to come about. This is what Santa Ana is counting on. It's not out of the question, but it is unlikely.

That's not out of the question, of course, but it isn't too likely.

For the Mounties, win or lose tonight, they will have produced one of the best records in the history of the college.

Going into the game the mounties are 23-4 overall and 6-3 in conference play. Santa Anna is 24-5 and 7-2. Cerritos, with the poorest overall record of the three, is 14-13 and 8-4 where it counts the most.

Only one other team has produced a better won-loss record than coach Gene Victor's 1975 club. The 1965-66 quintet went 26-3.

It can be said that the Mounties lost the South Coast championship by a total of seven points. In the first round, MSAC lost to Santa Ana, 76-73 and to Cerritos, 77-75, and to Cerritos in the second round last Saturday by the two-point spread again.

In the other season-ender tonight in the South Coast, Orange Coast hosts San Diego Mesa in a battle at the bottom of the standings.

All games are scheduled to begin at 7:30 p.m.

Braves move into second round, 48-36

Shooting at a 65 per cent clip in the second half, Alta Loma High opened CIF 2-A basketball playoff competition with a 48-36 victory over host L.A. Lutheran Tuesday night.

The Braves, co-runnersup in the Hacienda League this year, trailed at halftime by two points, 22-20, but moved ahead on a three-point play by guard Roger Gubichuk in the opening minute of the second half and never trailed again.

Lutheran, shooting poorly throughout the contests, couldn't hit its first bucket of the fourth quarter until only 2:54 showed on the clock. By that time, Alta Loma had run off to a commanding 44-30 advantage.

Gubichuk and forward Tom Erbstoesser paced the Braves in the scoring department with 15 points each.

Gubichuk scored 11 of his 13 markers in the second half, while Erbstoesser controlled the boards with 18 rebounds.

Alta Loma, now 18-8 for the season, will face Orange League co-runnerup Brea-Olinda in the second round Friday night. The site of the game has not yet been determined. Brea upset South Coast champion and No. 9 ranked San Clemente Friday, 62-54.

Rowland bumped from the playoffs

By MIKE BROSSART
P-B Correspondent

PLACENTIA — For Rowland High, it is time to think of baseball, track, tennis and swimming.

Rowland's basketball season came to an abrupt end Tuesday night when the Raiders were swamped, 103-72, by the El Dorado High Golden Hawks in the first round of CIF playoffs.

El Dorado, defending CIF 2-A champion and Orange League titlist for four straight years, was led by guard Kevin Heenan's 39 points and forward Blake Withers' 28. Forward Jim Weedon started for the Raiders, scoring 28 points and grabbing 10 rebounds.

"We were beat by a heck of a team," said Rowland coach Don Livingston. "They overpowered us."

Heenan dominated the game throughout the first half, as he began by scoring five of the Hawks' first six field goals to give them a 12-8 lead.

The Raiders tied the score for the fifth and final time at 18-all before the Hawks built a 24-20 lead after the first quarter.

Rowland hit nine of 14 field goals attempts in the first period, but was plagued by eight turnovers, as the Hawks got their talons into one Raider pass after another.

Not satisfied with six field goals in the first quarter, Heenan came back with seven in the second period to amass 26 points by halftime, as the 6-3 guard hit from all over the court.

El Dorado stretched its lead to 48-41 at halftime, as the struggling Raiders continued to turn over the basketball.

The third quarter proved disastrous for Rowland, as the Hawks' lead ballooned to 63-45 with four minutes gone in the period.

The Hawks converted their first seven shots from the floor after halftime, and did not miss for the first four and one-half minutes of the third quarter.

The El Dorado lead continued to grow, and the only point of interest in the fourth quarter was whether the Hawks would surpass 100 points.

That question was answered with 1:02 remaining when El Dorado guard Ernie Morales hit a pair of free throws to give him eight straight points and the Hawks a 101-65 lead.

Besides Weedon's 28-point performance, which included 14 of 17 free throws, the Raiders were led by center Steve Nichols, with 18 points and 11 free throws, and forward Rusty Owens, with 13 points.

The Raiders finished with 29 turnovers while the Hawks committed nine.

'Pack wins soccer opener

With the sidelines crowded with some 300 spectators, the Claremont High soccer team controlled play in its first round CIF playoff match to down Ontario Christian, 1-0, Tuesday on the Sumner Park field in Claremont.

The Wolfpack will face Montebello in the second round of the playoffs Friday at a site to be determined.

The third-ranked Wolves, with 43 shots on goal to the Knights' one, were dominant throughout the 90 minutes of play.

Claremont also made five corner shots to the one made by Ontario.

"I was satisfied with our passing game, but our execution was poor," said Otto Rieger, the Claremont coach. "We had four or five shots that should have been goals, but any time a team puts seven or eight guys on defense, there isn't much we can do."

Claremont's only goal was scored by senior Mark Kaufman in the second half.

Montebello, the 'Pack's next opponent in the post-season tournament, went into overtime before defeating Central League champion Dominguez, 3-0. The Oilers are the No. 2 team from the Pacific League, while Claremont is the four-time champion of the San Antonio League.

In a double overtime contest Tuesday, Chino High defeated Coachella, 2-0, in the first round of the playoffs.

Both goals came in the first extra period with Edwin Marquez and Gerardo Villegas scoring for the Cowboys, who finished second in the San Antonio League with a 9-1-4 record.

Outstanding on defense for Chino were goalie Andy Kochever, who saved nine Coachella shot attempts, and Juan Gonzales, saving three.

Chino will now face the CIF's ninth-ranked Chaffey High Tigers Friday in the second round.

Chaffey, champion of the Inland League and possessing a 19-3 overall record, blanked Riverside Poly Tuesday, 2-0. The site of the second round battle between the two West End clubs should be determined sometime today.

Hegel's homer paces Saints

Four valley high school baseball teams recorded victories in non-league competition Tuesday afternoon.

Chino, San Dimas, Walnut and Royal Oak emerged victorious, while three others came up on the short end of the decisions.

San Dimas leftfielder Andy Hegel slugged a solo home run in the top of the fifth inning to give the Saints a 2-1 victory over host Pomona. Hegel, who went two-for-four in the game, also scored the first run for San Dimas.

After singling in the first inning, Andy stole second and then scored on catcher Jerry Baird's single.

Pomona's only run came in the bottom of the fifth when Joey Chapa reached base on an error, stole second and scored on another San Dimas error.

Walnut exploded for three runs in the bottom of the third inning to topple visiting Wilson of Hacienda Heights, 4-1.

Jim Vallandingham singled in two of the three runs in the inning and finished as the Mustangs' top hitter — going two-for-three with two runs batted in. Jim also was credited with the victory on the mound after going five-plus innings against the Wildcats.

Royal Oak also put together a three-run inning, this time in the fourth, to knock off visiting Glendora, 4-1. Pitcher Bob Cochran went the distance on the mound for the Romans, fanning six batters and walking only two.

Chino had two three-run innings to whip visiting Ontario, 7-2.

The Cowboys jumped right out to a 3-0 lead after the first inning when Rick Riedel singled, Tim Derryberry doubled, Mark Paine singled and Marty Edens singled to account for the trio of runs.

Ontario scored two runs in the third to close the gap to 3-2, but the Cowboys retaliated with one in the fourth and three more in the fifth.

Chaffey High's Joe Bruno went two-for-three at the plate and scored twice, but the Tigers still dropped a 6-4 decision to host Anaheim.

Chaffey took a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Bruno singled, advanced to third on fielder's choices, and scored on a passed ball. But Anaheim scored three runs in the second and three more in the fourth to win it.

Sports news in brief

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — The Philadelphia 76ers of the NBA Tuesday announced the signing of 6-11 center Caldwell Jones, who is in the last two years of a contract with the San Diego Conquistadors of the ABA.

Pat Williams, general manager of the 76ers, said Jones, 24, would join the 76ers in 1977 after his ABA contract expires.

RIDGEFIELD, Conn. (UCI) — Tom Mott, a 17-year-old high schooler playing his first major tournament, upset Milis Dimetrijevic of Yugoslavia, 6-3, 3-6, 75, Tuesday night in the Fairfield County International Tennis Championship.

HONOLULU (UPI) — Fifth ranked heavyweight Jerry Quarry pounded out a unanimous 10-round decision over shuffling George "Scrap Iron" Johnson Tuesday night at the Honolulu International Center.

There were no knockdowns in this third meeting of the pair but Quarry, sometimes boxing, sometimes slugging head-to-head, was never in serious trouble. Johnson, always moving forward, took everything Quarry offered and still kept coming, but was hoplessly outscored.

Chino seems to be favorite

Chaffey baseball tourney begins

Eight valley high school baseball teams will open Chaffey Union High School District Tournament competition Thursday afternoon at four different sites.

Chino High seems to be the favorite in the competition.

CHAFFEY DISTRICT TOURNEY

Upland vs. Pomona at Memorial Park, 3:15 p.m.
Claremont vs. Montclair at Galvin Park, 3:15 p.m.
Alta Loma at Chaffey, 3:15 p.m.

and will open against a team it has already beaten once this year.

The Cowboys will battle Ontario High at 3:15 p.m. at the Jaguars' field. Coach Jim Rawls' club will sport a very strong pitching staff in the persons of Keith Mundee, Stan Surima, Robert Townzin and Mike Coppess.

A strong outfield corps for the Cowboys will probably consist of Tim Derryberry, Rick Riedel and Steve Jackson. Other top returnees include infielders Paul Belmudes and Manny Delgado.

Other first-round competition will see Upland battle Pomona at Upland's Memorial Park, Claremont face Montclair at Ontario's John Galvin Park, and Chaffey host Alta Loma on the Tigers' diamond. All games are set for 3:15 p.m.

The tournament is scheduled to continue through Saturday, when the championship game will be held at 7 p.m. on the Galvin Park diamond.

Figuring to give Chino a tough time will be Montclair and Chaffey.

Montclair is returning two outstanding pitchers in southpaws Brent Jetton and Mike Medeiros. Other top returning lettermen include second baseman Tony Esquibel, catcher Dave Urquidi and outfielder Greg Walton. The top newcomers for the Cavs are pitcher Don Pierce, third baseman Bill Moore and shortstop Ron Candelaria.

Chaffey also has a very formidable pitching staff in the likes of Larry Garcia, an All-CIF second-teamer last year, and hefty Anthony Munoz, who stands at 6-foot-5 and 245 pounds.

Chaffey wraps up basketball season in CBL

Chaffey High closed out its 1974-75 basketball season Tuesday afternoon in winning fashion. But it was a very impressive conclusion.

The Tigers, who had to settle for fourth place in the Citrus Belt League standings with an 8-7 record, defeated last-place Eisenhower by a slim 42-41 margin on the Eagles' court.

Center Mark McQuaid, who finished the game with 14 points, sank a pair of free throws with 23 seconds left in the game to ice the win for the Tigers. Eisenhower regained possession in the closing seconds, ran the clock down and then never had an opportunity to get off a shot.

Chaffey led at halftime, 30-25, and then both teams installed slow-down tactics throughout the second half.

Tiger forward Brian Jacobs, who has been named the Valley High School Player of the Week for his outstanding play last week, led his team with 15 points to capture the CBL scoring title.

"Brian is an all-around player," boasted his coach Don Nelson. "He's leading the CBL in scoring and he's the team's leading rebounder."

Jacobs wasn't always leading the league in scoring. It's just that he has been on a hot streak. In three of his last five games the 6-foot-4 senior had not scored less than 25 points an outing.

"Actually I've cut down my shooting since the beginning of the year," admitted the Chaffey star. "At the beginning of the season I was shooting outside my range. Now I've moved in a little."

Jacobs will now put away his basketball jersey and step into a baseball uniform to get ready for the Tigers' 1975 diamond campaign.

Pomona rips Fontana, 85-23

High school track action heavy

A half dozen high school track meets involving valley teams are on tap Thursday afternoon.

Three of the meets will pit two valley clubs against each other.

At Nogales High, beginning at 3:15 p.m., Garey will be competing in a three-way meet with the Nobles and Edgewood.

Some of the top athletes to watch for in the meet will be Viking hurdler Anthony Greene, who will probably be one of the better 330 low hurdlers in the valley this year; and distance runner Steve Trenholme, who ran a 9:47 two-mile in cross country.

The Vikings will be hurt by the fact that a few of their key athletes are still playing basketball.

In another meet scheduled for 3:15 p.m., Damien High will entertain Bonita. And then over in the West End of the San Bernardino County, arch rivals Alta Loma and Montclair will battle it out on the Braves' track.

Alta Loma's strength will be in the distance races where CIF Frosh-Soph Masters finalist Joel Hope will try to improve on his 4:26.8 clocking in the mile. Ray Dacolias is the Hacienda League's defending two-mile champion.

In other track action around the valley, Claremont will visit Glendora, Ganesha will entertain Riverside North and San Dimas will host Northview. All meets are scheduled for 3:15 p.m. starting times.

Ganesha is the defending San Antonio League champion, and San Dimas will be trying to defend its Hacienda League title again this year.

In track action Tuesday, Pomona romped to an 85-23 victory over visiting Fontana.

Barry Boettcher and Dwayne Jackson posted double wins for the Red Devils, with Boettcher taking firsts in the mile and two mile runs, and Jackson winning the two hurdle events.

Boettcher was clocked at 4:41.4 in the mile and 10:29.7 in the two mile, and Jackson recorded times of 14.5 in the 120 high hurdles and 36.2 in the 330-yard lows.

Owls win M.C. baseball opener

Citrus College jumped into a tie for first place in the Mission Conference Tuesday with a 7-5 win over San Bernardino in the conference opener for both teams.

Citrus was outhit by the Indians, 15-12, but Frank Convertino's three-run homer in the sixth broke a 4-4 deadlock. Dave Hostetler's solo homer in the second inning gave the Owls a 1-0 lead.

Citrus is now 10-2 for the season and will host Chaffey Thursday.

Chaffey fell short Tuesday in a slugest with Riverside, 15-13. The Tigers outhit the Panthers 19-18 and three Chaffey errors were contributing factors in the loss.

Rod Weigand led the Panthers with four hits in six trips to the plate and Steve Young was the big run producer with three hits in five trips with three runs batted in.

George Bjorkman hit a solo homer for the Panthers in the eighth inning.

The Panthers took the lead in the third inning on seven hits that produced six runs. But Riverside came back to tie it up in the fourth with four runs and went ahead to stay in the fifth with four more tallies.

Mt. San Antonio College captured its eighth victory in a row, as freshman righthander Larry Pekarcik went eight innings, allowing five hits and striking out 10.

Pekarcik, a Damien High product, walked six batters as he picked ups his second win in three starts.

Gary Adair's three-run homer in the four-run third inning gave MSAC a lead they never relinquished.

Ron Roenicke hit a three run triple in the fifth and and Jerry Hatley ripped three hits including a run producing double. Binky Benton singled three times in five at bats.

The Mounties return to action Thursday when they host Pasadena. They entertain Rio Hondo Saturday.

Bonita athletes honored tonight

Bonita High will honor its basketball and wrestling teams tonight at the winter sports banquet at Griswold's Smorgasbord, 515 W. Foothill Blvd., Claremont.

Tickets, priced at $3.30 apiece, are available at the door tonight. The dinner begins at 6:30 p.m.

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (UPI) — A spokesman for the Kentucky Colonels said Monday the American Basketball Association club has no plans "at this time" to acquire an additional player to replace injured forward Jim Bradley.

Diablos whip Stags with help of 15 walks

Claremont-Mudd's young pitching staff had difficulty finding homeplate Tuesday.

As a result, visiting Cal St. Los Angeles was the recipient of 15 walks and rolled to a 14-2 win over the Stags.

All of the Diablo scoring came in two innings. The visitors scored six runs in the third on just two hits. But there were also four walks and three C-M errors.

In the eighth inning, CSLA scored eight runs on five hits. But six walks, an error and a passed ball made it worse than it might have been.

C-M coach Bill Arce used five pitchers in an effort to stop the Diablos.

The Stags scored their two runs in the last of the eighth inning. Andy Roundtree singled and Wynn Moore smashed a home run over the right centerfield fence.

Claremont-Mudd, 1-2, will send Norm Richards against Occidental Friday in the first game of the APC Tournament. The tourney will be played at several sites. The Stags-Oxy game will be played at the Stags' diamond.

N.C. State may sit out NCAA action

By United Press International

NCAA champion North Carolina State may not get a chance to defend its title this year.

The Wolfpack has been struggling this season and if it continues to falter through the Atlantic Coast Conference playoffs, it could mean last year's champions will be relegated to a minor tournament.

The slide continued Tuesday night as 13th-ranked North Carolina built up an early lead and held off sixth-ranked N.C. State 76-74. The victory was the first for North Carolina in its last 10 games against State and also marked the first time in three years that the Wolfpack had consecutive losses. N.C. State also lost on Saturday.

The ACC post-season tournament, which determines the NCAA representative, will be a dogfight between Maryland, North Carolina State, North Carolina and Clemson. The winner goes automatically to the NCAA regionals and a second team is picked on its season's record.

Should N.C. State fall in the ACC tournament, the defending champions could find themselves in the Commissioner's Conference Tourney or the National Invitation Tournament.

Freshman guard Phil Ford scored 19 of his 22 points in the first half and the Tar Heels then needed some last minute luck to hold on. David Thompson, who scored 32 points for State, hit with 27 seconds left to cut the Tar Heel lead to one point at 75-74. Mickey Bell hit a foul shot for a 76-74 lead but missed his second attempt.

State grabbed the rebound and called a time out with nine seconds left. But Tim Stoddard missed a shot with two seconds remaining and Tommy Lagarde's rebound ended it. Mitch Kupchak added 18 points for North Carolina, now 17-7. N.C. State is 19-5.

In other action involving ranked teams Tuesday night, Louisville (4) downed West Texas State 73-69, Penn (14) edged Temple 37-35 and Nevada-Las Vegas (16) beat Nevada-Reno 98-88.

Louisville scored its last six points at the free throw line to beat West Texas and clinch a tie for the Missouri Valley Conference title and a berth in the NCAA Midwest Regional. Louisville, 21-2 this season and 11-2 in league play, was paced by Junior Bridgeman with 16 points and Phillip Bond with 13.

Ron Haigler's basket with 39 seconds left enabled Penn to edge Temple. Haigler's clutch rebound shot after two Penn misses put the winners in front 36-35. Temple had two shots to win and both missed. Haigler led Penn with 20 points.

Rickey Sobers' 30 points carried West Coast Athletic Conference king Nevada-Las Vegas past last-place Nevada Reno. Robert Smith and Eddie Owens added 18 points each.

In other games, Notre Dame drubbed Fordham 98-61, Boston College nipped Connecticut 69-67, Harvard downed Dartmouth 87-83, Princeton topped Virginia 55-50, Providence swamped Villanova 84-67, St. John's (N.Y.) dumped Holy Cross 72-65, Detroit stopped Southern Illinois 65-62, Drake ripped North Texas State 90-66, Pan American trampled Trinity (Tex.) 111-61, Arkansas clubbed Rice 86-51, Texas Tech whipped Texas A&M 73-63, 111-61, Southern Methodist shaded Baylor 78-77 in overtime, and Texas edged Texas Christian 63-62.

Pomona star nears title

With only one week remaining, Pomona-Pitzer's Geoff Northrop virtually has clinched the P-B scoring derby for four-year colleges.

No Sagehen player has ever won the award since its inception in 1961. And, strangely, no player has ever repeated.

Northrop is averaging 20.4 points a game, nearly two full points per game over second place Joe Sills of Cal Poly.

Phil Doktor's single sparks USC's victory

In the top of the 11th, a single by Mark Carpenter and a walk to Kemp set the stage for Doktor's two-out clutch single to left, netting USC its final 2-1 margin of victory.

The winning hit kept Doktor on a hot streak for USC. The transfer from Citrus College had a six-for-seven performance on Saturday, driving in eight runs in the Trojans' doubleheader sweep of Loyola.

USC now stands at 4-1 on the young baseball season, while Cal Poly's mark drops to 3-5. The Broncos will have a chance to get back on the right track today as they host Cal State Los Angeles at 2:30 p.m.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — Phil Dent, with help from a doctor's prescription and the advice of his fellow WCT touring pros, Tuesday night stopped second seeded Harold Solomon 7-6, 6-3 in the $60,000 San Antonio Classic tennis tournament.

Bakersfield lures drag racers

BAKERSFIELD — The annual Bakersfield "March Meet," one of the largest major drag racing events, returns for its 17th consecutive appearance at Famoso Drag Strip, February 28, March 1 and 2. Entries are some 22 per cent ahead of the previous record and nearly 40 per cent ahead of last year. The 1975 contingencies and sponsorship awards — up 15 per cent compared to last year's record payout — have bumped the total purse to over $85,000, with additional awards being posted daily. An air of optimism is evident here with the "March Meet" on the upswing in spite of the current economic state of the nation.

The lure of the record purse and prestige of "Bakersfield" are drawing top names from the continental U.S., Hawaii, and Canada.

One of this years highlights promises to be the first-ever "Bakersfeild" appearances of Bill "Grumpy" Jenkins. Drama accompanies the "Grump's" March Meet debut. He will fly round trip from Pennsylvania for his scheduled Saturday March Meet match race; arriving Saturday morning and flying back to the East coast Saturday evening for an East coast engagement slated for Sunday afternoon. Jenkins predicts a new running combination will unleash some "low 8.60's" during his Bakersfield appearance, where the current pro stock record is 9.06.

All eyes will be on Funny Car Eliminator, where the favorite has to be Don "The Snake" Prudhomme. The "Snake" has been devastating the funny car ranks for over a year now and his recent Pomona victory indicates his '75 form is better than ever. Bakersfield holds a great sentimental value for Prudhomme, for it was here that the "Snake" won his first major drag racing title, at the young age of 19.

Prudhomme will receive strong opposition from the likes of Tom "The Mongoose" Mc Ewen, and Canada's Gordie Bonin. Mc Ewen is also a past "March Meet" champion, having won the 1972 top fuel title in his "Hot Wheels" dragster; and ironically, it was also Mc Ewen's first major win. Gordie Bonin's credentials are firmly emplanted. He was runner-up at the NHRA Nationals as well as finishing strong at several other major drag meets.

Top Fuel Eliminator is always exciting at the "March Meet" and this, the 17th edition, features a stellar field. Local favorite, James Warren, at the wheel of the beautiful, new "Rain For Rent Special," will attempt to curtail the "Famoso Drag Strip" jinx that has plagued him over the years at his home track. But, he will have to get by "Kansas John" Wiebe in any case. If Warren solves Wiebe's magic, that will be a major victory in itself as Wiebe is one of the top super-stars in drag racing. Other top fuel entries include, Tony Nancy. Also returning is the defending champion Kulh & Olson entry, where last year's titlist, Carl Olson, has retired from the driver's seat in favor of Billy Tidwell. The popular Tidwell is married to drag racing's "First Lady" Linda Vaughn (Tidwell). Olson is the new director of communications for (SEMA) Specialty Equipment Manufacturers Assoc.

The exciting Pro Camp category has drawn the best names in the class, including; Enriquez & Adams, John Shoemaker, Weiss & Scott, Jack Cambra, and Frank Harris. Cambra's Hawaiian based Vega BB-Funny Car, airlifted to the mainland, will return home shortly after the February 28-March 2 Bakersfield event.

Joining the best in drag racing will be the U.S. Navy parachute team. Comprised of ten expert skydivers, the Navy jumpers will bail out at 15,000; for "March Meet" fans on both Saturday and Sunday, in their only west coast drag racing appearance.

And if all this action were not enough, "Bakersfield '75" will host a full slate of sportsman eliminators — comp, modified, super stock, and stock. Only comp will be a qualified field (low 16 e.t.'s) with all other sportsman being —"all cars run" categories. Gates will open daily at 8 a.m. Tech inspection will be held from 9 a.m. Friday to 12-noon Saturday. Qualifying is scheduled all-day Friday and Saturday, with the popular "one shot" session on tap Sunday morning from 9-10:30 a.m. The "one shot" session is reserved for top fuel and funny car only, with the to 24 AA-FD and 8 AA-Funny car positions being "frozen" when regular qualifying ends Saturday night. Championship finals will get underway at 11:00 a.m. Sunday, March 2nd.

Discount tickets are available from participating Coca-Cola, and central Calif. "Fotomat" outlets, with advance tickets on sale at various speed shops.

Famoso Drag Strip, the site of the annual extravaganza, is located 19 miles north of Bakersfield on Famoso-Woody Rd. For additional information, call (805) 399-5351 or 399-7379.

Dragsters at Irwindale

IRWINDALE — A championship drag racing event for 93 cents admission? Absolutely impossible the experts will tell you . . . unless of course the promoter wants to commit financial suicide!

Nevertheless, that's what Irwindale Raceway is charging this coming Saturday evening (March 1) for a Stelier AA-Fuel Funny Car Program and the first ever confrontation between two rocket engined dragsters.

Irwindale General Manager Steve Evans explains, "This was made possible through L.A. radio station KHJ, whose dial position is "93" hence the 93 cent admission.

With Funny Cars such as Don "Snake" Prudhomme, Mickey Thompson's record holding Grand Am Pontiac, Canadian Gordie Bonin and several more in a round robin show most tracks across the country would have to charge about $5.00. Add the Minneapolis based "Pollution Packer" rocket car versus Armor-All's Revell Rocket and price would even be higher.

International motorcyclists to run at Irwindale Mar. 8

IRWINDALE — Irwindale Raceway management has announced that tickets for the Saturday night, March 8 INTERNATIONAL CHAMPIONS CHALLENGE Speedway motorcycle event are now on sale. Outlets include all Ticketron locations (including Sears) in Los Angeles and Orange County, Bert's Motorcycles on Foothill Blvd. in Azusa, Milne Bros. Motorcycles on Colorado Blvd. in Pasadena, the raceway office just off Irwindale Ave. and via mail to Irwindale Raceway, P.O. Box 2165, Irwindale, Calif. 91706. Prices are $5.00 for adults, $3.00 children 12 and under. Tickets will also be available at the gate race night.

Irwindale's "United States versus the World" confrontation will pit a super-star six man European team that consists of four former and current World and European Champions against an all-American squad.

The talent laden foreign team consists of four time World Champion Barry Briggs (Captain), four time World Champ Ivan Mauger (both from New Zealand), former World Titleholder Ole Olsen of Denmark, current European Champion Chris Pusey of England and British Champ Ray Wilson.

How can an American team even hope to compete with the awesome power of the Europeans? The answer is home court advantage. The Europeans are accustomed to riding much longer and faster race tracks. The Irwindale oval, although the fastest and longest in the west, is still only 220 yards on the pole as compared to as much as 600 yards in Europe and Australia.

The three race Champions Challenge series started in The Houston Astrodome February 2nd, moves to Orange County Fairgrounds in Costa Mesa Friday, March 7 and final March 8 at Irwindale. American team captain "Slidin' Sonny" Nutter commented after being soundly whipped by the Europeans in Houston, "This year, they've already gotten the drop on us with the Astrodome win, but our 'cream of the crop' certainly wasn't ready for the longer track, especially after a 4 month layoff, and the constantly changing conditions. Wait until all those super stars get a load of our tiny little circle at Costa Mesa and the 'not long for their standards' track at Irwindale. I honestly feel we'll rip 'em apart at Costa Mesa. The Irwindale battle, the series decider, could go either way. Wish I could watch it from the stands."

Nutter's teammates are two time U.S. Champions Mike and Steve Bast, former National Champ Rick Woods, the popular "Wild Bill" Cody and runner-up for the 1974 National title, Jeff Sexton.

Gates will open March 8 at 6:30 in the evening, with racing action slated for 8:15 p.m.

Irwindale Raceway is located at the Irwindale Ave. exits of the 210 Freeway, just 1 mile east of the 605 Freeway junction.

Girl Scout Council begins cookie sale

Girl Scouts in the 33 communities served by the Spanish Trails Council will take orders from friends and neighbors for the 1975 annual Cookie Sale which starts Friday and runs to March 10.

Mrs. Beverly Conway of Hacienda Heights, cookie chairman for the council, will be assisted by Mmes. Wanda Kocher, Covina, Anne Hurmence, La Verne, and Sue Vaughn, Whittier. Also aiding are Charles Hanawalk, council finance chairman, and Mrs. Edith Laskowski, staff coordinator.

Brownie, Junior, Cadette and Senior Scouts will participate in the sale, offering six varieties of cookies provided through the Burry Baking Co.

The sale is an integral part of scouting's finance picture and benefits camps, equipment and other direct Girl Scout programs including Wider Opportunities and camperships.

Troops retain part of the proceeds to supplement funds which permit a wire-range in-troop program and camping experiences. In addition to troop earnings, girls may earn a variety of incentive awards for their personal effort.

The 1975 sale is being coordinated with a number of other Southern California councils, all of which will follow the "Jumping Kangaroo" theme.

Profits from the cookie sale will also help to continue development of the council's newest campsite, the 360-acre Palomar camp in northern San Diego County.

Ask Dr. Brothers

Rejecting codes

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: We have a boy and a girl in their late teens and my husband says he thinks they should wear labels so our friends will get a clue as to which is which.

Our 17-year-old daughter is very pretty but it seems to me she's always trying to disguise this fact as if she were ashamed of it. We've bought her two beautiful dresses but she hasn't worn either one yet. In fact, she hasn't been out of her special blue denims for so long I wouldn't recognize her if I saw her in anything else. When I ask her to dress up for our friends, she accuses me of being superficial and materialistic. My son, on the other hand, spends too much time combing and grooming his long locks. He has a much larger wardrobe than our daughter and his jewlery collection is bigger than hers. He spends three times as much as she does on clothing and my husband is really embarrassed to present either one of them to his friends.

Frankly, I don't know what I can or should do, but this is a constant source of friction in our home and I wish there were some way I could settle it once and for all. — L. Y.

Dear L. Y.: Like most people, adolescents and young people today are trying to make a statement when they select certain clothing. People who shop in conventional stores and wear fairly conventional clothing are saying in effect, "I want to belong and be accepted by those I respect and like."

The teenager is unconsciously saying the same thing, but those he or she most respects and likes are trying to clearly establish their independence from their elders and they are also trying to break down the old sex standards that separated males from females.

It sounds to me as if both your son and daughter are trying to tell you that they don't accept the old rigid sex stereotypes that hinted that a woman couldn't be a real woman unless her nails were painted and she wore a certain type of dress and a man automatically had to be of the John Wayne-tough-guy variety to be accepted as a male. Your children are not unlike many young people today who are rebelling against the concept of gender.

Your daughter may be afraid that people will see only her physical beauty and that she will be trapped by her appearance if she doesn't try to disguise it. This may seem foolish to you, but if you consider what has happened to many great beauties in our society, I think you'll see that your daughter has some grounds for her fears. Even though the prejudice is subtle, many people today still find it hard to understand why a beautiful girl would want to study medicine or law. If they express their feelings of wonderment the girl often is made to feel odd or even guilty.

Your children may be trying to get adults to see them for what they are rather than categorizing them and putting them in neat boxes that don't fit. They may be trying to tell you and your husband that they feel adults place too much importance on exteriors, on how a person dresses, and too little importance on interiors, or how a person thinks and what he or she values.

I do think, however, that some kind of compromise could be made and that both your son and daughter could modify their dress on special occasions out of respect for you, just as you and your husband might do them a favor in order to please them if they were to invite you to be with their friends. If you respect your children's behavior, generally, how they dress is relatively unimportant. I'm sure you'll agree, character and integrity are more important.

March 11 meeting

Board to ponder fate of Bridges

The executive committee of the Board of Fellows of the Claremont University Center will meet March 11 to decide the fate of Bridges Auditorium, for more than 40 years a cultural resource for the colleges and community of Claremont and the valley.

Fire department officials have informed CUC that the 2,581-seat auditorium must have a fire curtain and other improvements to bring it up to the present fire safety code. The estimated cost is $700,000. (Bridges was built in 1931 for $625,000. Estimated cost of replacement today: $6 million.)

The colleges also want to make extensive improvements which will bring the total cost to about $2 million.

The committee will decide whether to shut down the building permanently and raze it, or to launch a fund drive to bring it up to code.

A college spokesman said the colleges are exploring the possibility of support from foundations to keep the structure in operation. Whatever the ultimate decision, the auditorium will be closed at the end of the school year, he said.

Employers responsible

The California Supreme Court has ruled that employers can be responsible if an employe gets drunk at an office party and is killed or injured after leaving work.

HELPING HANDS — Nedra Volz and Mark Shipley help up Gloria Rasputin after she has tried the splits in a scene from the Gallery Theater production of "Bye Bye, Birdie." The musical opens at the theater, C Street and Lemon Avenue, Ontario, at 8 p.m. Thursday, to play at that hour Fridays and Saturdays for several weekends. The play is a musical spoof of the impact of rock 'n' roll singers on the '50s.

Final concert

West End Symphony to perform at Ontario First Baptist Church

The West End Symphony Orchestra, conducted by Keith Moon, will present its final concert of the season in the First Baptist Church, Ontario, at 8:30 p.m. Friday.

The program will include Beethoven's Eighth Symphony, Grieg's Piano Concerto in A Minor, and Bach's Prelude and Fugue in G Minor, transcribed for orchestra.

Tickets are $3.50 general, $1.75 for students and senior citizens.

Peggy Lyon of Washington State University will be soloist in the piano concerto. Miss Lyon has studied in Salzburg, Austria, and Madrid, Spain. She has been associated with the University of Nevada, and has performed as guest soloist with numerous musical groups in the Las Vegas area, such as the Musical Arts Workshop and the University Symphony Orchestra.

Also on the program is a contemporary work, "Lions — a Dream," by the young American composer-author-poet Ned Rorem. In it, Rorem uses the sounds of the orchestra to tell the story of a childhood dream about a litter of lion cubs, his joy at discovering them, their happy play together, and the sudden appearance of the terrifying father lion who brings the dream to a frightful conclusion. Moon describes the piece as a fusion of symphonic and jazz elements.

Magical Marcel returns to L.A.

By JOSEPH H. FIRMAN

Pantomime is alive and well and living at the Shubert Theater in the person of French mime extraordinaire, Marcel Marceau, past (and present) master of the art of silence.

A near capacity audience accorded magical Marcel a standing ovation Tuesday night at the opening of a three-week engagement. It was well deserved.

Clown, tragedian, satirist and social commentator, Marceau brings to his episodic presentation a rubber face, the body of a ballet dancer and a wry wit. His lithe, endlessly inventive performance is rich in humor ranging from buffoonery to subtle and sardonic high comedy; his brief moments of pathos are grotesque and touching.

Marceau's silent projection of the human comedy is made up of old, familiar interludes mixed with some new ones. His "Maskmaker" is a laugh-and-gasp Gothic anecdote; his "Dice Players" a hilarious workout for his expressive face; "The Dress" a sentimental fantasy; "The Creation" an imaginative and enigmatic effort.

Act II is all Bip, the born loser in white face, Everyman at odds with a world he never made. Marceau plays a side-splitting "David and Goliath," takes a nightmarish ride in "Bip Travels by Train," climbs the familiar ladder in "Bip as a China Salesman," and gets smashed at a posh ball in "Bip at a Society Party." His delirious fingers and illusory feet cast enchantment over them all.

To achieve his unrivaled position in the special world of mime, Marceau needs three elements which he has in abundance. He needs something to say, a message, a comment, an observation on the world and people; he needs a keen eye and insight for character; he needs the equipment — the acrobat's skill, the actor's face, the intuitive sense of timing — to make the illusion real, the story come to life and the statement come home with power.

In "Contrasts" he rides a merry-go-round and dies before a firing squad. In "The Small Cafe" he plays a sleasy waiter, a grumpy patron, two checkers players and a burly bouncer. The train ride offers him a chance to demonstrate one of his comic triumphs, eating. In several scenes he does his specialty, propping an elbow on a non-existent bar or counter. Each move is characterized by fluidity, grace and casual discipline.

Tragedy, comedy, whimsy, slapstick — all are offered in the silent poetry of Marceau's genius.

Area singers invited to join new chorale

An intercommunity chorale is being sponsored by the Claremont School District Adult School, and singers of valley and foothill communities are invited to join.

Louis Ronfeldt will direct, and William C. Blanchard will play the organ.

Rehearsals will be held at the Claremont United Church of Christ, Congregational, at Sixth Street and Harvard Avenue Sundays from 3 to 5 p.m.

A section will be held Thursday from 8 to 9 p.m. for those who cannot attend the Sunday section.

Rehearsals will continue until March 16 when a concert will be performed. The group will rehearse master chorale works and give two major concerts a year.

Registration will be accepted at any rehearsal.

MICHAEL YORK, who appeared in the films, "Cabaret" and "The Three Musketeers," will star with Glynis Johns in Jean Anouilh's romantic farce, "Ring Around the Moon," at the Ahmanson Theater of the Los Angeles Music Center April 1-May 10. York can currently be seen in the movie "Murder on the Orient Express."

Benefit show planned at Bridges Hall

Singer-composers Margie Adam, Vicki Randle, Diane Lindsay and Cris Williamson will present a concert in Bridges Hall, Pomona College, at 8:30 p.m. Saturday.

The program is a benefit for Sisters in Service To End Rape (SISTER).

Advance-sale tickets at $3 can be obtained at the Men's Union of Claremont Men's College. Admission at the door is $3.50.

SISTER, a project to educate and counsel women, operates from Our House, 480 N. Indian Hill Blvd., Claremont. It depends on private contributions for support.

3 vocalists to perform at Pomona

Three Pomona College voice students will present a recital in Bridges Hall at 8:15 p.m. Friday. Admission is free.

The singers are Susan Breckenridge of Pasadena, Ginevra Chandler of Woodside and Kenneth Rafanan of Oakland.

The program will open with Miss Chandler and Rafanan performing six songs from "Des Knaben Wunderhorn" by Gustav Mahler. Miss Chandler also will perform Benjamin Britten's "A Charm of Lullabies," and Rafanan will sing Maurice Ravel's "Chansons Madecasses."

The program concludes with Miss Breckenridge joining Miss Chandler and Rafanan in a performance of J.S. Bach's Cantata No. 187, "Es wartet alles auf dich."

The three singers have studied with Margery Briggs since entering Pomona College 3½ years ago. All three plan to continue their music and vocal studies in graduate school. Miss Breckenridge will give a solo recital later in the spring.

EDDIE KENDRICKS, Tamla (Motown) recording star, will appear at the Total Experience in Los Angeles March 5-10. His latest single, "Shoeshine Boy," from his album, "For You," is climbing steadily on the national pop music charts.

Disregarded law

'The Air Force Mafia' penned by engineer

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Former engineer Peter James says the Foreign Technology Division of the Air Force disregarded the law, played favorites and came up with bid information in its intelligence operations.

James, 35, a former Pratt and Whitney engineer, said Saturday in a telephone interview from his New York home that he had written a book, "The Air Force Mafia," describing a world of intelligence agents affiliated with the FTD. He said he was providing information to the Senate committee investigating reports of intelligence abuses.

"The committee has indicated to me that it would be interested in receiving my forthcoming book and looking into the matter," James said.

The Air Force Office of Special Investigations, provided by James, has reexamined his security locations, and denied improper conduct or malpractice.

The FTD is charged with collecting intelligence on foreign technology, especially as it has a bearing on Soviet developments in aircraft, munitions and missile technology, then exchanging it with defense contractors.

James served from 1965-1971 as program manager of Pratt and Whitney's Rocketdyne at Pratt and Whitney's Florida Research and Development Center. He said he cooperated with the Air Force and CIA at the time. He specifically charged:

—The FTD spent vast sums to collect intelligence but is slow to analyze and distribute it to the firms who need up to date reports.

—The Air Force favored some companies over others in their supply of data: "Besides being unfair," he wrote, "the FTD role of timemaker blatantly infringed on the free enterprise system."

—Many FTD assessments of Soviet technology were downright wrong. "Their erroneous assessments clouded the areas where the Russians were really ahead."

James describes an atmosphere of easy disregard for law which he says reigned in some parts of FTD. He said that when his relations with FTD officials were deteriorating, he was threatened.

James said:

"Basically the FTD is redundant," James told UPI. "It should be abolished, and its personnel and records be taken on by the CIA and the Defense Intelligence Agency."

Commonwealth basis

Northern Marianas will come into U.S.

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

Except for the men who flew the missions, few remember today that the Pacific island of Tinian was the busiest spot on the map during the bombing of Japan in 1945.

To most, Saipan is a scenic island.

To many, Saipan is also a memory.

Both islands played important roles in the years after Dec. 7, 1941, when Americans were fighting their bloody way northward to defeat Japan's big for conquest.

Still three lie within a vast area of the western Pacific comprising some 2,000 islands and atolls flung across three million square miles of ocean. Together, they are called Micronesia — United Nations Trust Territory which the United States has administered since 1947 and which today are moving toward a new status.

Under an agreement signed on July 18, the United States will make its first territorial acquisition since purchasing the Virgin Islands from Denmark in 1916.

It will bring the Northern Mariana islands into the United States family of commonwealth status much like Puerto Rico, including U.S. citizenship.

Both Saipan and Tinian lie within sight strains of 14 tiny islands whose total population is less than 14,000. Outweighing their size is their strategic importance as a first U.S. frontier of defense in the Pacific.

Two islands of Tinian, lying 110 miles north of Guam, is to be turned into a military facility primarily for the Navy and Air Force. Its cost is estimated at $60 million. United States aides also will return some 200 acres to Japan for its station, the Trust territory's provisional capital.

U.S. management of the Trust territory has been both praised and damned. Praised for its good intentions, damned for its misdirection of effort. Its intentions have been to protect the beautiful beaches, having palm trees and clear lagoons.

Complicating the picture is that only the northern Mariana islands have opted for close, permanent association with the United States—possibly motivated by the obvious prosperity of neighboring Guam.

Negotiations over the future of the remainder of Micronesia, the Marshall and Caroline islands, are continuing.

Out of these is expected to emerge a "qualified sovereignty," allowing them control of internal affairs but delegating defense and foreign affairs to the United States. After 15 years, the Micronesians could declare independence.

Pentagon estimates have placed a $750 million price tag on the U.S. military installations in the west Pacific. American money has flowed to Micronesia for roads, schools, power plants and sewers. Another $8 million annually goes into education, health and other special programs.

The islands have wooded areas, but they are not suitable for agriculture. They must themselves, people with food and mostly must go to the government buy it.

For the United States there is the strategic importance of the islands, not the export business.

Laws in this business don't mean much. Like the Air Force employee said, inscribing ashes to the floor.

"Basically the FTD is redundant," James told UPI. "It should be abolished, and its personnel and records be taken on by the CIA and the Defense Intelligence Agency."

NIKOLAI BULGANIN

Bulganin's final years in disgrace

MOSCOW (UPI) — Nikolai A. Bulganin, a courtly Bolshevik who worked in the shadow of Nikita S. Khrushchev during their joint rule of the Soviet Union, died Monday after a long illness, the government said Tuesday. He was 79.

A contemporary of Leon Trotsky and Stalin, Bulganin ended his political life in disgrace after plotting against Khrushchev.

But the government announcement said: "The Council of Ministers informs with regret of the death of pensioner Bulganin." The expression of regret apparently indicating forgiveness for past errors.

A 24-word dispatch by the Tass news agency said only that Bulganin died "after a serious, prolonged illness."

The agency carried no immediate obituary and Moscow Radio made no mention of the death. There was no reference to funeral plans.

Bulganin had not been seen in public or mentioned by the Soviet media for several years. The man who charmed the world with his 19th century manners before the boisterous Khrushchev, banished him lived out the last years of his life in a government-furnished villa near Moscow on a $500-a-month pension.

A onetime secret policeman and the son of a lower middle class clerk, Bulganin became an international figure when he succeeded Stalin's heir, George Malenkov, as premier in 1955.

Between then and 1957 he and Communist party First Secretary Khrushchev toured foreign countries in a manner unprecedented for Soviet leaders.

Bulganin impressed foreigners with his elegance, flexing white hair and goatee — in sharp contrast to Khrushchev's shoe-banging earthy ebullience.

The world wondered which of the two was the real power in Soviet councils. It found out when Bulganin joined the 1957 "anti-party group" in the ruling Politburo that tried to oust Khrushchev.

The wily party leader, sure of his support, called an unprecedented meeting of the 300-member Central Committee, packed with his men, and fired the plotters instead.

They included most of the dwindling band of Czarist-era Bolsheviks — Foreign Minister Vyacheslav Molotov, who was banished to outer Mongolia; Malenkov, whom Khrushchev made director of a power station near the Chinese border; and Lazar Kaganovich, who feared "iron commissar," ordered to run a cement factory in the Ural mountains.

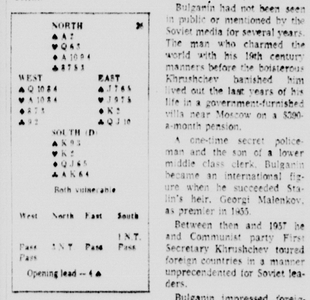
Bulganin, for whom Khrushchev apparently had a soft spot, was allowed to dwindle as premier for a year but in 1958 was consigned to the chairmanship of a local economic council in the Caucasus. A year later he was allowed to return to obscure retirement in Moscow.

Bridge

Longest, but not strongest

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Here is another hand we have borrowed from George Coffin.



There is nothing difficult about the hand. South has a normal notrump opening bid and North a book raise to three. Give West the king of diamonds and South has an easy nine tricks, but we find his majesty in East's possession.

The diamond finesse will lose and South will have to struggle to score his game. In fact, he won't be able to bring it in if West opens a spade and the defense does not falter. However, he will have no trouble if West opens a heart.

The old text books on play recommended the fourth best of your longest and strongest suit as the proper blind lead against notrump. The heart suit is West's strongest and a follower of one of those old textbooks would open a heart.

George points out quite properly that the ace of hearts represents a sure entry to the West hand; the queen of spades does not. Hence the best opening lead is the four of spades, not the four of hearts.

This time it works. No writer ever sets up a hand to disprove his theory. Far more important is the fact that it will work far more often than it won't.

Miners top in wages

A survey of average weekly wages in the nation's industries in 1974 shows coal miners at the top of the list, making $248.27 per week.

Alternatives to dorms studied

AMHERST, Mass. (UPI) — The University of Massachusetts Amherst is studying alternatives to dormitory residency requirements, according to Chancellor Randolph W. Bromery.

Bromery has proposed a universal student resource fee, to replace the current fee paid by dormitory residents only, to meet, as required by law, the debt service on the dorms, campus center, and stadium.

ANITA BRYANT SAYS:

"With the price of sugary drinks so high...doesn't it make sense to serve your family natural citrus juices instead?"

(ESPECIALLY 100% PURE ORANGE JUICE FROM FLORIDA)

If you want a good value for your family, Anita Bryant suggests you do some comparison shopping. You'll discover that the prices of popular sugar-based beverages have gone up and up and up . . . while the price of 100% pure Orange Juice from Florida, with natural sugars, has hardly budged in years. And doesn't it make sense to serve your family a beverage that not only costs less, but is high in nutrition as well? 100% pure Orange Juice from Florida. It's a whole lot more than just delicious.

26th annual Bake-Off

2 women take home $25,000 each

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Mrs. Barbara Gibson, Fort Wayne, Ind., and Mrs. Luella Maki, Ely, Minn, today were named $25,000 winners in the 26th annual Pillsbury Bake-Off.

Mrs. Gibson, who describes herself as a "routine clerk" in an industrial plant, won the refrigerated fresh dough class with her "easy crescent Danish rolls," filled with cream cheese and topped with preserves.

Mrs. Maki, captured the grocery products top prize in the national contest with her baked-from-scratch "sour cream apple squares," a European recipe she redesigned.

There were four $5,000 winners.

Mrs. Nancy Bullard, San Luis Obispo, Calif., won pancake mix honors with her "Mex-Casserole"; Mrs. Judie Miller, Mesa, Ariz., won the hot roll mix contest with her "Hearty Wheat Rolls" recipe; "Ham and Eggs Crescent Pizza" won Mrs. Maria Tarassoli, Trussville, Ala., the refrigerated savory award; and the frosting award went to Mrs. Constance Beckwith, North Franklin, Conn., for her "Easy Almond Crunch Bars."

Following are the winning recipes:

Easy Crescent Danish Rolls

—8 oz. pkg. cream cheese, softened
—half cup sugar
—1 tablespoon lemon juice
—2 cans (8 oz.) Pillsbury Quick Crescent Dinner Rolls
—4 teaspoons, preserves.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Blend first three ingredients until smooth. Separate crescent dough into eight rectangles; firmly press perforations to seal. Spread about two tablespoons cream cheese mixture on each rectangle. Starting at longer side, roll up; press edges to seal. Gently stretch each roll to about 10 inches. Coil loosely into spirals with seam on inside. Seal ends. Make deep indentation in center of each roll; fill with 1-2 teaspoon preserves. Bake in ungreased cookie sheets 20-25 minutes until deep golden brown. Blend glaze ingredients (1-2 cup powdered sugar, 1 teaspoon vanilla and 2-3 teaspoons milk); drizzle over warm rolls. Refrigerate any leftovers. Makes 8 rolls.

Sour Cream Apple Squares

—2 cups Pillsbury's best all purpose flour
—2 cups firmly packed brown sugar
—1-2 cup butter or margarine, softened
—1 cup chopped nuts
—1-2 teaspoon cinnamon
—1 teaspoon soda (omit if using self-rising flour)
—1-2 teaspoon salt (omit if using self- rising flour)
—1 cup dairy sour cream
—1 teaspoon vanilla
—1 egg
—2 cups (two medium) peeled, finely chopped apples.

Preheat oven to 350 degrees. Combine first three ingredients in large bowl; blend at low speed until crumbly. Stir in nuts. Press 2 and 3-4 cups crumb mixture into ungreased 13 by 9 inch pan. To remaining mixture, add cinnamon, soda, salt, sour cream, vanilla and egg; blend well. Stir in apples. Spoon evenly over base. Bake 25-30 minutes until toothpick inserted in ceter comes out clean. Cut into squares; serve with whipped cream if desired. Makes 12-15 squares.

A WINNER — A hot roll recipe won for Judie Miller of Mesa, Ariz., $5,000 in the 26th Pillsbury Bake-Off Tuesday in San Francisco.

Not rehabilitation, but entertainment

MORRISTOWN, N.J. (UPI) — Morris County Sheriff John M. Fox says he has eliminated a county prison yoga program because yoga is "entertainment and not rehabilitation."

"I don't mind providing entertainment as long as it doesn't come at the expense of rehabilitation," Fox said in explaining why he cut the $2,000 annual yoga program appropriation. "Yoga is really a form of entertainment and not rehabilitation."

These recipes won 5,000

Among the winners of $5,000 for placing first in various categories of the Bake-Off are:

Mrs. Maria Tarassoli, Trussville, Ala., for:

Q: "My neighbor says table scraps aren't good for dogs. Is that right?"

A: Yes. When compared to scientifically formulated pet foods like Blue Mountain Home Style Stew, table scraps are sadly lacking in the needed protein, vitamins, minerals, amino acids and carbohydrates. Besides, overly rich table scraps can make your dog a finicky eater and eventually lead to obesity, hardening of the arteries and even heart attacks.

Licensed, but untrained Rangers targets of civil libertarians

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — For the past 40 years, Texas has had another brand of Texas Ranger and there are some who would just as soon he hung up his spurs.

Not to be confused with the legendary range cop turned state trooper, the Special Ranger is a little-known private citizen, untrained by the state yet licensed by law with nearly full police powers.

A group of state legislators and the Texas Civil Liberties Union contend the practice is wrong and want the 300 Special Rangers —mostly employed in the railroad, cattle and oil businesses —stripped of their stars.

"It's a plain perversion of individual rights. The snoop, that's the Special Ranger," said Sen. A. R. Schwartz, sponsor of a bill to abolish the deputized citizens. "Think of the terror you can inflict with this kind of nonsense."

Created by the legislature in 1935, Special Rangers enjoy full police powers except for enforcing traffic laws. They may make arrests, use weapons and peruse regular police intelligence files, including those kept on non-criminals. Their police beats are restricted to their own and their employers' property.

Wilson E. Speir, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, says Special Rangers are by statute answerable to a Public Safety Commission and the governor but "beyond this they are subject to the orders of their employers."

TCLU Director John Duncan calls it "highly improper for such individuals to be 'subject to the orders of their employer'."

So far this year, the Public Safety Commission has reappointed 30 Special Rangers, all employes of ranching interests, and will probably appoint more at its next monthly meeting.

Gov. Dolph Briscoe says Sepcial Rangers "if properly controlled ... serve a very valid law enforcement function". There is official backing for the practice elsewhere, too.

Mack Wallace, who headed Briscoe's Criminal Justice Council until he was appointed railroad commissioner in 1973, said he saw many instances while a prosecutor in Athens in which Special Rangers helped enforce the law.

"I was a county attorney for five years and a district attorney for 10 years and during those years I worked closely with the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association." Wallace said. "Their Special Rangers rendered valuable service related to livestock.

Rep. Mickey Leland, DHouston, is the House sponsor of the effort to see the Special Rangers disbanded. He said he is philosophically opposed to the state licensing citizens who it does not train or pay as policemen.

But Leland says, too, he doubts the conservative Texas legislature will abolish the Special Rangers.

"The funny thing is they referred my bill to the Transportation Committee. It will die there," Leland said. "I'll get a hearing, but that's all."

Methanol next fuel for cars?

SANTA CLARA, Calif. (UPI) — The relatively clean burning fuel that flames cigarette lighters and fondue pots may one day replace gasoline in vehicle tanks.

In Santa Clara, one city vehicle has operated two years and 16,000 miles solely on methanol, and it has the lowest emission record in the city fleet. Another city vehicle, run on a mixture of methanol and gas, has the best mileage record.

Indestructible treaty goes way of all flesh

HONG KONG (UPI) — Bundled in a heavy fur coat and wearing a cap made of wool from an unborn Karakul lamb to cover his balding pate, Mao Tse-tung stood at the Moscow railway station and beamed.

Then he spoke, declaring to all the world that Sino-Soviet friendship "will be everlasting, indestructible and inalienable."

That was 25 years ago. Mao was ending his first trip outside China and returning home after a two-month stay in the Soviet Union.

He was flush with success.

Less than five months after winning a revolution and proclaiming the founding of the People's Republic of China, he was taking back to Peking a mutual defense treaty, his young republic's first foreign loan for $300 million, and a series of other agreements.

"It will be clear to everybody that the solidarity between the Soviet and the Chinese peoples, consolidated by a treaty, will be everlasting, indestructible and inalienable," Mao is quoted as saying in one of the official histories of his revolution.

The treaty of which he spoke was signed on Feb. 14 after long negotiations between him, his premier and foreign minister, Chou En-lai, and the late Soviet leader Josef Stalin.

Because of the treaty, Mao said, Sino-Soviet friendship "will inevitably bring its influence to bear not only on the prosperity of the two great countries, China and the Soviet Union, but on the future of humanity and on the victory of world peace and justice."

Mao's political doctrine is based firmly on the fact that this is a changing world. And few things have changed more than the mood of Sino-Soviet relations since those warm talks with Stalin in that freezing Moscow winter of great content.

The curious thing about that treaty, signed for a period of 30 years, was that it named Japan as the enemy, not the United States against whom it really was directed.

The Chinese Communist party newspaper, People's Daily, noted that "one of the important provisions aims against 'the rebirth of Japanese imperialism and repetition of aggression on the part of Japan or any other state that may collaborate in any way with Japan in acts of aggression.'"

What makes this so interesting today is not the fact of the treaty's recent 25th anniversary or the fact that neither Peking nor Moscow has abrogated the treaty formally despite their continuing state of bad relations, which includes a series of bloody border clashes in recent years.

The interesting point is that both countries are scrambling madly to be the first to sign a peace treaty with Japan.

Once this is done it will formalize the abrogation of the treaty that Mao saw as the hope of humanity.

Computer aids medic in obstetrics ward

OAKLAND, Calif. (UPI) — Doctors and nurses in the obstetrics ward at the Oak Knoll Naval Hospital are receiving help from a new kind of midwife: a computer.

"It's a lot different from the days when about all we had to work with was a stethoscope," said Dr. Donald Coustan.

Coustan, a lieutenant commander, said the stethoscope was a limited tool during labor because it "could not be used during contractions when the mother was moving around."

Now the computer monitors critical functions during labor —and it, in turn, is monitored by another device.

About 10 years ago the monitoring system became available to hospitals, the officer said, but Oak Knoll is the first to have the scanner that checks all information in the computer.

"We got the first one off the assembly line," said Dr. Robert Baker, a rear admiral and chief of obstetrics and gynecology. "We insisted on it."

The system keeps track of the fetal heartbeat patterns. It is capable of analyzing heart rates and discerns the contraction pattern of the uterus during labor.

This information is fed into a "read-out station" at the nurses' desk. When the alert system detects a problem a light flashes on and a beeper sounds.

Both doctors emphasize that despite the presence of all this hardware there is still plenty of personal attention by nurses and doctors.

"This system is in addition to, and not a replacement" for the medical staff, Baker said.

"Many hospitals have the initial monitoring system but it requires constant watching by a nurse or doctor," Coustan said. "This one scans and warns for us."

The system brings to the attention of the physician problems he couldn't even recognize before, he said.

Coustan said that prior to the monitoring system many unneeded caesarean operations were performed because the information gained through the stethoscope was not valid. Doctors have since found through the monitoring system that some periods they thought were critical were actually normal, he said.

A spokesman for the device's manufacturer, Corometrics, Inc., says the monitoring can "greatly reduce mental retardation and other brain damage" that occurs because of lack of oxygen to the fetus.

This is done by keeping tabs on the heart rate change, he said.

An alert is given when the heart rate exceeds or drops below accepted limits. Another takes place when contractions are too strong or when not enough rest time occurs between labor pains.

"That's where this machine really is important," the spokesman said. "You only have minutes to work to head off possible permanent brain damage."

New products may spur home cooking

By JEANNE LESEM
UPI Food Editor

If a strong revival of home cooking were not already underway in the United States, a visit to the 22nd annual new products lunch of the Eastern Frosted Foods Association in New York might launch one.

Few foods and beverages introduced to store buyers and the press would rate stars in any critical review.

There were blueberry-less frozen blueberry waffles with little purple pellets instead; kosher turkey and chicken lunch meats tasting like spices instead of poultry; meatballs, meat loaves, sausages and related products extended with so much textured vegetable protein that they had a soft, spongy texture instead of the pleasant chewiness preferred in ground meat products.

Ground and re-formed ingredients are being used more and more to stretch expensive items such as shrimp. One such product contained shrimp chunks large enough to taste, but they were encased in an unappealingly doughy mixture.

Puerto Rico is entering the United States market with frozen, ready-to-fry meat and cheese pies called empanadillas and pastelillos. The meat variety offered for tasting was sweetish, not particularly meaty and encased in unflaky crust.

A new onion soup was quite salty and no better in flavor than less expensive canned varieties.

There was even frozen french toast, possibly one of the easiest and quickest foods to prepare at home, and a real money saver when it is made from stale bread. But there it was, predipped in the usual egg and milk mixture (but unfortunately dry in the center), cooked and ready to reheat in an upright toaster.

Now for the good news:

Frozen orange juice concentrate is being packed in quart containers with reseal-able plastic tops. The manufacturer says it is about five per cent cheaper than the same juice in six-ounce cans but its biggest advantage is true convenience for the small household. Using a measuring tablespoon as a scoop, you can mix one glassful at a time and return the unused concentrate to the freezer to maintain top quality, vitamin content and flavor to the end.

A frozen dessert manufacturer is introducing two West Indian favorites to retail stores and a delectable strawberry fruit freeze for institutional use. The West Indian desserts are guanabana and mamey sherbets, and the strawberry one contains 40 per cent fruit, plus water and sugar.

Guanabana is Spanish for soursop, a white-fleshed tropical fruit that is rarely eaten raw, but which makes refreshing frozen desserts and beverages. Mamey, which is indigenous to tropical America, grows widely in the Caribbean, where it is sometimes called Santo Domingo apricot. Christopher Columbus thought it tasted like a peach. Its flavor also has been compared to quince. Sherbet made from it is the color of red raspberries and its flavor is unique.

Welfare chief sees saving by tracking dads

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The U.S. commissioner of welfare estimates as much as $1 billion a year could be saved by tracking down absent fathers of welfare families.

Robert B. Carleson told a news conference Tuesday, "It's a fallacy that it's not worthwhile to spend money tracking down absent fathers and making them meet their obligations."

"We take in three dollars to four dollars for every dollar spent," he added.

"There's a billion dollars out there, nationally."

Beef flank roll adapted from Czech dish

Slice this handsome beef flank roll and you'll find dill pickles inside. Adapted from a traditional Czechoslovakian dish, our version has bacon and onion sprinkled on the steak before it's rolled around the pickles. The secret to the long, well shaped roll is to split the steak in half to make one large thin piece. To serve with it, make a savory gravy from the pan drippings, mushrooms and sour cream. This special party beef looks handsome with swirls of duchess potatoes on the platter.

- 1 beef flank steak, about 1½ pounds
- ½ teaspoon garlic salt
- ½ cup chopped onion
- 3 slices bacon, chopped
- 4 dill pickles, about 3½-inches long
- 1 tablespoon cooking oil
- 1 (10½-ounce) can beef broth
- 2 teaspoons cornstarch
- 1 (2½-ounce) can sliced mushrooms
- ½ cup dairy sour cream

Split steak butterfly fashion lengthwise to make 2 thin layers leaving a hinge at long side. Open steak flat and pound well. Sprinkle with garlic salt, onion and bacon. Arrange pickles, 2 abreast, along one side of steak, lengthwise with grain of beef. Roll beef tightly around pickle, jelly roll fahion, tucking in ends. Skewer ends, and tie roll tightly in several places. Brown in oil. Add half of broth, cover closely, and simmer about 1½ hours, until beef is tender, adding a little water, if more liquid is needed. Skim off and discard fat. Stir conrstarch into remaining broth. Add to meat juices, along with undrained mushrooms. Cook, stirring until sauce boils and thickens. Stir in sour cream. Heat, but do not boil. Remove strings from beef. Slice roll and serve with sauce. Makes about 6 servings.

Crab meat

A bite easily worth a thousand words or more

"One bite is worth a thousand words", could easily describe any entree containing succulent crabmeat. These ferocious-looking crustaceans provide a luscious meat that is unforgettable. Crab-fanciers know that there is often either an abundance or a scarcity of crabs. We are happy to tell you, however, that both king and snow crabs are available in quantity as well as quality now.

The following recipes were developed to use either snow or king crabmeat. Other crabmeat may be substituted if you wish. Crab 'n' Cheese Pie is truly a pie to set before a king and requires only 6 ounces of king crabmeat to please six persons. The Crab-Spaghetti Casseroles are hearty and satisfying and require either two 6-ounce packages or two cans of snow crab to satisfy six or eight persons. Crab a pie or a casserole for dinner tonight and watch the smiles appear as your family or guests enjoy.

CRAB 'N' CHEESE PIE

- 1 package (6 ounces) frozen king crabmeat
- 1 can (4 ounces) mushroom stems and pieces
- ¼ cup sliced green onion
- 1 cup shredded Swiss cheese
- 1 unbaked 9-inch pastry shell
- 1 cup half and half
- 3 eggs
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ½ teaspoon dry mustard
- Dash cayenne

Thaw frozen crabmeat. Drain and flake. Arrange alternate layers of mushrooms, onion, crabmeat, and cheese in pastry shell. Beat together half and half, eggs, salt, dry mustard, and cayenne. Pour over ingredients in pastry shell. Bake in hot oven, 400 degrees F., 10 minutes. Reduce heat to slow oven, 325 degrees F., and continue baking about 25 minutes or until filling is set. Let stand 10 minutes before cutting. Makes 6 servings.

CRAB-SPAGHETTI CASSEROLES

- 2 packages (6 ounce each) frozen snow crabmeat or
- 2 cans (7 ounce each) snow crabmeat
- ¼ cup margarine
- 1 cup chopped onion
- 1 cup sliced celery
- 1-3rd cup chopped green pepper
- 2 cans (10-¾ ounce each) condensed cream of mushroom soup
- 1 package (7 or 8 ounce) spaghetti, cooked and drained
- 1-3rd cup dry sherry
- 1-3rd cup sliced pitted black olives
- ½ cup grated Parmesan cheese

Thaw or drain crabmeat; remove any remaining cartilage. Melt margarine. Add onion, celery, and green pepper; cook until tender. Add soup; heat until bubbling. Combine soup mixture, spaghetti, sherry, olives, and 6 tablespoons Parmesan cheese; mix well. Fold in crabmeat. Spoon into 6 to 8 individual baking dishes or a shallow 2-quart baking dish. Sprinkle with remaining cheese. Bake in moderate oven, 350 degrees F., about 20 minutes for individual baking dishes or 25 to 30 minutes for large baking dish, or until mixture is hot and bubbly. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

Trade Unions to get clout in Hungary

LONDON (UPI) — Hungary's 11th Communist party Congress in March is expected to give a measure of real power to the country's trade unions.

The effects of this startling development could soon be felt throughout Soviet-dominated Europe, where industrial action is still illegal and punishable (at least on paper) by long prison sentences and, in extreme cases, by death.

Unofficial strikes — condemned by the official trade unions and carefully unreported by the press —do of course occur and sometimes end in victory for the workers, so there should be no question of the need for machinery to deal with industrial grievances.

Communist Eastern Europe is thus looking to Hungary for a tactful way to sidestep Moscow's distrust of workers' participation in managerial decision making —a principle already well established in Yugoslavia.

A major policy statement issued by the Hungarian Communist party in preparation for the spring congress actually calls upon the unions to make "better use of their rights, and to stand up and defend the interest of the working people in the future with greater assurance." The statement, closely read at home and widely circulated abroad, reflects the growing resentment felt by industrial workers whose living standards have lagged behind the advancing prosperity of other groups.

That prosperity has been earned by Hungary's painful postwar industrial revolution, which transformed a backward breadbasket of Europe into a sophisticated exporter of manufactured goods. A large proportion of the growing national income has recently been invested in modern farming techniques, raising agricultural earnings above industrial wage levels. More scope for small businessmen has meanwhile, put new life into the officially defunct middle class.

Hungary's innovation in economic planning has been followed by East Germany, Bulgaria and Poland. They all are, in their separate ways, seeking to transfer much of the control traditionally held by government ministers to the factory managers, bankers and others directly involved in the economy.

"In these circumstances," Hungary's influential Communist party secretary, Janos Kadar, recently declared in Budapest, "the trade union movement must be strengthened in order to protect the workers' interests from management."

His words, which are being unofficially echoed throughout the region, are an open acknowledgment of the present dissatisfaction of industrial workers brought up to identity with the highest ideals of the socialist system. Hungary's Hilton hotels and the vast range of expensive Western consumer goods suddenly available are potent symbols of the current economic climate. But they are also a source of resentment.

Hungarian intellectuals, until recently working in an atmosphere of enviable tolerance by East European standards, have paid a heavy price for giving a coherent voice to that dissatisfaction. Three Marxist thinkers have just been expelled from Hungary for their open criticism. A book by a young poet, commissioned by a state publishing organization and concerned with life and attitudes on the factory floor, has been suppressed.

The balance of power in the country's supreme decision-making body has thus tilted in favor of the trade unionists; and the newspapers are full of discussions of industrial democracy.

Less sugar

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Sugar production in 1974 fell short of expectations, Argentine government figures indicate. Production of 1.75 million tons were predicted but actual production came to 1.39 million tons

The lower production was attributed to labor disputes and a holding action on the part of growers of sugar cane to force higher prices for sugar.

Poached fish a popular dish for ages in Europe

The high-protein, low-fat, low-cost qualities of frozen fish fillets are certainly logical reasons to desire successful recipes for preparing them.

Poaching has been popular in Europe for ages but in this country it seems it has been reserved for eggs only. But it is undoubtedly one of the quickest, cleanest and most cookery. Cooking fillets in water neither adds nor detracts from the flavor and when a sauce or topping is to be used it is an ideal method to choose. If added flavor is desired add a few stems of parsley, some celery leaves, or 1 tablespoon of liquid smoke to the simmering water.

Thawing is only necessary if fillets have to be separated. Of course "overthawing," that is allowing frozen fish to thaw on the counter and then warm to room temperature, will invariably cause the development of a "fishy flavor."

For people who are often faced with spur-of-the-moment meals, a supply of frozen fish fillets insures a ready answer for a fifteen minute entree. While the fillets poach, prepare the cheese sauce. If even that is too much trouble, simply brush the poached fillets with butter and liquid smoke and sprinkle with Parmesan or Swiss cheese and glaze under the broiler. The total cost of fillets with Swiss Cheese is $1.65 made with $1.29 per pound of fish.

With a pound of fish in the freezer and a few staples on the kitchen shelf Hearty Chowder is another easy and successful main attraction at meal time. Serve it with crusty garlic toast or French bread and a salad for a satisfying low-cost, high-flavor supper. A steaming pot full of the chowder can be prepared for under two dollars.

HEARTY CHOWDER

1 pound frozen fish fillets
1 teaspoon Wright's Liquid Smoke
¼ cup olive oil or salad oil
½ cup chopped onion
2 green onions, sliced
2 cloves minced garlic
1 tablespoon chopped parsley
½ cup chopped celery
½ cup chopped green pepper
1 pound can whole tomatoes, cut-up
1 8-ounce can tomato sauce
1½ teaspoons salt
Pepper to taste
½ cup dry white wine (optional)
Pinch of basil
3 cups water

Thaw fish only enough to cut into one-inch chunks. Place chunks in a bowl and sprinkle with the Liquid Smoke. Let stand while preparing vegetables.

In a Dutch oven or large sauce pan saute onions, garlic, parsley, celery and green pepper until slightly tender. Add remaining ingredients and the smokey fish chunks. Bring to a boil. Reduce heat and simmer 20 minutes. Makes 4 servings.

FILLETS WITH SWISS CHEESE

1 pound frozen fish fillets
Salt and Pepper
Water to cover
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons Parmesan cheese
¼ teaspoon Wright's Liquid Smoke
¼ cup grated Swiss cheese (or 2 tablespoons Parmesan)

If fillets are frozen in the loose pack they need not be thawed. If frozen in a block, thaw under cool running water just enough to separate pieces. Place a single layer in a skillet. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and cover with water. Bring to a boil and simmer gently about 10 minutes or until fish flakes easily when tested with a fork. Remove the fish to a heatproof platter and keep warm.

In a saucepan, melt butter. Add flour and stir until bubbly. Remove pan from heat and slowly stir in half of the milk until smooth. Return to heat and add remaining milk. Cook, stirring constantly until boiling. Boil one minute and remove from heat. Stir in salt, pepper, Parmesan cheese and Liquid Smoke. Spoon over warm fillers. Sprinkle with Swiss cheese and place under broiler until slightly browned. Makes 4 servings.

Measure would legalize exceeding '55' for a fee

AUSTIN, Tex. (UPI) — Texas legislators are working on a method to let motorists legally go faster than 55 miles an hour on the state's highways.

Texas must extend the 55 mile an hour speed limit or face the loss of federal highway funds. A bill to the extend the speed limit is being debated in the Texas house. It already has passed the senate.

Two legislators introduced an amendment to the bill Monday that would allow drivers to go between 55 and 70 miles an hour, the old speed limit, for a fee of $5.

The fee would be charged only if the driver is stopped by police, but the driver would not face a possible conviction for a speeding violation and an insurance company could not raise the rates for the violation.

A peanut butter sandwich costs only a dime

You can make a peanut butter sandwich for less than a dime, says John L. Currier, in a statement that can be applied to few, if any, other high protein foods.

Currier is president of the National Peanut Council, a trade organization representing the nation's goober growers.

Peanut butter sales alone grew 12 per cent between the summer of 1972 and the end of 1974, he said. But peanuts are used in more than 75 different American-made products, ranging from candy, confectionery and snacks, to salad and cooking oils, cosmetics, antibiotics, and bird and livestock feed. .

Peanut shells go into fuel, fertilizers, mulch for gardening and farming, cattle feed, poultry-house litter, abrasives for polishing metals, insulation for farm buildings and crowns for beverage bottles.

A record crop last year has pushed stockpiles of the nuts up 15 per cent, which should help keep prices reasonable.

As supplementary protein in all kinds of food, peanuts and products made from them add nutrients at modest cost.

If, like many families these days, you are reducing the size of servings of high-ticket, high protein meat and seafood, try some of these nutty ideas for getting enough high-quality protein into your meals:

Blend peanut butter into sauces to serve with meat. Good cooks in Africa and Southeast Asia have done this for years.

Garnish salads and hot vegetables with chopped, roasted or salted peanuts, for texture contrast as well as food value.

Use peanut butter instead of dairy butter or margarine on baked sweet potatoes or yams.

Save crumbs from peanut brittle for ice cream and pudding toppings; or mix the crumbs or chopped raw or roasted nuts into cookie dough or sprinkle on cupcake batter before baking.

Bake a peanut butter pie.

Make fruit and peanut butter sandwiches with unpeeled apples or pears, sliced or cut into wedges.

Add nuts to salad or sandwich fillings made from leftover ham and-or chicken or ground leftover meat for stuffing green peppers or other vegetables. Winter squash with meat and nut stuffing makes a delicious, inexpensive main dish meal, to be served with a light salad and fresh fruit for dessert. Add ground peanuts to meat loaf and meat balls mixtures or to the sauce served with them.

Save money by making your own dry-roasted peanuts from raw nuts, bought in the shell. Skin them by water or dry blanching:

Shell the nuts. Either place them in a pan, add boiling water and let stand three to four minutes, or until skins can be slipped off by hand; drain, skin and roast, as in following directions;

Or place shelled nuts one or two layers deep on a cookie sheet in a 350 degree oven. Roast 15 to 20 minutes, stirring often to cook evenly. Skins usually can be slipped off after the first three to five minutes, or you can skin them after roasting is finished. In either case, sprinkle nuts while still warm with plain or seasoned salt or curry powder or chili powder. Cool, and store in a tightly covered container.

Brought by Easter bunny

Artful idea for Sunday brunch

The Easter bunny comes directly from dairyland with an artful idea for that special Sunday brunch. In petite individual casseroles he has nestled hard cooked deviled eggs with no fewer than four favorite dairy products and his own favorite food — garden fresh carrots!!! And leaving nothing to chance, he's even carried out the colors of spring's freshest daisies. The gold of the cheddar cheese and carrot shreds against the white eggs and dairy sour cream makes a sunny melange that's as visually pleasing as it is tasty.

Because it's done in individual portions and oven baked, this is an easy to manage company entree and can be assembled a bit ahead. The flavor secret of the deliciously deviled eggs is sour cream mixed with the yolks plus onion salt and basil for seasonings. Surrounding the filled eggs is a light and tasty mixture that's simply butter sauteed grated carrots combined with more tangy sour cream. What could be easier and more honestly good? The integrating element to go on last is a smooth, creamy sauce of milk and sharp cheddar cheese. Spoon it on top, then pop the casseroles in the oven for a quick 20 minutes. They'll be piping hot and wonderfully aromatic with the melting cheddar cheese. Buttered muffins and fresh fruit are more than enough to finish this festive brunch menu. Your guests will certainly agree that the Easter bunny from dairyland has outdone himself.

Milk and made-from-milk-products are some of nature's most wholesome, basic and hard working foods. Dairy products are enjoyed from sun up til bedtime and never lose their fresh taste and appeal. They are excellent and economical providers of essential nutrients, too.

CHEESE AND EGGS EN CASSEROLE

- 1 pound carrots
- 4 tablespoons butter
- Dairy sour cream
- Few dashes white pepper
- 4 hard cooked eggs
- ¼ teaspoon onion salt
- ½ teaspoon basil, crumbled
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1½ cups milk
- 1 cup grated sharp cheddar cheese
- ½ teaspoon salt
- 2 tablespoons minced parsley

Pare and trim carrots. Grate coarsely (you'll get about 4 cups). Saute in 2 tablespoons butter until tender crisp. Remove fro mheat and mix in ½ cup sour cream and pepper. Turn into four (1½-cup) individual baking dishes. Halve eggs. Mash yolks and mix with 2 tablespoons sour cream, the onion salt and basil. Spoon egg yolk mixture into egg whites. Place two filled egg halves on top of each baking dish. Melt remaining 2 tablespoons butter in saucepan. Blend in flour. Stir in milk and cook, stirring, until mixture thickens and comes to boil. Stir in cheese, salt and parsley. Cook until smooth. Spoon over eggs. Bake uncovered in 350 degree oven 20 minutes or until hot through. Makes 4 servings.

LENTEN SHARING

During this year's Lenten period, many are emphasizing the giving of oneself rather than the traditional sacrifices of self-denial. Much can be said for the positive aspects of sharing talents with others. Think how much goodwill could be generated if everyone offered to share more of their time for good works in the home and community — not only during Lent, but all year long.

Speaking of sharing, a friend of mine gave me this Lenten favorite. It can be varied many ways and is so simple, I'd like to share it with you. Also, longhorn cheese is a good buy right now to help you with your budget stretching.

Simple Cheese Souffle
(serves 4 - 6)

8 slices white bread — 4 eggs
8 slices American cheese — 2 cups milk
(or 8 oz. longhorn, shredded) — margarine or butter

Remove crusts from the bread. Butter both sides of slices. Place 4 slices of bread in bottom of deep baking dish. Place cheese on top of bread. Cover with remaining 4 slices of bread.

Beat 4 eggs well. Add 2 cups of milk and blend well. Pour mixture over bread and cheese layers. Cover and refrigerate for at least 8 hours. Bake one hour at 350 degrees. (Note: sourdough bread can be used instead of white bread. Also, green chilies, ham or asparagus can be added in the cheese layer.)

CHEESE OMELET IS QUICK

We all get caught now and then with having to prepare an unplanned meal. It's times like these when ever ready dairy products come to the aid of the hassled cook, take for instance this quickly made recipe for a cheese omelet. Preparation time is nominal and it is designed to be enjoyed the minute the omelet comes from the oven. There's just enough time in-between for making a tossed green salad, heating the bread and setting the table.

SAPORY CHEESE OMELET

- ⅛ cup grated Monterey Jack cheese
- ¼ tablespoons butter
- ½ cup half and half
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- ½ teaspoon dry mustard
- 6 eggs
- 1 teaspoon chervil
- ¼ teaspoon tarragon, crushed
- ¼ cup minced green onion

Spread jack cheese in 9-inch pie plate or other shallow 1-quart baking dish. Dot with butter. Mix all remaining ingredients. Spoon over cheese. Bake uncovered in 325 degree oven 40 minutes or until set in center and lightly browned on top. Serve at once. Makes 4 servings.

Taiwan getting ready for U.S. withdrawal

TAIPEI (UPI) — Some people in Taiwan are beginning to think the unthinkable: What will happen when the U.S. military forces eventually leave this Nationalist Chinese island redoubt?

There have been rumors that the U.S. Military Assistance and Advisory Group may be withdrawn as early as June as an American gesture to Peking before President Ford visits the Communist Chinese capital later this year.

Since the initial shock of former President Richard Nixon's 1972 visit to Peking and the promised withdrawal of all U.S. forces from the disputed island, most officials have become resigned to this eventuality.

Military experts say the withdrawal of the small MAAG group and other U.S. forces would have little effect militarily.

The main effect will be psychological. But the danger of any serious psychological repercussions is steadily diminishing.

Some American military units already have been withdrawn since Nixon signed a communique in Shanghai pledging gradual withdrawal as tensions in the area subside. This was an open-ended pledge and there are widely differing opinions over how rapid the withdrawal process should be.

Withdrawal of the 25-year-old MAAG unit would be near even if Nixon had never gone to Peking, assuming military tensions were on the same level as they are today.

U.S. military aid was terminated almost two years ago —in July 1973. Since then, MAAG's activity has been confined mainly to advising the Nationalists on the purchase of sophisticated military equipment and arranging for training of Nationalist officers in the United States.

"Taiwan can pretty much stand on its own feet now, both in officer training and the production of light weaponry and ammunition," a high-ranking military officer said.

In recent years, he said, Taiwan even has started exporting some of its military expertise and equipment, primarily selling small arms and ammunition in Southeast Asia. It also has helped train military officers, particularly pilots, from many nations in Asia and elsewhere.

So, Nationalist military officers say, MAAG's withdrawal would not be a serious blow.

The government of Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek maintains one of Asia's largest military forces, about 500,000 men backed by a modern air force with about 600 jet fighters or fighter-bombers as well as a sizeable naval fleet which includes 19 destroyers and two submarines.

In the process of becoming more self-sufficient, the Nationalist Chinese began manufacturing F-5E Freedom Fighter planes in cooperation with an American firm and with approval of the U.S. Defense Department.

The first plane rolled off the assembly line last October. In addition, the Nationalists have been assembling helicopters under similar arrangements, as well as developing guided missiles and other more sophisticated weapons.

No matter what happens to the U.S. military forces now on the island, few people expect any direct communist attack.

FUNNY BUSINESS By Roger Bollen

Public would like to see more women in politics

COLUMBUS, Miss. (UPI) — National pollster George Gallup said Monday the American public apparently thinks there should be more women in politics.

"Surveys prove that attitudes toward minorities are more favorable," Gallup said in an address on the campus of Mississippi State University for Women.

"Polls reveal that people want more women in politics," he added. "Our studies show that people believe if more women were in politics, we would have fewer Watergates."

Gallup, president of the Princeton-based national poll, said the American public's general mood was "apprehensive but not despondent" regarding the current economic situation.

"One third of the general public believes we are now in a general depression," he said. Although the economy is low, we have objective data concerning the future.

"The cost of food in the total budget is less than it was 25 years ago. Jobs are better with shorter hours —when you can find them —poverty and infant mortality are decreasing and education is more widespread," Gallup said.

Mother's milk being studied

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UPI) — Food scientists at Pennsylvania State University are trying to determine if beneficial micro-organisms in human breast milk can protect babies from intestinal disorders.

Dr. Kurosh Ostovar of the university's College of Agriculture said certain micro-organisms are able to lower the acidity of a baby's stomach.

He and his associates want to find out to what extent microorganisms creating the acidity are passed on from the mother through breast feeding.

Human milk is probably the most widely consumed food in the world, yet it is one of the least studied, the doctor said. Some nutritional and compositional data are available, but very little is known about the microflora in human milk.

Two million eggs

A female carp may lay up to two million eggs a year.

Begins March 26

Passover meals are mostly traditional

Passover, which begins at sundown March 26th this year, is the Festival of Freedom. It commemorates in prayer, song and feasting the flight of the Children of Israel from Egypt and recalls the ancient story of Israel's redemption from bondage in Egypt. The purpose of the Seder is to give families the opportunity to ponder the dramatic and miraculous events which led to the exodus from an ancient land of slavery. Centuries ago the Bible instructed Jews to meet on the eve of Passover so that the elders could relate to the children, and to all, this thrilling chapter in the history of the Hebrew people.

According to custom the leader of the Seder places symbolic foods upon the table as part of the ceremony. There are three matzoth placed one upon the other and covered with a cloth to represent the Bread of Affliction and the union of three religious groups of Jews. A roasted lamb bone symbolizes the paschal lamb and an egg is the symbol of the ancient festival offering. Horseradish, a bitter herb, recalls the bitterness of slavery. Charoseth, a mixture of grated apple, nuts and wine symbolizes the clay and bricks used by the Israelites to build the "treasured cities of Pharaoh." Parsley, a sweet herb, stands for spring and growth. Salt water, placed around the table in pitchers and bowls, symbolizes the tears shed by Jews while in captivity.

The Seder table is beautiful to behold. It displays a number of objects prescribed by tradition which symbolize the spirit of the holiday. This festive table should include a floral centerpiece and lighted candles.

The candlesticks often are cherished heirlooms . . . the finest table linen is used . . . and the choicest fruits and flowers are selected.

Many Jewish cooks serve traditional family favorites for the Seder meal. The aroma of kugel and knaidlach, mondlen and chicken soup fills most Jewish households during the Passover season.

Along with your traditional specialties include some new recipes when planning your Passover meals this year. Holiday Pot Roast and Passover Lemon Meringue Pie are delicious additions to your entree and dessert repertoire. The pot roast combines beef chuck, onions, carrots, celery, apple juice, white potatoes, sweet potatoes and a generous sprinkling of herbs and spices. The pie is a festive finale for any Passover meal. A crisp matzo meal crust is filled with a tangy lemon mixture and topped with high peaks of meringue. Peanut oil is an important ingredient in Jewish-style cookery. It is the most subtle of the polyunsaturated cooking oils and enhances the flavor of other ingredients.

HOLIDAY POT ROAST

- 2 tablespoons peanut oil
- 3 pounds lean boneless beef chuck
- 6 small onions
- 4 carrots, cut into thirds
- 1 stalk celery, cut up
- 1 bay leaf
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- Generous dash pepper
- 1 cup apple juice
- 1 cup water
- 6 small potatoes, peeled
- 3 large sweet potatoes, peeled and halved
- Parsley
- 1 tablespoon potato starch

Heat peanut oil in Dutch oven over medium heat. Add beef; brown well on all sides. Add onions, carrots, celery, bay leaf, salt, pepper, apple juice and water. Cover and place in 300 degree F. oven for 1 hour.

Remove from oven. Add potatoes and sweet potatoes. Cover and return to oven for 1 hour, or until potatoes are fork-tender.

Slice meat and arrange with vegetables on serving platter. Garnish with parsley. Thicken gravy with potato starch. Pour some of gravy over meat and vegetables and serve remaining gravy on the side.

Makes 6 servings.

PASSOVER LEMON MERINGUE PIE

- 6 egg yolks
- 1½ teaspoons grated lemon peel
- 1-3 cup lemon juice
- 1-3 cup water
- ¾ cup sugar
- 5 egg whites
- 10 tablespoons sugar

In top of double boiler beat egg yolks until thick. Gradually stir in lemon peel, lemon juice, water and ¾ cup sugar. Cook over gently boiling water, stirring frequently, until thickened, about 15 minutes. Remove from heat.

Beat egg whites until frothy. Gradually add remaining 10 tablespoons sugar, beating until soft peaks form. Fold 1-3 meringue into warm lemon mixture. Pour into cooled crust (below). Top with remaining meringue, sealing well to crust. Bake at 325 degrees F. 25 to 30 minutes, or until meringue is browned. Cook before serving.

Makes one 9-inch pie.

ALMOND-MATZO CRUST

- ½ cup ground almonds
- ½ cup matzo meal
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- ¼ cup peanut oil
- 1 egg white

Mix together ground almonds, matzo meal, sugar and salt. Combine peanut oil and egg white. Beat slightly; stir into almond mixture. Press firmly and evenly against sides and bottom of a 9-inch pie plate. Bake at 375 degrees F. 15 to 20 minutes, or until golden brown. Cool thoroughly.

Chicken recipe a tasty imposter

Chicken takes on added dimensions with some kitchen sleight-of-hand. Take skinless, boneless chicken breast halves and bound until quite thin giving them the aura of more expensive veal. Browned quickly, the chicken breasts are then topped with a rich sauce of heavy cream and Danish Tybo cheese and broiled.

MOCK VEAL SOUBISE WITH CHEESE

- 6 skinless and boneless chicken breast halves
- Salt and pepper
- 1 egg, well beaten
- 2 cups dry bread or cornflake crumbs
- ½ cup (1 stick) butter or margarine
- 2 large onions, minced
- ½ cup chicken broth
- 1 cup (½ pint) heavy cream
- 1½ cups (6 ounces) grated Danish Tybo cheese

Place chicken breasts between two sheets of wax paper and pound until they are ¼-inch thick. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Dip chicken pieces into egg and then coat with crumbs, pressing them firmly to make crumbs adhere. Heat half of the butter in a saucepan, add onions and saute for 5 minutes or until soft but not borwn. Add chicken broth and simmer covered for 15 minutes or until onions are mushy. Pour cream and onions and their liquid into a blender and whirl until smooth, or beat with rotary beater. Season to taste with salt and pepper. In a skillet heat remaining butter and brown chicken on all sides. Place browned slices side by side in a shallow baking pan or broiler pan. Spoon over onion mixture and sprinkle with cheese. Place under broiler and broil about 10 minutes or until cheese is melted and lightly browned. Makes 6 servings.

Chicken breasts masquerade as a mock veal with rich cheese sauce.

Beef Snacks

Beef at happy hours shows up in tempting, hearty nibbles that are so easy to prepare. The simplest and perhaps most popular is the mini-brochette guests grill themselves. Cut lean beef such as top round or sirloin tip into bite size cubes, then marinate overnight for extra flavor — a brandy-oil marinade is unusual and extra easy.

Homemade beef jerky popular in California

Most everyone knows that hamburgers and hot dogs probably appear more often on family menus in the good old summertime than any other cuts of beef. In discussing the trends of beef cookery with the consumer specialists for the California Beef Council, they told us that the one recipe they get the most requests for is homemade beef jerky, this is particularly true now that we're well into the season for camping, boating, hiking and all those other healthful outdoor excursions which consume so much energy.

Beef jerky made this way is nothing but solid, high quality protein with its own natural wealth of self contained minerals and vitamins. The overnight drying method in the following recipe reduces the moisture content of beef to around 18 percent. With this much water removed, the beef jerky will keep as long as there is any to be eaten. And the great thing is that it can be stored at room temperature. Should a bit of surface mold appear on your beef jerky after a few days, have no fear. The mold is harmless and can be easily wiped off.

Actually any cut of lean beef can be used for making jerky. It is very important to select a lean muscle cut and then remove all outside fat. Fat does not have the keeping qualities of lean beef and will turn rancid, the easiest beef cut to use for jerky is a flank steak. It's just the right size to handle and cut into thin lengthwise slices. Lean brisket, a Jewish filet or flat iron roast from the chuck section and round or rump from the hind quarter are also good choices.

CALIFORNIA BEEF JERKY SNACK PACK OF PROTEIN

- 1 beef flank steak
- ½ cup soy sauce
- ¼ teaspoon garlic salt
- ¼ teaspoon lemon pepper

Trim off all visible fat from beef. Cut lengthwise with grain into long thin strips, no more than ¼-inch thick. Combine soy sauce and seasonings. Pour over beef strips and toss until well coated. Place wire rack on baking sheet. Arrange strips on rack to touch, but do not overlap. Bake in very slow oven (150 degrees) overnight, 10 to 12 hours. Store finished jerkey at room temperature. Any lean cut of beef may be used — brisket, flat iron or chuck filet are also suitable.

Beef jerky should not be crisp. If it is, oven is too hot.

If jerky is not quite dry enough, white specks may appear after a few days, simply wipe off the harmless mold and enjoy the beef.

The speedometer in an automobile tells how fast the car is going.

A speedometer operates by magnetic force. Inside a speedometer there is a magnet that is connected directly to the car's transmission by a flexible cable.

When the car moves, gears inside the transmission turn the cable which spins the magnet.

Fitting over the magnet is a special metal drum called a "speedcup." The speedcup is attached to the pointer in the speedometer's dial.

The spinning magnet acts with magnetic force that pulls the speedcup and causes the pointer to revolve against the restraint of a spring.

When the car speeds up, the faster the magnet spins and the greater is the force exerted against the spring.

As the magnetic pull gradually overcomes the resistance of the spring, it causes the speedometer to register a higher speed.

When the car stops, the spring pulls the pointer back to zero.

Here's wonderful news! A pocket radio, camera, World Almanac globe or other fine prize will be awarded to the first younster sending in a question used here. Send your question and your age to Johnny Wonder, (c/0 this newspaper), Box 1335 (DAL Santa Cruz, CA 95061.

PASSENGER CAR TIRE GUARANTEE

Montgomery Ward guarantees each of its passenger car tires for a specified number of miles when used on passenger cars or station wagons, except taxis. If your tire does not give you this mileage because of:

- normal road hazard failure,
- premature tread wearout (2/32 inches or less remaining),

Montgomery Ward will:

1. During the first 10% of guaranteed mileage, replace the tire free.
2. During the remaining guaranteed mileage, replace it for a prorata charge based on mileage used.

Nail punctures repaired free during the entire guaranteed mileage.

For guarantee service and adjustments, return tire to any Montgomery Ward branch with the Guarantee Booklet issued at the time of sale.

Charge after first 10% of guaranteed mileage based on selling price in effect at the time of return at branch to which returned, including federal excise tax.
